19th Annual Athletic Banquet Slated Monday

Some 172 athletes, coaches, advisors and cheerleaders will be the main guests at the 19th annual Lincoln high school and Northland state junior college athletic banquet scheduled for Monday at 6:30 p.m. at St. Bernard's Catholic church basement.

Advance ticket sales are running high, according to general chairman of the event Roger Tunberg. He also noted that tickets should be purchased in advance from ticket sellers around town, and that tickets for the event can also be purchased from the Chamber of Commerce office and from the Lincoln high school attendance office. Tickets will also be available at the door.

Main speaker for the event will be Jim Klobuchar, Minneapolis Star columnist. Toastmaster for the evening will be Robert Carlson, president of the Thief River Falls city council. Rev. Keough Potnode, pastor of St. Bernard's church, will give the invocation. Morris Goddard, vice president of the Thief River Falls athletic boosters club, will deliver the welcoming address. Introduction of coaches and a summary of last season's athletic teams will be made by Lincoln high school athletic director Ralph Skay, and Northland state junior college athletic director, Al Adams.

Jim Klobuchar
Guest Speaker

To Be Honored

A total of 92 athletes, who took part in football, cross country, basketball, hockey, wrestling, track, golf, tennis or baseball will be honored from Lincoln high school, along with 24 cheerleaders from the various sports at Lincoln.

Eighteen from Northland who lettered in cross country, basketball, wrestling, track, golf or tennis will also be on hand for the banquet along with Northland's five cheerleaders.

Some 34 coaches, advisors and directors will also be present at the banquet. These include all coaches from the junior high and elementary schools, along with coaches from Lincoln high school.

Main Speaker

Main speaker for the athletic banquet will be Jim Klobuchar, Minneapolis Star columnist and author.

His main duties are as feature writer for the Star and his characteristics have led him into some situations and places not normally visited by his readers. His visits to these in-out places are to gather material for his column.

He has gone to prison—even into solitary confinement—to get a first hand look at this closed society. He has searched the mountains of northern California for the mythical Abominable Snowman, written a guide to a non-alcoholic New Year's Eve and taken a 125-mile snowmobile trip along the continental divide in the middle of winter and at sub-zero temperature. He also flies airplanes, goes scuba diving and parasailing.

He has interviewed the Twins impressario, Calvin Griffith, whom he finds much more colorful than the Twins. He also was the writer for the Tribune on the Minnesota Vikings when they had their training camp in Bemidji.

Klobuchar was born on April 9 in Ely and is an honor graduate of the University of Minnesota.

He was a staff writer for the Associated press in Minneapolis from 1953-1961, before he joined the Minneapolis Tribune. While on the staff of the Tribune, he specialized in football coverage, and wrote feature stories on sports, travel and adventure.

He joined the Minneapolis Star as a columnist and feature writer in 1965, and he is the only man ever granted a "Poetic License" from the village of Edina.

Klobuchar is the author of the book "The Zest (and Best) of Klobuchar", which is a collection of his columns and features which was published in 1967 by a Minneapolis publisher.

BOOSTER'S CLUB TO MEET

Thief River Falls booster club will meet Saturday at 10 a.m. in the basement of the city auditorium. All members of the club are asked to be present.

Stock Car Racing To Begin May 30 At Tri-County

Stock car racing season will open on May 30 at the Tri-County speedway in Oklee, according to a decision reached at a meeting of the Tri-county racing association recently. There were 50 members of the association present for the first meeting of the season.

The track in Oklee will be restricted to 1961 models and older, while other tracks in the area are allowing 1962 models. The majority of the members present at the meeting also stated that they preferred Sunday afternoon racing instead of Saturday night.

Some changes are in store for the track this coming season and hopes are that they will be completed by the time the season begins. They include a new pit area south of the track on land which has been cleared and will be graveled, leaving the center of the oval clear for the benefit of the spectators.

Additional barriers for the protection of the spectators will also be constructed and it is planned that additional bleacher space will be constructed. The enlarged section of bleachers is needed because of the large crowds that the sport drew last year.

The board of directors was also chosen and it was noted that the board will hold regular montly meetings during the winter months to advance plans for the coming seasons.

Members of the board are Marvin Johnson, Red Lake Falls, president; Donald Nowacki, Warren, vice president; Dick Roue, Fosston, secretary-treasurer; and Lynn Lucker, Winger, Warren Torgerson, Clearbrook, Allen "Bud" Homme, Thief River Falls and O. M. Sundrud, Oklee, directors.

Prowler Netmen Prepare For Season

by Bob Wielinski
Times Sports Writer

Thief River Falls Prowlers tennis team opened practice on Monday, in preparation for defense of the District 31 and Region Eight crowns which they won last spring.

This year there are a number of changes on the tennis club as the netmen are under the coaching of Whitey Olson, who replaces last year's mentor, Ed Broughton. Last year the team had seven lettermen back, while this season Olson is faced with the problem of finding a doubles team.

Three Lettermen Back

A total of 12 players reported to the opening of drills on Monday, including three returning lettermen. Included are the number one and two single match finishers in both the District 31 and Region Eight tournament of a year ago.

Steve Edlund and Kip Poppenhagen finished one-two in both the District and Region tournaments a year ago, while Dan Jorgenson was the third player to meet in the third singles match during the year, as he played little last year.

In dual meets last year the tennis team won eight and lost four, while placing second behind Bemidji in the Northwest conference meet and second in the Grand Forks Invitational tournament last year.

The doubles team of Paul Ihle and Barry Frolland, which finished runnerup to Bemidji's doubles team last year, are missing through graduation. A third member of the 1968 squad missing is Doug Knutson, number three singles man.

Olson stated that it will be hard to replace the doubles team but as of right now Edlund and Poppenhagen will be the top two singles in matches.

Olson also stated that Dave Kildahl, out for the team for the first time this year, looked good for the first night of practice. Dave, a senior, gave up golf this year with hopes of making the tennis team.

Other Members

The other junior listed on the team with Poppenhagen is Dennis Benson. Others trying for the squad are sophomores Mark Thyren, Stuart Waltonen, Gordon Prichard, Jon Buringrud, Jeff Borning, Gordon DeLap, Don Bren and Tom Nepper. Nepper is a transfer student from East Grand Forks.

Schedule for this year's matches is as follows with home matches in capital letters:

April 23—at Grand Forks St. James; 24—CROOKSTON; 28—EAST GRAND FORKS; 29—at Detroit Lakes.

May 2—BEMIDJI; 6th—GRAND FORKS CENTRAL; 6th—NORTHWEST CONFERENCE MEET AT THIEF RIVER FALLS; 7th—at Crookston; 13th—at Grand Forks Central; 14—DETROIT LAKES; 16th—at East Grand Forks; 19th—GRAND FORKS ST. JAMES; 21st—at Bemidji; 23rd—District 31 at East Grand Forks; 31st—Region Eight at Bemidji; June 6-7—State at University of Minnesota.

THE SAFETY SENTRY

Ah-Chooo, Flu and You!

Statistics prove about 50 percent of the entire population suffers some sort of respiratory ailment between September and April of each year. No drug will cure flu or the more than 100 varieties of coldal These contagious diseases are caused by viruses passed from person to person. In an effort to reduce ailments Americans suffer each year, Sentry Insurance has compiled these health tips:

- Avoid people with colds or flu.
- Wash hands often, always before eating. Teach children to keep fingers out of mouth.
- Don't cheat on sleep.
- Eat well-balanced meals.
- Drink ample liquids to tone up system, help elimination.
- Guard against getting chilled.
- Exercise sensibly. Don't overdo shoveling, or in a gym.
- When you have a bad cold, stay home to rest first day.
- Always cover your mouth when sneezing or coughing. A sneeze can blast germ-laden droplets 12 feet.
- Use disposable tissues and place in waste containers.
- Blow your nose lightly worms Sentry. Forcing spreads infection.
- Soap is an effective germ killer. Keep your home clean.
- Don't rely solely on home remedies. Indiscriminate use of drugs can hide early warning signals of serious illness. Aspirin and nose drops give relief. Call your doctor if fever, chills or headache persists more than 24 hours.

Finally, be thoughtful of others by keeping your germs to yourself and you will guard your own health ... thoughtfulness is contagious, too!

THIEF RIVER FALLS TIMES

Volume Number Fifty-eight · Thief River Falls, Pennington County, Minnesota Wednesday, April 9, 1969 Number twenty-nine

Two Out of Three Vehicles Fail Safety Checks

Nearly two out of three of the 66,450 motor vehicles inspected in the 1968 Minnesota vehicle safety check failed to pass, a summary of the program revealed.

Inspections were conducted at approximately 220 locations throughout the state by highway department personnel under the direction of highway patrol officers.

Most frequently noted defect was headlight aim, found in 43 per cent of the vehicles inspected. Other prominent defects were brakes, high and low headlight malfunctions, stop lights and rear turn signals, and excessively worn tires.

Generally, panel and pickup trucks were in much poorer mechanical condition than passenger cars. Of the 3,067 light trucks inspected, 2,182 were defective. Rear lights, including stop lights and turn signals, were defective in much higher percentages than those on passenger vehicles. It is possible that the higher rate of these defects might be explained by the difference in usage of the two types of vehicles: rear lights on pickups and panels might be damaged frequently by backing into loading decks; and night usage of light trucks may be limited, so that owners might be inclined to neglect proper maintenance of these lights.

As has been found in other states, the rate of rejection in older vehicles was higher, and increased year by year as the vehicles aged. One of the defects which is bound to increase as the automobile ages is headlight aim. This is because the accumulations of salt around headlights of older vehicles cause the mountings to deteriorate to the point where it is necessary to replace the entire front portion of the fender to obtain the proper headlight adjustment and stability.

However, defective headlamps and headlight aim was high also in newer cars—in 30 per cent of the 1967-1968 models inspected.

Over-all rejection rate for 1967-1968 models was 41 per cent and for 1960 and older, 80 per cent or more.

Clean Fixtures Provide Best Home Lighting

Allowing dirt and dust to collect on bulbs, tubes and diffusion bowls—even on lampshades and fixtures—will mean a substantial loss in light output.

Regular care and cleaning are important to keep home lighting at top efficiency, says Glenda Humphries, extension specialist and instructor in household equipment at the University of Minnesota. She offered several suggestions for taking care of light fixtures:

At least every six months the housewife should:

Wash glass and plastic diffusers and shields in a detergent solution, rinse in clear warm water and dry.

Wipe bulbs and tubes with a damp, soapy cloth and dry them well. Do not immerse bulbs and tubes in water.

Dust wood and metal lamp bases regulary with a soft cloth.

Clean lampshades regularly with the soft brush attachment of the vacuum cleaner. Wipe porch-ment shades with a dry cloth. Some shades may need to be drycleaned at intervals; some are hand washable.

Replace all darkened bulbs, since a darkened bulb can reduce light output 25 to 50 per cent. You may want to use the darkened bulbs in places where less light is needed, such as hallways or closets.

Replace fluorescent tubes that flicker or have darkened ends.

Before using a new lampshade, remove the plastic wrappings. These not only cause glare but may warp the frame and wrinkle the shade fabric. Some are fire hazards.

Psychedelic Dance Floor

A dance floor, fabricated of stain-finish nickel stainless steel, reflects psychedelic lighting for dancing at The Bird's Nest in Twickenham, England. The floor will last for decades, is easy on the feet, easy to clean and is readily transportable.

MINNESOTA'S FUTURE
University of Minnesota • Agricultural Extension Service

A major function of the family in today's world is the preparation of the young to assume their place as mature, responsible participants of an increasingly urban, technical, mobile and complex society.

Unfortunately the family often is not doing this adequately and neither are other institutions such as the schools or the church, according to Ronald Pitzer, University of Minnesota family life specialist.

It is absolutely essential to raise a generation that will have the emotional, personal and intellectual resources to cope creatively with things that we aren't even aware of today, Pitzer says.

This is part of the changing function of the family. In the past, the family served as a primary educational and social unit in society, with manual skills stressed and taught within the family.

Today, however, individuals need to be equipped to deal more with ideas and people, Pitzer says. The skills needed in today's world are in interpersonal relations and the creative ability to form new conceptualizations and make new adjustments to meet the changes that are occurring in all segments of society.

If families are aware of this need they can serve an important function, Pitzer says. Thus, although many of the educational, social and recreational functions of the family have been taken over by the schools and other organizations, the family still serves the crucial function of giving the children skills in interpersonal relations, values and beliefs.

Children from families that are skilled in interaction are getting an apprenticeship in interpersonal relations and the ability to deal creatively with ideas that will equip them to participate more responsibly and successfully, in the society of the future.

This interaction and ability to deal creatively with ideas and life situations is not taught only through formal learning, Pitzer says, but through participation in both the family and other groups.

Consequently one of the essential and crucial functions of today's family is to provide the type of environment and relationships where the children feel accepted and important as individuals, where a relationship of trust and mutual respect exists between family members, and where children feel free to seek answers to their questions and to explore and develop their ability in interpersonal relations.

Pitzer also believes that today's youth are extremely intelligent, aware of and concerned with many of the major problems of society, and are aware of the social and ethical responsibilities that they must assume in the world.

Thus another primary function of the modern family is to illustrate and give the children an ethical perspective and sense of responsibility that will equip them to make mature ethical decisions.

One of the major problems with the family, however, is that there is too little involvement of adults in the life of the young, Pitzer says. Often the children and parents are torn between demands of school, church, work and other organizations. These conflicting demands on family members often pull the family apart and result in lack of involvement of children and parents as a family unit.

Family members need to be aware of the essential role of the family in providing a model of interpersonal relationships and the environment in which interaction can occur. To do this the family must often make a deliberate effort to see that minimum interaction between family members occurs and that a relationship of trust and respect is developed.

It is possible that the family can lose its importance as a unit if it fails to provide a basic environment in which the family members can develop and mature both psychologically and socially.

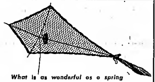
Flimsy as a Kite



What is as wonderful as a spring day, with just enough breeze to fly a new kite? It soars higher and higher, a bright blotch of color in the sky. It is a rare individual who won't pause to watch it, and, to most of us, it is perhaps a symbol of unsurpassed freedom.

Yet, in flying a kite there is need for control, or it will soon crash. What was sheer loveliness will become a crumpled heap of sticks and torn paper. This is true of many things that catch our fancies—true also of many of our dreams.

In this life, we need to learn the difference between the things that endure and those that are as flimsy as a kite in the wind. We need to learn control, courage and faith. None of these comes easily, but the first step will be found in the teachings of your church. Have you been going to church lately?

Take a perfect peanut butter cooky recipe and bake half a dozen different treats.

1 cup margarine
1 cup Skippy creamy or chunk style peanut butter
1 cup sugar
1 cup firmly packed brown sugar
2 eggs, beaten
1 teaspoon vanilla
2½ cups sifted flour
1 teaspoon baking powder
1 teaspoon baking soda
1 teaspoon salt
Bosco milk amplifier* (optional)

Mix together margarine, peanut butter and sugars. Mix in eggs and vanilla. Sift flour, baking powder, baking soda and salt together over creamed mixture. Stir until well blended. Chill dough until it can be easily handled. Shape into 1-inch balls. Place about 2-inches apart on greased baking sheet. Flatten with floured bottom of glass or with floured fork, making crosswise pattern on each if fork is used. (Dip fork into chocolate flavored syrup before pressing cookies, if desired.) Bake in 350°F. (moderate) oven 12 to 15 minutes or until lightly browned. Makes about 6 dozen.

Coconut Balls: Roll 1-inch balls of dough in flaked coconut before placing on baking sheet and flatten them with flour-bottomed glass.

Peanut Butter Sandwich Cookies: Make sandwiches with cookies, using additional peanut butter as filling.

Jelly Thumb Print Cookies: Instead of flattening cookies, press small indentation into each 1-inch ball of dough with thumb after placing on baking sheet. Remove from baking sheet while still warm and press again with thumb. Cool. Fill indentations with jelly or jam.

Peanut Butter Spritz Cookies: Put chilled dough through cooky press onto greased baking sheet, making desired shapes. Bake. Dip ends of bar cookies into melted chocolate, if desired.

"Without God, there could be no American form of government, nor an American way of life. Recognition of the Supreme Being is the first—the most basic—expression of Americanism. Thus, the founding fathers of America saw it—and thus, with God's help, it will continue to be." —Pres. Dwight D. Eisenhower

For Learning, Not Rioting

The following editorial appeared in the Christian Science Monitor:

The sudden sharp, distressing and unjustified upswing in campus lawlessness, rioting and invasion of property now in evidence raises even more sharply an ever-present question. This is whether bodies of higher learning can permit a continual disruption of the calm academic life and still perform their one primary function: to further knowledge and reason among youth.

Today, as a baffled public looks about the country, it sees at least a half-dozen spots where students have thrown great centers of learning into riotous turmoil with their "demands," their selfish, arbitrary actions, and their defiance of normal legal authority. This has introduced a feeling of uncertainty, of tension, of not only harmful to the institutions themselves but also to their student and faculty bodies. In short, in university after university conditions are being created which thwart that air of contemplation and reason which centuries of hard experience have taught to be most promotive of successful learning.

We say today, as we have said many times in the past, there are obviously great and jarring shortcomings in higher education which demand correction. Some of these directly affect black students, who have a right to expect that the history of their people will be correctly and proportionately taught. Other shortcomings affect the validity of some of today's teaching methods and courses. Students have not only the right, but the obligation to point out ways in which they believe that college and university can be made richer for them. Nor should any of us, whatever our generation, feel other than gratification when youth shows greater awareness of its own and America's needs.

But this does not confer upon anyone the right to trample on the opportunity of others to win that education for which their parents have sweated, and for which, in so many instances, the taxpayers have generously opened their wallets. Yet such trampling is exactly what takes place when administrative offices are seized, picket lines formed, and bawling gangs rush about the campus threatening and assaulting.

Although reasonable conciliation and persuasion should always be the first step, and although care should at all times be taken not to injure fiery, impetuous youth, nonetheless it is right for a university to finally initiate firm action. This has just happened at the Universities of Wisconsin and Duke. We believe that more firm action of a similar nature to keep universities open would be a healthy thing. And those students who cannot agree to present their requests in a civilized manner should be set free to seek their education elsewhere. The future must lead into more order not further into chaos.

A-1 Character

The people of Finland and their government have once again demonstrated the sterling character of the residents of this northern European country.

Finland is still paying off its world war I debt. Its annual payment will be completed in 1984. In June, 1933, Finland paid the United States $48,592 as the first installment on an $8,999,000 loan. All other European nations have defaulted.

The 1918 loan was made to Finland in the form of long term credit for grain and food to save the country from starvation after world war I. Other countries such as Great Britain, Russia, Italy, and France received similar loans under a Herbert Hoover food for Europe program. European from starvation, and the success of the program later made Hoover a popular political figure in this country. The Finnish people remember him fondly.

If you are ever inclined to wonder about the integrity of people, remember the small country of Finland and their loan payments. Finland's resources are meager by American standards, but by anyone's standard, their character if A-1.

Borrowed Nonsense . . .

Walking along a dimly lighted street, a man was approached suddenly by a stranger moving out of the shadows. "Please, sir," said the stranger, "would you be so kind as to help a poor unfortunate fellow who is hungry and out of work? All I have in the world is this loaded and cocked gun."

Conservative Creed

Entitled "I Believe", the following was written by Patricia Young of Vancouver, B.C.:

In this age of mangled morality and polarized politics, the time is long overdue for citizens to decide just where they stand and what they believe.

For my part, I Believe in the dignity of the individual regardless of race, color or creed: that man's freedom is his right to choose—limited only by his responsibility to avoid infringing upon other men's free choice.

I Believe in Divine law and natural law and in legislation instituted By The People for the common good, which must be observed by all until repealed by due process.

I Believe in civil rights for all and a double standard for none; in equal right before the law; that the concept of a collective conscience, collective guilt, collective responsibility and collective aspirament and the progress of civilization.

I Believe that the sole function of Government on any level is the protection of its citizens from domestic or foreign aggression; that any other function must be The Will of The People based on the premise that only Government can perform the function better; that even the will of the majority must not encroach upon man's God-given individual rights.

I Believe that private morality cannot be enforced by legislation and that neigher Government nor Society has the right to coerce the individual in his choice of friends, business associates, social companions, employees or neighbors.

I Believe in man's right to work limited only by his energy and desire; in his interference, and to dispose of them, when, where, how and to whom he chooses; that to be worthy of his hire, a man must be free from arbitrary Government or Labor Union restrictions which rob him of pride, initiative or incentive.

I Believe in idealism based on the reality of human endeavor; in progress built upon the foundation of time-tested values, principles and ethics.

I Believe that no man should command my conscience—that all men must be free to seek fulfillment of their own human and spiritual destiny.

This is the creed of that much maligned Right - Wing individualist—the creed of the Conservative!

"Temporary" Pain

The following editorial appeared in the Murray County Herald at Slayton:

The office of secretary of agriculture has long been known as a political graveyard. It didn't take new secretary Clifford Hardin long to get at least one foot in it.

Hardin is tied to the programs of his predecessor for the next year in most areas. About the only thing he was able to do at the moment is change the support price of soybeans—and he didn't exactly endear himself to agriculture as a whole by dropping the support price 25 cents a bushel.

At the present, the department of agriculture is busy trying to convince farmers that the reduction in soybean supports involves only a temporarily painful thing. The trouble with this angle of attack is that farmers are getting a little tired of "temporary" periods of economic pain. They have been experiencing this discomfort most of the time since the end of World War II—and most of 25 years is a pretty long "temporary" condition.

Proper Definitions

Sportsmen may have difficulty in determing the meaning of words used by writers, but the following list of definitions by Eddie Finlay should make the task easier. Finlay says he is certain of the definitions, since he used them quite freely when an outdoor columnist some years ago:

SPORTSMAN — Anyone who agrees with what the outdoor writer writes. (He can, of course, be a theoretical character with all the personality of "they" in "they say.")

INFORMED SPORTSMAN — Anyone who in a letter-to-the-editor agrees with the outdoor writer.

MEAT HOG — anyone who favors more liberal regulations than the writer, as well as anyone who kills more game or catches more fish.

CRACKPOT IDEALIST—anyone who favors less liberal regulations than the writer.

ENLIGHTENED PUBLIC — persons whom the writer has been able to convince.

MISINFORMED PUBLIC — persons whom the writer has not been able to convince.

APATHETIC PUBLIC — Persons who, for some strange reason, don't care what the writer thinks.

Legis Lative Letter

from ANDREW SKAAR

STATE REPRESENTATIVE

A pair of bills which are of particular significance to rural Minnesota received committee approval this week and have gone on to the full legislature.

The first of these bills exempts from vehicle licensing fees farm trailers with a gross weight of less than 10,000 pounds drawn by a farm truck or passenger car. To be eligible for the license fee exemption, the trailer would have to be used exclusively for moving products from the farm to a market or to another farm.

The second bill removes low-slung, two-wheeled farm trailers hauling implements of husbandry from the requirements of the laws covering unsafe equipment and sizes, weights and loads. It provides that the exemption from lighting requirements shall apply only between sunrise and sunset.

I am a co-sponsor of both of these bills in the House. I am convinced that they will create no problems in the field of safety or cause any appreciable loss in revenue, but will serve only to free users of these farm vehicles from unnecessary costs and restrictions.

Another bill on which I am a co-author deals with snowmobiles and will be coming up for consideration in the near future. I am referring to House File 1842 which would make certain changes in the law relating to snowmobiles. The bill would provide that snowmobiles could be operated on trunk and county highways between the hours of one-half hour after sunset to one-half hour before sunrise if they are driven on the right hand side of the right-of-way and in the same direction as the highway traffic. Snowmobiles could also cross such roads during these hours but must have lights on in front and rear.

The bill would authorize counties, towns, and municipalities to regulate the operation of snowmobiles on roadways under their jurisdiction so long as the regulations are not inconsistent with the act and any rules and regulations premulgated pursuant to the act. The bill would authorize the Commissioner of Highways to set minimum candlepower requirements for both head and tail lamps. Reflective material at least 16 square inches mounted forward of the handle bars would also be required. The bill would also exempt operators of snowmobiles from drivers license requirements.

Even the toy car fails to escape detection by the Univac Magnetoresistance Magnetometer, an instrument which measures or detects variations in magnetic fields. The Magnetometer, named one of the "Seven Wonders of Engineering" earlier this year by the Minnesota Society of Professional Engineers, can detect the magnetic field of a regular automobile at a distance of 100 feet. The "sensing" or detecting element, a magnetic thin film only one-millionth of an inch thick, is contained in the metal cylinder at the right of the toy car. Because of its sensitivity, small size and simplicity of operation, the Magnetometer has many suggested uses, including traffic control. For example, the magnetometer could sense traffic flow and, linked with a computer, act as one of the essential elements in a traffic-control system.

No other wagons have such a capacity for enjoyment.

Show you what we mean. Say you're in a Chevrolet Kingswood or Concours Walk-in Wagon, when suddenly the road becomes nothing but chuckholes and ruts. Only you can't tell it's rough. You see, Chevy wagons float along on computer-selected coil springs that smooth even the meanest road.

Maybe you're a bit more serious about the great outdoors. So are we. That's why we offer the Chevy Sportvan and Suburban. To an outdoorsman, they're like cars with no mosquitoes. So before you head out to see the U.S.A., better stop by your Chevrolet dealer's.

Viking School Plans Operetta

Viking elementary school will present the operetta, "Cowboy on the Moon", on Friday at 8 p.m. in the Viking school gymnasium.

The story concerns Mr. Hopagog, the man in the moon, played by Leonard Kron, who comes to earth and visits the village of Bow and Arrow. He brings with him his moonsters, arriving in a space ship. Their purpose in coming to earth is to learn how to start a ranch on the moon. The moonsters get some of the earth folk in trouble by taking things which don't belong to them.

The missing articles are returned and the residents of Bow and Arrow bid the Moonsters a fond adieu as they depart in their space ship.

Principal characters are:

Miss Cornell, teacher at Bow and Arrow school, Jodi Halvorson; the sheriff, Steven Hjelle; Mr. Blair, Jeff Sorenson; Samantha Blair, Janet Ranum; Laura, Colleen Stakke; school children, Jennifer Johnson, Diane Anderson, Lari Sorenson, Debbie Swenson, Greg Carpenter, Steven Nelson and Vance Peters; and the Moonsters, Kevin Anderson, Darrell Nelson, Susanne Lunde and Brenda Johnson.

Admission for the two-act performance is 25 cents for adults and high school students and 15 cents for children. The operetta is under the direction of Mrs. Leland Steen.

Towns Confer on Area Bus Service

Daily bus service between Warroad and Thief River Falls may be resumed soon if plans resulting from a recent meeting in Karlstad mature.

Interested persons from Warroad, Roseau, Badger, Greenbush, Karlstad, Newfolden and Thief River Falls attended the meeting at Hanson's cafe in Karlstad at the invitation of Bill LaFave of Thief River Falls, who expressed a need for such a service to be resumed in the area.

Those attending were in complete agreement that the area was in need of the service but past history had shown the run was not financially self supporting, according to an article in the Warroad Pioneer.

The proposed bus service would leave Warroad early in the morning and return the same evening. It would give good connections with bus service to other major transportation points in the state, making it possible to transfer to any part of the country desired.

Plans for the new bus route would turn it west at Greenbush and into Karlstad for passenger pickup before going on to Thief River Falls.

Rev. Foley Will Speak at Second Youth Meeting

"The Problems Our Youth Face" will be discussed at the second in a series of meetings for parents and youth leaders at Lincoln high school cafeteria tomorrow (Tuesday) at 8 p.m. Rev. Gerold Foley, director of the Catholic social service association, will be guest speaker.

This series of four Tuesday evening meetings on today's youth is sponsored by the Thief River Falls Ministerial association and the Thief River Falls schools.

Newfolden, TRF Divide Assets Of Viking Dist.

Division of assets of the dissolved Viking school district between the Newfolden and Thief River Falls school districts, (in proportion to the assessed valuation of the areas included in the two districts following consolidation) was ordered by the Marshall county boad of commissioners in session in Warren recently.

In a resolution adopted by the commissioners, Newfolden district 441 was assigned 91.24 per cent while Thief River Falls district 564 was assigned 8.76 per cent of the remaining assets of the Viking district. Principal asset of the Viking district is the school building located in Viking.

Other business transacted included the following:

Townships requesting use of motor graders from the county for township work will pay $2 an hour more for the use of the equipment this year over last year. The commissioners raised the rental fee from $6 to $8 an hour because of increased operating costs and the increased cost of rental equipment.

An appropriation of $3,200 from the general revenue fund for the operation of the Marshall county day activity center for teaching retarded children was also approved by the board.

A permit was given Newfolden school district 441 to construct an underpass under CSAH 28 to Newfolden pursuant to approval of the County Highway Engineer with the school district being liable for any and all damages done to the highway. The underpass will be used to connect the old school with the new building which is to be constructed across the street.

Right of way easement payments necessary for construction of CSAH 5 between CSAH 1 and on CSAH 28 at Newfolden to T. H. 32 were approved.

A contract was approved with Stans TV and Communications of East Grand Forks for service and maintenance of the Highway department two-way radio system for one year starting April 30, 1969 and concluding April 30, 1970. The county will pay the firm $154.50 monthly to maintain the system including necessary parts and service.

All members of the county board together with County Auditor Charles G. Cheney, Highway Engineer Oliver Thompson and County Attorney Harold G. Myrre were named by the board as voting delegates to the Association of Minnesota Counties for future meetings of the association.

City Authorizes Two Bond Sales

Sale of bonds for street projects and the new city arena were approved Wednesday evening at an adjourned regular meeting of the Thief River Falls city council. Bids will be opened at 3 p.m. on April 29 with the council meeting at 5:30 p.m. to take action on the bids.

Authorized was the sale of $495,000 in temporary improvement bonds and $484,000 in arena bonds. The temporary improvement bonds will cover contracts for water, sewer and street extensions and improvements, fees and resident inspectors, plus capitalization of the first two interest payments.

Arena bonds of $484,000 will be $9,000 higher than the $475,000 authorized by the voters on Feb. 6, 1968. This would be to cover one interest payment due later this year, prior to receipt of funds which would be levied for bond repayment.

Council representatives have been meeting with the architect and final plans and specifications on the new arena are reported to be nearly ready. Bids taken on the first arena plan were rejected by the council and the architect instructed to design a building within the cost structure approved by the council.

In other action Wednesday, the council approved the hiring of Larry E. Leader, Warren, as police patrolman effective April 18 at a salary of $484 per month. Leader, who recently completed his enlistment in the U.S. Air force at Grand Forks AFB, is married and will be living in Thief River Falls.

KITCHEN KARNIVAL

Features from the Kitchen of—

MRS. ALTON SACKETT
of Viking

Salads are no longer considered as something special to be served only for company dinners. With the variety of products available all-year-around in the local markets, salads are now a part of practically every dinner menu. Such hasn't always been the case. When Tiny Grandma was a child, salads were served only during the summer months and the only two types she recalls were potato salad and lettuce salad made with a cream and vinegar dressing.

We are grateful to Mrs. Alton Sackett of Viking for sharing her California salad recipe with the readers of Kitchen Karnival.

CALIFORNIA SALAD

1 can 13½ oz. pineapple chunks or tidbits
1 can mandarin oranges
1 cup shredded or flaked coconut
½ cup miniature marshmallows
1 cup dairy sour cream

Method: While fruit is draining, combine coconut, marshmallows and sour cream. Add drained fruit and chill for 24 hours.

Mrs. Sackett stated that this salad was especially tasty when served with ham. It can also be served as a luncheon salad with a meat filled bun or a variety of salted crackers. A nice feature of this salad is that it keeps well, if refrigerated.

The Sacketts live in the village of Viking where for the past 25 years, they have operated the Hartz store. They have two sons and one daughter: Charles of St. Paul, and Roger Sackett and Mrs. Orville Peters, both of this city. Six grandchildren complete the family circle.

Although they have living quarters in the store building, Mrs. Sackett said that the work in the store and keeping up her home, keep her too busy for any special hobby.

OFFICIAL PROCEEDINGS
BOARD OF COUNTY COMMISSIONERS
PENNINGTON COUNTY,
MINNESOTA
MARCH 15, 1969

Pursuant to Petition and Notice of Special Meeting the County Board of Commissioners met in Special session in the Courtroom in the Courthouse at 1:30 p.m., March 15, 1969.

Members present: Ifenson, Olson, Anderson, Lindberg and Tese. All present.

Meeting was called to order by Chairman Lindberg. 23 interested parties were present.

Petition for use of County Ditch No. 8 as an outlet for a sewage Disposal System was read and published notice of Hearing pursuant to M.S. 106.561 was read.

City Attorney Wurst appeared with Mayor Jacobson, Engineer Stewart and Alderman Carlson and presented as evidence the Petition of the City along with the Engineer's Preliminary Report marked Exhibit 'A' and letter of concurrence from the Minnesota Pollution Control Agency marked Exhibit 'B'.

Mayor Jacobson spoke of need for the facility and outlet, and Engineer Stewart reviewed estimates of needed improvements.

The hearing was then opened for discussion. A letter was read that had been filed by Albert Koop who could not be present. The letter opposed use of the ditch and suggested another outlet be found. Meynard Mehrkens spoke in opposition to using Co. Ditch 8 because of the possibility of washouts in the lagoon system. Engineer Stewart indicated the washout possibility was remote because of the massive wide banks to be constructed.

Dr. Davidson questioned the adequacy of the ditch. Mervin Koop also spoke on this.

Averell Yonke questioned the ability to guarantee proper control.

County Engineer Seidel spoke of engineering needs to make ditch adequate for all possible conditions by changing the culverts to 48 inch.

After discussion by the Board and reference to the Statutes the following Order of the Board was ordered spread upon being offered by Commissioner Olson seconded by Commissioner Anderson and declared carried:

ORDER UPON PETITION FOR USE OF DRAINAGE DITCH BY MUNICIPALITY.

The Petition of the City of Thief River Falls along with a plat of the area marked exhibit A and a letter of approval of the Minnesota State Water Pollution Control Commission marked exhibit D were entered as evidence by the petitioners representative and it appearing by proper evidence that due notice had been given of the pendency of said petition and the filing of the report of the engineer, in the office of the County Auditor of said County, the Board did, at the time above specified, proceed to hear said petition and consider a report of the Engineer made thereon; and said Board having duly considered said petition and report and heard all parties interested in the use of said proposed outlet as provided by law, finds as follows, to-wit:

First: That the petition as originally filed is sufficient. Second: That the use of the ditch will be of public utility and promote the public health, conforms to the requirements of the state water pollution control commission and provides for the construction and use of proper disposal works.

NOW THEREFORE IT IS ORDERED, That upon completion of all plans for acquisition of and construction upon such land as will be required for said facility, the Board will make determination of the benefits to be derived from such use.

Dated this 15th day of March, 1969.

Ames Pederson Funeral Services Held on Friday

Funeral services for Ames Pederson, 63, of this city were held Friday at 11 a.m., at the Green Funeral chapel. A lifetime resident of Thief River Falls and retired salesman for Gamble Robinson, Pederson died Tuesday morning at his home at 321 North Tindolph.

Rev. Keough Patnede, pastor at St. Bernard's Catholic church, officiated at the services. Serving as pallbearers were Bill Holmes, Marvin Lehr, William Unruh, Gunder Legvald, Walter Marehouse and Harlan Knutson. Interment was in Greenwood cemetery.

Ames Pederson was born Sept. 11, 1905 in Thief River Falls. He attended school here and for 25 years was employed as a salesman by Gamble Robinson, retiring three years ago. He was a member of the United Commercial Travelers and the Fraternal Order of Eagles.

He was united in marriage to Florence Baker in 1927. She preceded him in death in 1954. In 1956 he married Irene Ebner at Wadena. She survives.

Also surviving are two daughters: Mrs. Nels (Maxine) Lingvall and Mrs. Paul (Arlena) [illegible], both of Port Angeles, Wash.; one son, Jack Pederson of St. Cloud; 13 grandchildren, two sisters: Mrs. Dot Bertha Berquist of Mesa, Ariz., and Mrs. Lucila Ihnat of Minneapolis; and one brother, Robert Pederson of Thief River Falls.

In addition to his first wife, he was preceded in death by one brother.

Alfred Sollom, Formerly of TRF, Dies at Bagley

Alfred Sollom, 80, of Bagley and formerly of Thief River Falls, died Saturday, March 5, at the Clearwater Memorial hospital at Bagley.

Funeral services for Alfred Sollom were held Tuesday at 1 p.m., at the Congregational church at Bagley. Rev. Donald Steglnk officiated and interment was made in the Bagley city cemetery.

Alfred Sollom was born May 20, 1888 in Newfolden to Torger and Turi Sollom. As a young man he homesteaded in Saskatchewan, Canada and four years later moved to Thief River Falls. He was married at Warren on Nov. 9, 1909 to Olivia Kjelgren and the couple moved to Bagley in 1924. With the exception of the war years when he worked in the shipyards in California, he had since made his home in Bagley. He was employed there for 17 years by the Clearwater county highway department.

He is survived by his wife, Olivia of Bagley; one daughter, Mrs. Albert (Viola) Gordon of Bagley; three sons: Adolph Sollom of Oakland, Calif.; Almond of Detroit Lakes and Orland of Vienna, Va.; 14 grandchildren and two great-grandchildren;

Also two brothers: Kittel Sollom of Plummer and Bertel of Harden, Mont., and four sisters: Olava Sollom and June Sollom, both of Newfolden; Mrs. Carl (Myrtle) Swenson of Thief River Falls, and Mrs. Elavina Johnson of Eagle, Idaho.

He was preceded in death by one son, four brothers and two sisters.

After the Meeting

Wednesday night's meeting of the Thief River Falls board of education was an enlightening one. Not only was it highlighted by significant action, it was filled with information which was new to the board and to other interested persons, primarily teachers, who were in attendance.

And the information presented was interesting for another reason. While topics discussed were reviewed for the first time by the board in regular session, they have been the topic of much discussion by private citizens for some weeks now.

Since the public has been concerned about school board action with regard to salaries for instruction, changes in educational program and possible changes (real or imagined) in physical plant, perhaps it was time that the board became as well informed as the public. (We intend to be cynical by that statement, since we fail to see how intelligent discussion can be carried on by the public about matters on which the school board is yet to take action.)

Richard Edlund and Neil Taverna, respective senior and junior high school principals, reviewed their recommendations for physical changes in the two buildings to better accommodate modular scheduling. Supt. Lloyd Johnson reviewed the experimental programs underway in the elementary schools, emphasizing that individualized instruction from kindergarten through graduation is the goal of the district. He said that "non-graded" elementary was perhaps a poor choice of words when the planned program for the district was discussed.

These changes in physical plant and these projected changes in the educational program are of vital concern to parents in the district—in fact, to all taxpayers in the district. One interested person, apart from the news media and teacher observers, made the effort to attend the meeting.

But it was after the meeting adjourned, and informal discussion was in order, that the most interesting conversation took place. The concerned citizen who gave of his time to attend the meeting professed a better understanding after listening to the presentations. He also expressed an apparently deep-felt concern about a "lack of communication" between the board of education, the teachers and the general public.

There is a distinct possibility that a "communication gap" exists. If it does, it exists for several reasons.

The most basic of these, we believe, is that the public neither seeks nor seriously wants to learn the full details of school planning and programs. Individuals will not take the time to attend meetings, to listen attentively to news broadcasts, to read news stories or to assemble, mentally or physically, the information made public through the board of education over a period of time.

Another problem of communication is that it is impossible for the news media to report the full context of several hours of informative discussion. In the condensation of information, details must be omitted. Most of these should be evident, but people who can not or will not attempt to understand can build the unsaid into a major problem.

And while the problem of presenting information certainly exists, the problem of getting the public to avail itself of the information which is presented to it is even greater. If a person has a preconceived idea about a particular subject, it is impossible for that person to listen or read objectively about that subject. It results in a case of: "My mind is made up; don't confuse me with facts."

Suggested Wednesday night was a newsletter published and distributed by the school. There may be some merit here, but we would question it. Many parents and taxpayers would not read it. Others would read it but not understand it. Many more would read it, understand it but dismiss it as one-sided propaganda.

Communication is a problem. It is a vast field with no easy answers. There are meetings coming up in the near future to discuss the facts of the local school situation. Persons who are really concerned, who want to know what is going on, who aren't satisfied with rumors their neighbors heard or their children carry home from school, who want reason and logic rather than bias and belligerence, will make every effort to attend these meetings. The rest will remain uncommunicable, content with their own opinions and beliefs or disinterested in general.

And that situation is tough to change, no matter how hard you try.

Library Week

The week of April 20-26 this year is set aside as National Library Week. During this time the peculiarly human characteristic that accounts for all of man's accomplishment is to be commemorated—the ability to store the sum total of his knowledge and build new knowledge upon it.

Our libraries preserve the written word that records faithfully all that the wisest and most gifted among us have learned of the arts, of literature, of science and technology, of life, the world and the universe around us. In great libraries the record of civilization is being kept—in movies, in the sound of stereo tapes, on microfilm. The purpose of National Library Week is to create broader awareness of the need for a better-read, better-informed America and to encourage the habit of reading the library use.

Libraries have been the cornerstone of civilization throughout recorded history. They were never more so than now. Knowledge, especially in scientific fields, expands at a fantastic rate and an education can truly never be completed but must be constantly sought throughout a lifetime of learning. Libraries remain a primary tool of learning. During National Library Week, let us strengthen the habit of using them often and well.

Is It Failing?

Sen. Karl F. Grittner of St. Paul, minority leader of the Minnesota senate, recently distributed a personal release attacking the Minnesota state sales tax. He laments the fact that business has been given a break in property tax and claims that smaller taxpayers are forced to make up the difference.

"At this state of the 1969 session, it is apparent that the state is in a fiscal mess. At the same time, both urban and rural homeowners are being crushed with an ever increasing property tax load," the senator says.

So far he hasn't said anything most people don't already know.

"People are asking the reasons for the state's predicament," he says. "I submit that the basic reason is the sales tax law passed by the 1967 legislature. I stated then that the lobbying efforts of big business to be relieved of their personal property taxes was the principal drive behind the bill. The homeowners, renters and senior citizens' temporary tax relief was thrown in to cover up the removal of $77 million in taxes on business."

He goes on to cite reduction of taxes for a number of large business firms in the state (some of which would not still be in the state without tax relief afforded by the law), and they are impressive reductions. He makes no attempt to show what the business firms are doing with the dollars they no longer pour into the senator's state tax coffers.

Part and portion of the sales tax law was designed to provide business incentives, to encourage business and industry to remain in Minnesota and continue to provide jobs and investment earnings. It was hoped such incentives would entice other industry from outside the state to locate here, take roots and begin to grow.

Without a doubt, this has happened. Minnesota has come alive with growth. It is offering more and better job opportunities to more skilled people, creating demands for better education and allowing the high quality of young people of the state to remain here in greater numbers. The law hasn't failed. The thinking is just foggy.

Taxes Rise

According to the U. S. Chamber of Commerce, employed Americans will work two and a half hours every eight-hour working day in 1969 to pay their federal, state and local tax bills. Last year's 10 per cent surtax accounted for a big jump in federal taxes, but state and local levies are also showing a distinct upward trend. As a result, the average American's tax load has changed drastically since the beginning of the 20th Century. In 1902, all taxes—federal, state and local—came to $17 per capita. In 1948 it was $349 and in 1958, $568. However, for 1969 the estimated tax bill will be $1,000 for every man, woman and child in the United States.

CAPITOL COMMENT

BY MARTY McGOWAN

When reference is made to the state of Minnesota, who is this, really? In other words, who speaks for the state of Minnesota?

It has generally been accepted that the governor, as the chief executive officer of the state, is the spokesman. He is a full time official readily available to the press and public and is generally a vocal person with thoughts on all matters affecting the state.

Sen. Gordon Rosenmeier, of Little Falls, takes a different position. He contends the legislature speaks for the state. This strong and able exponent of legislative prerogatives contends that since the legislature determines the policy for the state that branch of government is the only one qualified to represent state position.

Under the true delineation of powers and duties the legislature determines the policies, the executive carries them out and the judiciary interprets the decisions of the legislature and adjudicates constitutional questions. At times, with a strong executive, it may appear that the governor is making the policy and the legislature is merely enacting the policies of the governor into law. This opinion undoubtedly comes about because governors seek election to office on what they pledge to do—generally independent of the legislature—and the governor sets forth his policies to the legislature and asks that branch of government to carry out his wishes.

This seeming dilemma of who has the authority to speak for state government was brought into sharper focus recently when a delegation of 20 Minnesota legislators went to Washington, D.C., to discuss state-federal relationships. They met with the congressional delegation of the state and federal officials and came away with the impression that state governments should be better informed on what is happening in the nation's capital. Just how this should be done is still a subject for further discussion.

Sen. Rosenmeier, who was given credit for conceiving this trip and masterminding its activities, expounded his theory of federal-state relationships. He wants the federal government to establish an office in the states to deal with such things as taxing power. He also wants that federal agency to deal through the legislature—not the governor.

At one of the conferences in Washington a federal official said that in dealing with states he dealt with state planning agencies, where such offices exist, which are under the direction of governors. Apparently this is done for convenience rather than through any ideological convictions. This statement by a federal official pointed up the attitude that is prevalent in the public mind, and also how the situation appears from Washington.

All the legislators present in Washington agreed more contact is needed with the federal government. Occasional visits by legislators aren't enough. They don't have time during a session to go more often than occasionally.

A representative of the state in Washington has been suggested, somebody to keep abreast of the maze of federal programs. Again the question arises, who would he represent, the governor or the legislature? It would be unnecessary to have two men in such a capacity. For the legislature to hire such a person should be quite a departure, more so than for the governor to do it. Others have asked: isn't this what the congressional delegation is supposed to do anyway?

Rep. Al France, of Duluth, who has come up with some innovative ideas to utilize modern techniques in the current session, has a suggestion for this area as well. He is investigating utilizing closed circuit television so that instant conferences could be held with appropriate people in Washington as the need arose. Thus neither group would have to leave home and the information would be current. The cost is being investigated to see if the idea is practical.

University Develops Data Storage System

A computerized data storage system that will hold information for Minnesota counties, regions, localities and colleges and universities has been developed by economists with the university of Minnesota's agricultural extension service.

This computer storage and retrieval system—called the Minnesota Analysis and Planning System (MAPS)—will serve as a prototype for similar systems in other states, according to John Hoyt, Jr., University of Minnesota economist and program leader for special project development and coordination.

The MAPS program will provide state, local and federal government leaders, and colleges and universities in the state, with a common source of different types of data which can be used for policy planning, research and program administration.

Currently an initial teletype linkage to the computer information system has been established. This means that queries on relevant data from university and non-university personnel such as government officials and officials of institutions of higher learning, can be accepted for overnight processing. This accessibility will be expanded through the use of teletype and telephone linkages at regional research and service centers.

When finally completed, the MAPS data bank will include programs that will enable the user not only to recall specific data but also to analyze it in relationship to other information in the basic data file that is uniquely relevant to the area or problem under consideration.

In the immediate future, all available county-level collections of data from the Economic Development administration in Washington, D. C., will be programmed into the computer system. Several collections of important data about Minnesota also will be included in MAPS; this data includes state and federal agency directories, the student enrollment in institutions of higher education in the state and current population estimates by county, age and sex.

In addition, any collection of data from local, state and federal agencies and colleges and universities can be quickly programmed into the MAPS data bank. This will allow individuals to quickly organize, retrieve and compare different types of data with each other, Hoyt says.

Eventually the MAPS project will include socio-economic and other types of data for the entire Upper Midwest. This will include about 6,000 different statistical entries on important data for each county in the region.

This flexibility and accessibility to large amounts of organized data which can be quickly retrieved, analyzed and compared makes this system unique, Hoyt says.

Also, the MAPS program doesn't require a computer trained programmer, which means that an individual can use the MAPS data bank with a minimum amount of training.

The MAPS project was funded by the university's agricultural extension service, with support from the computer systems division of the Economic Development administration in Washington, D. C.

Roseau Added to List With High Unemployment

In spite of steadily climbing Minnesota employment, concentrated areas of unemployment or underemployment continue to exist within the state, according to Employment Security Commissioner George J. Vavoulis.

Vavoulis said he has been notified by the U. S. department of commerce that Roseau, Mille Lacs and Cass counties will be designated as areas of persistent unemployment on April 1.

Hubbard county will be added to the list in June, he said. Hubbard and Cass are in the 10-county area in northern Minnesota united under a concentrated employment program. Firms in counties designated as areas of persistent unemployment have second preference, after model cities, on bids for federal contracts, Vavoulis said.

Minnesota counties already in this classification are Aitkin, Becker, Beltrami, Clearwater, Cook, Crow Wing, Itasca, Kanabec, Lake of the Woods, Mahnomen, Marshall, Morrison, Norman, Pine, Red Lake and Wadena. With the exception of the City of Duluth, St. Louis county is in this group.

Two Harbors county is designated as an area of substantial unemployment and receives third preference on bids for federal contracts, Vavoulis said. First preference is extended to model cities areas in Minneapolis, St. Paul and Duluth.

He also noted that unemployment in Lake of the Woods, Cook, Morrison and Two Harbors counties will be reviewed in June to determine if they are still areas of persistent or substantial unemployment.

Areas of persistent unemployment are those in which unemployment during the most recent calendar year has averaged six per cent or more of the work force and has been above the national average by at least 50 per cent for the preceding four calendar years; or 75 per cent for two of the three preceding calendar years; or 100 per cent for one of the preceding two calendar years.

Prowler Track Squad To Open At Moorhead

by Bob Wielinski
Times Sports Writer

Thief River Falls Prowler track squad will be the first of the spring sports squads to enter into competition as the thinclads travel to Moorhead on Wednesday afternoon to take part in the Dragon Indoor meet.

Coach Jim Sims will take eight members of the Prowler squad to the meet to enter nine events.

The Prowlers have been confined to the Lincoln high school gym for workouts so far this year, with Sims hoping that the weather will remain fair and that the track will dry so that they can get outside. To make matters worse, the gym is in the process of being painted and the fumes from the paint are hard on the boys working out.

Sims indicated on Friday that he would be pleased if the boys are able to place, as other teams that will be running in the meet have already taken part in other indoor meets.

The eight-member squad making the trip to Moorhead on Wednesday includes Richard Habedank, Neil Rondorf, Sheldon Joppru, Bill Norman, Tim Olson, John Harris, John Swick and Scott Vettelson.

They will be entered in the following events—Habedank in the 60 yard dash; Rondorf in the mile run; Joppru in the high hurdles and high jump; Norman in the 440 yard dash; Olson in the low hurdles; Harris in the 880 yard run; Swick in the pole vault; and Vettelson in the shot put.

The meet is scheduled for 4:30 p.m. at the Moorhead state college fieldhouse.

After the Dragon meet the Prowlers will be back in action on Saturday as they will take part in the Sioux Indoor meet at the University of North Dakota starting at 10 a.m.

SPORTSMEN TO MEET

Pennington county sportsmen club will hold its regular monthly meeting on Wednesday at 7:30 p.m. in the basement of the city auditorium. Movies will be shown.

Langen Praises Added Capital For Farmer Use

Congressman Odin Langen has praised the department of agriculture's decision to make an additional $41 million in new funds available for farm loans.

"A total of $25 million has been earmarked for the Farmers Home administration farm operating loans," Langen observed, "with the $16 million balance going to the agency's emergency credit revolving fund."

"This will mean that an estimated 3,000 farm families will be able to finance their 1969 operations through the operating loan fund, and an additional 3,000 farmers who are facing natural disasters such as floods will be able to obtain emergency credit at reduced interest rates."

Langen noted that the $16 million released for the emergency credit fund is in addition to the $25 million released early in March by the bureau of the budget. "These combined funds, plus $10 million that is expected to be repaid on emergency loans now outstanding, is expected to cover the emergency farm loan needs during the current fiscal year.

Board Approves Resignations - And Contracts

the two elementary principals, two secondary principals, director of the vocational-technical school, administrative assistant and superintendent.

Francis Hamerlinck, administrative assistant, reviewed the request made by the union for salary increases for non-certified personnel in the district. A 40 cents per hour increase across the board is asked, he said. First year employees now receive $2.38 per hour with $2.50 per hour paid after the first year.

A communication from the teachers of the district was read, stating that the teachers would not accept extra assignments beyond their present contracts. The letter was signed by Orren Bendickson, president of the local education association, and dated April 7.

Richard Edlund reviewed changes he believed necessary in the senior high school plant to accommodate modular scheduling throughout all classes in all grades. Removal of temporary walls, installation of folding doors, installation of carpeting and other modifications have been estimated to cost $11,230—part of which is included in the coming year's budget.

Neil Taverna, junior high school principal, diagrammed changes he would recommend in the junior high school for modular scheduling. This included removal of two walls between classrooms to provide enlarged area for groups larger than 30 or 40 students. Cost estimate for all changes at Franklin school was $10,830.

Both principals expressed enthusiasm for modular scheduling, based on their experience with it in their respective schools.

Supt. Johnson reviewed the elementary school proposal for the coming year, stating that the district's goal of individualized instruction would be carried out as far as possible. The term "non-graded" as applied to the elementary school was perhaps unfortunate, he said. "We are not going to throw out the report card; we are not going to eliminate the grade level," he said in regard to the coming school term.

Following adjournment of the regular meeting, informal discussion was held among board members and other interested persons in attendance.

GAME OF THE WEEK

by Bob Wielinski

Former Prowler Athletes

Two former Thief River Falls Prowler baseball players, now in college, are playing and coaching in baseball.

Tommy Cummings, former Prowler pitching star, is now pitching for the Concordia Cobber baseball team and is listed on the squad as a junior. He was also named as co-captain of the Cobber team.

The Cobbers opened the season on Saturday against Valley City, with Cummings scheduled to pitch the opening game.

Buzz Olson, another Prowler baseball player, now at Bemidji state college, will be doing his practice teaching this spring at Bemidji high school and will be helping with the coaching of the Lumberjacks.

'Ole' Olson, his dad, stated that it will be funny when the Jacks play the Prowlers, to see Buzz on the opposite side of the field, rather than on the Prowlers' side.

Greatest Player Poll

An unprecedented nationwide poll to determine the greatest baseball player ever, as well as the All-time All-Star team, is now underway in conjunction with the national game's celebration of the 100th anniversary of professional baseball.

Voting will commence at the local club level, with all major league teams participating. Fans throughout the United States and Canada will be asked to vote for their favorite club's All-Time All-Star team. Local balloting will be conducted from now until May 31.

The names of each club's "Greatest Players Ever" will be submitted to the Baseball Writers of America for the final selection of the All-Time All-Star team, including a righthanded and lefthanded pitcher, and climaxed by the naming of the single "Greatest Player" ever.

The identity of the Greatest Players will be announced for the first time at a special formal dinner in Washington, D.C., on Monday, July 21, in conjunction with the 1969 All-Star game.

When submitting your vote in naming the Twin's greatest team, send it on a postcard to the Greatest Players Ever, Minnesota Twins Baseball Club, 8001 Cedar Avenue, Bloomington, Minnesota 55420.

This could be pretty hard as the Twins may be named only from the year they transferred from Washington to Minnesota in 1961. There are some positions that would be filled easily, but others could prove to be pretty sticky.

Here is an example: first base—Vic Power or Harmon Killebrew; second base—Billy Martin or Rod Carew; third base—Rich Rollins or Harmon Killebrew; shortstop—Zoilo Versalles; Outfielders—Lenny Green, Ted Uhlaender, Cesar Tovar, Tony Oliva, Bob Allison, Jimmie Hall or Harmon Killebrew; Lefthand pitcher—Al Worthington or Jim Kaat; righthand pitcher—Dean Chance or Jim Grant; catcher—Earl Battey.

There is a sample. Just who would you pick to fill these positions? Like most people you will pick your favorites.

Long Time

It took the Minnesota Twins a long time to win their first game of the season as they suffered four straight losses before winning their first game on Sunday against the California Angels.

Maybe they will start coming now, but look at the pitching. Dean Chance has yet to pitch a game, as he has a sore arm. Jim Kaat looked good in his 11-inning performance against Kansas City and is way ahead of last year's pace.

You know who is leading the west in the American league so far this season; none other than the two expansion teams, Kansas City and Seattle. Would be kind of funny to see them finish one-two in the league in their first year, wouldn't it?

by Stu and Dee Mann

"Backdoor" Registration

Now that sportsmen everywhere have to register their names and properly identify themselves in order to purchase any size ammunition, it seems pointless to scream about the government registering the gun ownership any longer! (Or does it?) This was a back door sneak attack. It is far easier to enact a law than to repeal it. . .Write your congressmen and senators to remove long gun ammo from the "Bill".

Records Are Kept

Gun dealers must keep "ammunition records" to show the government who bought ammo, when the size; plus pertinent information about said buyer. That if they know the purchaser has ever been insane, for instance (although now cured?), he isn't permitted to buy ammo, or if he is a 'con' past or present., etc. All well and good, any reasonable thinking person shouldn't sell ammunition to known mentally ill or felons; since it is the person illegally using the gun who is to blame for gun crime, admittedly. Although there are far greater crimes committed by means other than guns, my friends!

Why Not Register Bombs?

"It's hard to understand why they are having so much trouble with the nuclear treaties. It's real simple. If the nations with A-Bombs and H-Bombs would only register them all the problems would be over."

"Registration should be at a central registry, perhaps in Switzerland. If some country lost a H-Bomb, the finder would just look at the serial number and know right away who it belonged to and could return it to the rightful owner. And if a H-Bomb from a foreign nation exploded in the United States, after the smoke cleared away the Army could go in and find a serial number and know what country sent the bomb over here. There's something real magical about registration—just record the serial number some place and all the H-Bomb problems of the world will be over."

Switch

Bill Gordhammer, the former manager of the Germain Hotel in St. Cloud is now manager of the St. Cloud Country Club. John Cliplef, the former manager of the Montevedio Country Club is now owner of Hotel Hunt in Montevedio.

FFA Judging Teams Gain State Contests

Individual performances paced Lincoln high school Future Farmers of America judging teams in regional competition during the past few days, with three out of five teams qualifying for entry in state competition.

At North Dakota state university in Fargo recently, the local meats judging team and general livestock judging team qualified for state competition in May. And at Crookston Saturday the farm mechanics team gained an impressive win to advance to the state contest, according to Mitch Kezar, chapter reporter.

Sophomore Barry Hogan set a new record in individual meats judging as he totaled 96 of a possible 100 points in the competition. The previous record was 92. Other members of the first place team were freshmen Mike Keefe and Richard Nordhagen and junior Mike Swenson.

Harley Lambert led the farm mechanics judging team to victory Saturday, but the three local team members finished as the top three individual judges in the event. Lambert led by more than 100 points over his closest rival, with Gary Novak and Alvin Asp finishing second and third.

The general livestock team finished second to Ada by a narrow margin but still qualified for the state event with a second place finish. Sophomore Vern Anseby was high individual for the Thief River Falls team which included seniors Larry Hruby and John Hammer and junior Don Johnson.

Entered in regional competition but not qualifying for state trips were the wildlife identification team and the dairy judging team. The wildlife identification entry was fifth among nine entries with Larry Langevin as high local individual, followed by Mitch Kezar. Other team members were Ron Moritz and David Kopecky. The dairy judging team included Lyndon Pream, Jerry Muzzy, Terry Tellefsen and Mitch Kezar.

The state judging contests will be held in connection with the state FFA convention. Lawrence Holt and Edward Duke, local FFA advisors and coaches for the teams, expressed their pleasure at local judging success.

Attitude Survey Held This Week In Sample Areas

To determine resident attitude on several subjects in Thief River Falls, a sample survey will be conducted Wednesday (today) and Thursday, according to William Fahey, city clerk.

All information obtained in the survey will be held in strict confidence, the city clerk added, and will be used mainly "to assist the continuing planning and development effort."

Contamination Of Farm Wells Said Possible

Due to the sudden snow melt which has caused field flooding in almost every county in Minnesota, rural residents are urged by the department of health to be concerned with contamination of their wells.

According to the department, there is no question that this is a definite health hazard and this matter should be taken care of as soon as possible.

Rural residents are urged to write to the department of health for a well-sampling kit to test for contamination at no charge. The address is Division of Environmental Health, Department of Health, 717 Delaware Street, Minneapolis, Minnesota 55440.

In the meantime, it was also suggested that people boil their well water before they use it.

Linda Amundson Named as Home Agent in County

She will begin her duties in the county on June 1. Miss Amundson will graduate from Concordia college in Moorhead next month with a degree in home economics education.

She was born and raised on a dairy farm near Ulen and is a graduate of the Ulen high school. She was a 4-H member in Clay county for eight years and was enrolled in most of the home economics projects, as well as junior leadership.

In other business during the meeting of the county extension committee on Thursday, James Engelstad was re-elected chairman and Henry Panek vice chairman of the committee for 1969.

"Can't Afford To Be Average"

Management Group Reviews Farm Reports

"To stay in business and hope to increase his net worth, the farmer of today can not afford to be average." This was the statement of Ed Sisler, coordinator of the farm management program at the Thief River Falls area vocational-technical school, in summarizing the 1968 study of farm records for program participants.

About 150 participants in the farm management program attended the annual report meeting Tuesday evening in the new area vocational-technical school. Dr. LaVerne Freeh, assistant to the dean of the Minnesota institute of agriculture, was guest speaker at the event.

Sisler's summary, and his basis for comment on the "average" farmer, were drawn from a composite report of the farm programs of participants. The summary in 1968 included 333 farms, compared with 284, in 1967, and is expected to grow by more than 100 again for 1969. It covers farmers enrolled in Kittson, Roseau, Marshall, Polk, Pennington, Red Lake, Norman, Mahnomen, Clay Becker, Wilkin and Otter Tail counties.

Lists Average Earnings

The program coordinator told participants Tuesday that the average farmer in the program had labor earnings of $6,347 last year. The 55 most profitable farms in the program averaged labor earnings of $16,146 while the 55 least profitable farms had an average loss of $893 in labor earnings.

"Individual farmers, in order to improve their financial positions, must show ever increasing efficiency in the handling of their farming operations," Sisler said. "Keeping of accurate records and the use of those records in farm management provide the key to maximum profits from your farms. I really question whether being average is good enough for the farmer of today."

Two-Year Comparison

Comparative statements for 1967 and 1968 showed labor earnings up by about $1,200 from $5,163 to $6,350 for participants in the program. In spite of the severe crop losses in certain areas and the extremely adverse harvest season, no real decline was evident in average crop income. Livestock again proved to be a very vital part of the total agriculture profit picture, Sisler added.

In the two-year comparison, farm size increased slightly from 539 to 556 acres, with 49 farmers joining the 284 in the program for HONOR STUDENTS at Plummer high school were announced today with Patricia Moreau named valedictorian and Michael Hanson, salutatorian. Patricia is the daughter of Mr. and Mrs. Louis Moreau, Plummer, and Michael is the son of Mr. and Mrs. Duane Hanson, Brooks. Graduation exercises are scheduled for May 29 at Plummer with Otto Lande, vice president of Northern School supply, as the speaker.

Chief Warns of Traffic Dangers

Minnesota Highway Patrol Chief John J. Harbinson pointed out that the fair weather months from April through September are nearly four times as hazardous for young pedestrians as the rest of the year.

Bands Will Hold Concert Monday

Lincoln high school concert band and the Lincoln Swingers stage band will present a free concert in the high school auditorium at 8 p.m. on Monday. John Moum is director of the instrumental music groups.

Concert band will play "Unfinished Symphony" by Schubert, an "Original Suite", by Gordon Jacob, Lincoln's contest number. Fred Brodin, student director, will conduct a concert march, "Burst of Flame" and "Festivo" by Vaclav Nelhybel. "Festivo" is an extremely dramatic and somewhat powerful number, Moum said.

Other selections will be "The Peanut Vendor" and "Relax", two Latin American novelties.

The Lincoln Swingers, an 18-piece jazz band, will also take part in the concert. Some of the swinging tunes they will be playing include, "Sunny Side of the Street", "Atcheson, Topeka and the Santa Fe", Count Basie's "One O'Clock Jump", Stan Kenton's "Golden Horns", and others.

Everyone is invited to attend.

PLUMMER PLAY SET

Senior class of Plummer high school will present its class play on Friday evening at the school auditorium. The title of the play is "Gentle as a Wildcat". Tickets will be sold at the door on the night of the play.

"Our Town" Will Be Staged by LHS Students

Lincoln high school will present the drama "Our Town" by Thornton Wilder on April 26 and 28 in conjunction with the fine arts festival to be held in Thief River Falls on those dates.

"Almost any skillful dramatic craftsman can hold theater goers spellbound with a tale of terror or violence. Wilder manages a more difficult feat; he takes the normal daily lives of ordinary people in a typical American small town and weaves them into the heartstrings of his audience," was one statement made about Wilder's Pulitzer prize-winning play.

Main characters are: stage manager (Rob Womack); Dr. Frank Gibbs, the town doctor (George Martin); Mrs. Julia Gibbs (Janet Cummings); George Gibbs (Tim Hoel); Emily Webb (Carel Kraemer); Mr. Charles Webb, editor of the town newspaper, (Brian Hauck); Mrs. Myrtle Webb (Jeri Holte); and student directors are Connie Hillyer and Gail Sande. The play is under the direction of Everett Marshall.

REGION EIGHT SPEECH crown was added to the many trophies which have been won by Lincoln high school teams this past school year. Pictured here is Mrs. Mae Larson, coach of the speech team; Richard Habedank (left), second alternate to the state speech contest; Connie Hillyer (next to Mrs. Larson), second alternate; and Mary Sorenson, representing Lincoln high at the state speech contest on April 26 at Richfield. All three received ratings of 'A' in the regional speech contest held at Fosston Saturday.

Appoint Warren Man to Serve on Adjustment Panel

Kenneth S. Nelson, Warren realtor and insurance agent, has been appointed by Hon. Warren A. Saetre, district judge, as the third member of the Thief River Falls adjustment panel. Court appointment of the panel's third member was requested by C. L. Charlson and Joe Ferberg, respective panel members appointed by the local board of education and teachers' negotiating council.

Appointment of an adjustment panel was requested by the teachers' negotiating council after the council and school board representatives were unable to reach accord on contract negotiations for the 1969-70 school term. Charlson and Ferberg reportedly have met several times and agreed to petition the court for appointment of the third member.

Kenneth Nelson has been in the insurance and real estate business in Warren for a number of years. According to law, the third member appointed to an adjustment panel serves at a fee of $50 per day plus expenses for each day or portion thereof that the panel shall meet. Half of these costs are borne by the school district and half by the teacher association.

First meeting of the full three-member panel is subject to call by the member appointed by the court, and it is expected that Nelson will call the meeting within the next several days.

Chronically Ill To Be Subject Of Discussion

Newest techniques in the care of chronically ill and disabled patients will be explained and demonstrated at a workshop April 18 at Bethesda hospital in Crookston for registered nurses and county and school public health nurses in 11 adjoining counties. Mrs. Theresa St. Onge, district nursing supervisor, is in charge.

Sessions will be conducted by Florence Deaner, R.N., rehabilitation educator for the American Rehabilitation foundation, sponsor of Kenny rehabilitation institute in Minneapolis and recipient of funds from area United Funds, Community Chests and dependent campaigns. Subjects will include an introduction to rehabilitative nursing, range-of-motion exercises, transfer techniques and observation and patient-teaching in the home environment.

Nursing procedures to help prevent deformities from inactivity will be demonstrated, along with proper positioning of those confined to bed, ways to help patients get themselves from bed to wheelchair and bathtub, and encouragement of the patient to help himself.

According to Miss Deaner, the U.S. public health service reports that disability from immobility is one of the nation's 10 preventable health problems. The Service estimates that 50 to 75 per cent of the deterioration that occurs from "an overdose of bed rest" can be prevented with rehabilitation nursing methods.

TRF Employment Is Reduced from All-Time High

Thief River Falls employment has dipped slightly from the all-time high which was reached in December of 1968, according to "Employment Trends" from the Minnesota state employment service. Current employment figures for the city stands at 4,117, down 378 from the record level of 4,495, according to J. K. Stadum, manager.

Largest decrease developed in the manufacturing industry which experienced a slow down during January, February and March. Slight fluctuations developed in the other categories due to seasonal factors, Stadum said.

Year ago employment levels stood at 3,560. Figures for this survey period indicate a substantial gain of 557, which is due mainly to increased levels in manufacturing.

Record-breaking employment is predicted for 1969, according to the analysis. It is conservatively estimated that predicted expansions in local firms will increase payrolls by about 650 workers by the end of 1969.

This increase will be mostly in manufacturing and service industries. Increases in these segments of the economy will normally result in additional increases in the remaining industrial groups.

Labor supply is increasing due to early registration of youth seeking summer employment. Adding to the supply are secondary wage earners who are willing to work in manufacturing employment.

Demand for workers continues favorable. In almost constant demand are food service workers, well-trained office workers, sales personnel and farm workers, the local manager added.

The following categories of employees with the number employed during March were listed, with December of 1968 figures in parentheses:

Wholesale trade, 420 (398); finance, 129 (129); manufacturing, 726 (1,170); transportation, 283 (200); service, 800 (800); retail trade, 777 (806); construction, 222 (255); and government, 780 (737). Total—4,117 (4,495). Government employees include public schools and all city, county, state and federal employees.

1968. Average farm capital increased from $54,899 to $56,457; productive livestock average inventory decreased from $10,733 to $9,565; and crop average inventory increased from $5,911 to $6,466. These figures include the increased number of participants in determining average.

For a more true picture, the figures for 1967 participants in the 1968 program showed an increase in average farm capital from $54,101 to $58,812, increase in productive livestock average inventory from $9,466 to $9,664; and increase in crop average inventory from $5,929 to $7,002.

Livestock earnings on the average were down from $14,445 to $13,166 while crop earnings were down only slightly from $10,337 to $10,106 in 1968. Household expenses increased from $4,759 to $5,672. Ratio of total farm expense to total farm receipts was .82—meaning that the average farmer spent 82 cents for expense for each dollar received in farm income. This compared to .84 in 1967. Ratio of assets to liabilities was 2.4 in 1968—meaning farmers owned $2.4 in assets for each dollar in liabilities. This was an increase from 2.2 in 1967.

Livestock Summary

Averages showed that farmers who raised their own pigs to market weight realized a return over feed and supplemental cost of $7.88 per hundredweight in 1968, compared to $4.72 in 1967. Farmers finishing hogs they purchased had an average decrease from $5.32 per hundredweight in 1967 to $4.60 in 1968. Farmers raising feeder pigs for sale had a decline from $62.21 to $47.81 per litter from 1967 to 1968.

Dairymen increased their return over feed and supplemental cost from $203 per cow in 1967 to $241 per cow in 1968. Farmers with beef herds increased their return per cow from $25 in 1967 to $48 in 1968, while feeders increased their return over feed and supplemental cost per hundredweight from $4.52 in 1967 to $8.05 last year.

Most dramatic increase in the livestock program was in return over feed and supplemental cost per ewe from $3.81 in 1967 to $10.53 in 1968.

Livestock efficiencies increased in every department from 1967 to 1968. Pounds of butterfat per dairy cow went up from 359 to 375 pounds; pigs weaned per litter increased from 7.6 to 7.9; percentage of beef calf crop rose from 89 to 93; and percentage of sheep lamb crop increased from 110 to 120.

Crop Summary

Yields of the various crops showed fairly close to the 1967 average in 1968, although this could be deceiving in some cases. Unusually large crops in some areas offset severe losses in other areas. Comparative yields for 1967 and 1968 respectively include: Oats, 52 and 55 bushels; wheat, 32 and 30 bushels; barley, 47 and 45 bushels; alfalfa hay, 1.9 and 2.2 tons; sunflowers, 960 and 1,000 pounds; flax, 12 and eight bushels; rye, 28 and eight bushels; soybeans, 12 and 14 bushels; potatoes, 87 and 123 hundredweight; and sugar beets, 13 and 12.4 tons.

The 1968 annual report contained a tribute to Stanley Nelson, first vocational agriculture coordinator and later director of the Thief River Falls area vocational-technical school, who died this winter in Malaysia. Nelson initiated the farm management program here in 1955.

MSBA Reports 198 Schools in Salary Agreement

Office of the Minnesota School Boards association has released figures showing that in 198 public school districts school boards and teachers had settled the question of teaching salaries for the school year 1969-70.

W. A. Wettergren, executive secretary, stated that in the number of districts where a settlement had been reached, 97 school boards had received a request for the establishment of an adjustment panel. How many adjustment panels were actually activated in these districts before agreement was reached the office of the association could not say. The agreements, however, reduced the number of adjustment panels in Minnesota from 280 to 183.

The settlements indicate that 56 per cent of the school districts which had settled increased the length of the school year from one to eight days. The settlements also indicate that 55 per cent of the school districts settled provide for some type of hospital and medical insurance. The majority of the insurance programs are for single insurance rather than full family insurance.

Wettergren indicated that he was pleased with the large number of settlements received by his office during the past two weeks. He stated, "Once again it has been proven that if outside pressures and emotional accusations were not brought to bear, and school boards and teachers were allowed to meet and confer on a local school district level, there would not be the number of problems, most of them blown out of proportion, in public education."

Wettergren further stated that in a number of districts where agreement had not been reached, teachers had placed the new contract offered by the school board in the hands of one person. This has caused many of these same teachers to be under contract for the next school year on the same salary being paid this year. It has also caused many of these teachers who have received substantial increases under the new contract to come to their school board or superintendent and request a substitute contract in lieu of the contract they placed in the hands of one person, and which person would not return the contract upon request of the individual teacher.

The office of the association has recommended that a substitute contract be given, enabling that teacher to take advantage of the increase in salary offered by the school board.

Require Permits For Almost All Rural Burning

Division of lands and forestry office at Warroad announces that burning permits are required for almost all burning. Consistent with division efforts to cooperate with land owners, burning permits will be issued for all day burning for a short period of time or until such time as fires will burn in forest or wooded areas.

Forestry officials believe this liberal regulation will enable land owners to accomplish much of the burning as early as possible, and when burning conditions are relatively safe.

Such land owners are urged to call or see the township fire warden or local forester for a burning permit before any burning is done. They will gladly talk over burning problems and point out any precautions which should be observed.

These regulations apply to Roseau, Kittson, Marshall, Pennington and that part of Beltrami county lying within the Warroad forestry area.

Township fire wardens are: Olaf Olson, Sec. 7-152-39; George Carlson, Sec. 20-155-36; Reuben Tangesdal, Sec. 12-157-38; Saave Johnson, Sec. 5-155-37; Basil Stavenes, Sec. 31-156-37; Oscar Hagen, Sec. 24-157-39; Vernon Neuschwander, Sec. 16-156-39; Andrew Hendrickson, Sec. 15-156-36 and Carl Holthusen, Sec. 23-155-36.

Also Walfred Johnson, Sec. 22-150-36, Clinton Knutson, Sec. 8-156-37; Harold Nabben, Sec. 10-154-42, Harold Klamar, Sec. 33-157-40; Albert Cleven, Sec. 8-155-38; Paul Mutnansky, Sec. 19-155-39; James Coan, Sec. 36-154-39; Oliver Howland, Sec. 9-155-37.

Announcing the first car of the '70s at 1960 prices.

FORD MAVERICK $1995*

(You don't have to read it all-but it's nice to know it's all there.)

Most new cars look like other cars. But when the word gets out that something really different is on the way, rumors run wild. Few cars have caused as much talk as Maverick. Ford's new entry in the small car field rivals the economy imports in price . . . but tops them in power, performance, passenger room and luggage capacity. We've been bombarded with questions about Maverick. Now, for the first time, here are the answers.

Q. Why did you build the Maverick?
A. We think of Maverick as another one of Ford Motor Company's answers to the gold drain. Now Americans who want small car economy don't have to send their U.S. dollars overseas.

Q. Why did you call it Maverick?
A. You know what a maverick is. A maverick breaks the rules. A maverick is different. Maverick plugs the big gap between the compacts and the imports. It has a wheelbase eight inches shorter than a '69 Falcon, eight and one-half inches longer than a VW 1500. Nothing else like it.

Q. Why did you make it this size?
A. Maverick pinches pennies, not people. We gave Maverick more leg room. More shoulder room. More luggage room. Good example: the front seat of a Maverick offers you nine inches more shoulder room than the front seat of the leading economy import and its trunk can handle all the luggage for a family of four, including a set of golf clubs.

Q. What do I get for the price?
A. You get your money's worth. A complete, built-for-Americans kind of car. Room. Hot styling. Color-keyed interiors. Even the heater is included. Some economy car interiors are about as luxurious as a park bench. Not Maverick's. You get plush seats. Cloth and vinyl upholstery with unique tartan plaid cloth inserts. You also get safety features like smart pull-out door handles. Strong safety door locks. Two-speed electric wipers. Safety belts. Head restraints. Plus conveniences like armrests, coat hooks, lighted heater controls . . . important little things that add so much to your driving comfort.

Q. What about options?
A. You can get 'em if you want 'em. You can order integral air conditioning. (It's built in, not hung on.) Other options include 3-speed automatic or low-cost semiautomatic transmission, and a hefty 200 CID Six. But lots of people won't put an extra cent into this car. Because it's all there. A complete car all ready to drive home.

Q. What kind of gas mileage can I get?
A. That depends on you as well as the car. You can get as much as 25 or 26 miles per gallon—if you have an educated toe and the right road conditions. If you have a lead foot, or do a lot of city driving, you will get a lot less. In tests by professional drivers at our tracks, where we do our best to duplicate actual driving conditions, Maverick averaged 22.5 mpg.

Q. What kind of power does Maverick have?
A. Maverick's Six lets loose 105 galloping horses. That's 52 more than you get in the 4-cylinder VW 1500. Maverick can cover 417 feet in ten seconds from a standing start. That means you can get up to highway speed in a hurry. When you enter a 70 mph turnpike, you won't feel like a retired bookkeeper thrust into the middle of a pro football game.

Q. If it has an eight inch longer wheelbase than the leading import, does it still handle and park easily?
A. Maverick can U-turn in a tighter circle (35.6 feet) than the leading economy import (36.0 feet). Maverick can slant through traffic like a halfback. It can turn on a dime and give you nine cents change. If you've been driving any other American car, you'll find Maverick's neat size adds up to 5½ feet to any parking space.

Q. Can Detroit really build a small economy car that's tough and long lasting?
A. It's not easy, but we did it. Maverick's unitized body construction makes it tight, strong and durable. It's welded like a battleship. Rustproofing compound goes into deep crevices that never see the light of day. Then all that strength is covered with four coats of paint for lasting beauty. Result: one tough little car that's put together to stay together. (The service schedule in the Maverick owner's manual goes up to 108,000 miles or nine years, that ought to tell you something about its rugged durability.)

Q. How about parts and service?
A. Maverick is designed to be unusually easy to service. You're dealing with made-in-America parts and 6,000 easy-to-find Ford Dealers. Fast repairs and easy replacements mean extra savings in both time and money.

Q. Is Maverick really easier and less expensive to maintain than an economy import?
A. Definitely. Maverick oil changes come only every 6,000 miles and chassis lubrication once every 36,000 miles. The leading economy import recommends oil changes every 3,000 miles (twice as often as Maverick) and chassis lubrication every 6,000 miles (six times as often as Maverick). These are just a few examples of the many ways Maverick lessens inconvenience and lowers operating cost.

Q. Can I do my own maintenance work?
A. Yes, if you have an average amount of mechanical ability. The Maverick owner's manual contains 24 pages of detailed diagrams and easy-to-follow instructions for routine maintenance jobs you can do yourself, if you wish. You'll find it easy to change spark plugs, replace ignition points . . . plus many other do-it-yourself repairs and replacements.

Q. Can a small car be safe? And how safe is safe?
A. This small car incorporates the latest advances in engineering. Maverick's brakes are as big as a standard compact's—designed to stop cars weighing hundreds of pounds more. Maverick gives you weight . . . power . . . stability. Designed for American driving conditions.

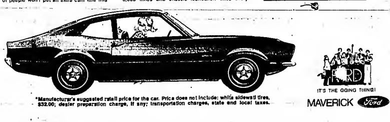
Q. How does Maverick ride?
A. Here's where Maverick's longer, wider stance really pays off. You get a smoother, quieter ride. Maverick's light, strong, unitized body helps eliminate squeaks and rattles. Special insulation blocks out road noise. The people who brought you a Ford that was quieter than a Rolls-Royce now bring you a small car that doesn't sound like a power mower.

Q. Is there an advantage in the fact that Maverick is really a 1970 car?
A. Slower depreciation is one money-in-the-pocket advantage. Maverick's 1970 model designation means it keeps its trade-in value higher, longer. (Maverick is built to be a good investment from the minute you buy it to the minute you sell it.)

Better come take a look at this one. You'll find it where the action is . . . right in there with other great Ford values like specially equipped Ford Galaxie 500's . . . Fairlanes . . . Mustangs and Falcons.

You'll find them at your Ford Dealer's . . . the place you've got to go to see what's going on.

For an authentic 1/25 scale model of the new Ford Maverick, send $1.00 to Maverick, P.O. Box 5397, Department N-50 Detroit, Michigan 48211. (Offer ends July 31, 1969.)



*Manufacturer's suggested retail price for the car. Price does not include: white sidewall tires, $32.00; dealer preparation charge, if any; transportation charges, state and local taxes.

Roseau Officers Put Clamps on Liquor Violations

A crackdown on juvenile drinking and on those furnishing intoxicants for juveniles, has resulted in at least 21 arrests, Sheriff Paul Knochenmus of Roseau county revealed recently. He indicated that the whole force has been cooperating in the effort which is to continue unabated. Efforts have also been concentrated on liquor coming in illegally from Canada,' he said.

On March 28 the sheriff's force made a total of 12 arrests of minors for being in possession and or consuming; and two arrests for furnishing to minors. Apprehended on the furnishing charge were Charles Halvorson, Roseau, and Wesley Paulson, Greenbush, the Sheriff said.

Saturday of last week there were nine arrests of juveniles, all for either possession and or consuming. Most of the arrests were at or around the village of Roseau, he said.

The sheriff's office also helped port of entry personnel check for liquor and apprehended seven minors bringing in intoxicants at one time. One adult, who said he did not have liquor in his vehicle, was checked and found to have liquor. He had to pay duty and "would have been saved a lot of trouble had he reported it."

Sheriff Paul Knochenmus said the crackdown on liquor is to continue with special emphasis on the use of intoxicants by juveniles and on those furnishing it to juveniles.

350 Attend Athletic Banquet Here Monday

Some 350 persons were on hand Monday evening as Thief River Falls Lincoln high school and Northland state junior college athletic banquet was held at St. Bernard's church basement. The 19th annual banquet was sponsored by the Lions, Rotary, Jaycees and Athletic Boosters clubs.

Main speaker of the evening was Jim Klobuchar, noted columnist for the Minneapolis Star. His wit and humor provided those attending with many laughs and his message was well directed to the athletes in attendance at the banquet.

Klobuchar emphasized the meaning of team play rather than that of an individual, but noted it is the desire of single players and team leadership that provides athletic victories.

Klobuchar also related his experiences of writing on the Minnesota Vikings and the Minnesota Twins. He told of some dealings with Norm Van Brocklin, former Viking head coach, and some with other members of the Minnesota sports world.

Master of ceremonies for the event was Bob Carlson, president of the Thief River Falls city council. Rev. Keough Patnode gave the invocation, while Morris Goddard, president of the Rotary club, gave the welcoming speech.

Ralph Skay, Lincoln athletic director, introduced the coaching staffs at the local schools, and each head coach in turn introduced his letter winners.

Introducing Lincoln high school team members were Jim Sims, head football and track coach; Whitey Olson, head basketball and tennis coach; Ralph Skay, head baseball coach (Skay also introduced the members of the golf team as head coach Jack Boyer was unable to attend the banquet); Ed Krystosek, head wrestling coach; George Schlieff, head hockey coach; and Wilt Bradach, head cross country coach.

Making the introduction of Prowler cheerleaders for the past season was Mrs. Ruth Onkka.

Al Adams, athletic director at Northland state junior college, introduced wrestling and track coach John Steidl, who in turn introduced members of the two squad that were present. Adams, who also acts as basketball, golf and tennis coach, introduced members of those respective teams.

After the program, Bob Carlson presented Klobuchar with a trophy for the public relations that the Star and Tribune have given to the city of Thief River Falls, beginning with the Parade of Progress held last September and to the controversy of a Beatties album which was reported by the Star to have been on sale in Thief River Falls last winter.

Agassiz Refuge Deer Herd Shows Slight Increase

Annual big game census on Agassiz National Wildlife refuge and adjacent state wildlife management areas was taken on March 10, and the aerial survey, covering 50 per cent of the areas, resulted in a total population of 776 deer recorded. This figure represents a 4.4 per cent increase over last year's total.

Observers feel that, due to poor visibility during part of the census, another 50 to 100 deer could probably be added to the census figure, according to Jay Bellinger of the refuge staff.

A total of 170 moose was also recorded during the survey. This represented a decrease of 13.3 per cent from the total recorded in 1968. However, when compared to the five year average, the total represents an insignificant drop of 1.7 per cent.

Most animals sighted during the survey appeared to be in good physical condition. However, in a population of this size, some winter mortality is to be expected, Bellinger said. To date, 16 dead deer have been located and half of these deaths were attributed to starvation. None of the animals checked had been killed by predators.

Dozed trails and blocks of habitat on the refuge and state areas received heavy deer use and undoubtedly contributed to the welfare of the herd.

The refuge deer harvest last fall was also a reflection of the size and health of the area deer herd. A total of 611 hunters harvested 275 deer on the refuge. The resulting overall hunter success of 33.9 per cent ranged from a high of 47.7 per cent on opening day to 22.6 per cent on the last day.

"The apparent fine refuge deer season was marred by an unsportsman - like incident," Bellinger said. "This winter an adult bull moose was found that had been shot by a deer hunter and left to rot. Conduct such as this, although carried out by only a small minority of hunters, tends to cast a shadow over the image of all sportsmen in the eyes of the non-hunting public."

Nurserymen Back Windbreaks As Aid to Wildlife

Alarming reduction in natural wildlife habitat throughout the state in recent years has prompted efforts on the part of the Minnesota Nurserymen's association and many concerned citizens to take action to reverse the trend, before a major portion of valuable resources are lost.

One of the most successful measures to date, the nurserymen report, has been the establishment of government-assistance programs whereby land owners receive partial compensation for the cost of new shelterbelt and windbreak plantings. The programs are mutually beneficial. Not only do the plantings provide valuable erosion protection and enhance the landscape, they also offer a life-sustaining "last stand" for beleagered pheasants and other wildlife species.

Conservation sources estimate that more than 50 per cent of Minnesota's pheasants seek wintertime protection in shelterbelts. For this and related reasons the conservation department has praised the planting program as an important step in the right direction—especially in view of the recent severe winter.

Government - assistance programs, such as the H2 practice administered by the agricultural stabilization and conservation service (ASCS), have resulted in a greatly accelerated pace in the establishment, improvement and renovation of new or existing shelterbelts in Minnesota, but more is needed if wildlife is to receive adequate protection.

Cost-sharing funds may be available to individual farmers and other land owners, depending on various factors. The program allows those who receive assistance to purchase trees from the nursery of their choice. ASCS specifications regulate such areas as erosion, economic benefit, beauty, distances between trees and rows and other factors.

Requests for cost-sharing funds may be made at county ASCS offices throughout the state. Application should be made prior to making site preparation and-or planting the trees.

Prowler Nine Faces Veteran Spud Squad

by Bob Wielinski
Times Sports Writer

Thief River Falls Prowlers baseball team will open the 1969 season on Saturday as they travel to Moorhead to take on the defending Region Six champions—that is if there is a dry field on which the two squads can play.

As of press time today (Wednesday) the game is still scheduled for 11 a.m. on Saturday, but Prowler coach Ralph Skay stated that he has been in contact with Moorhead officials and that the contest will be played only if weather and flood conditions permit.

In the only meeting between the two clubs last spring, the Prowlers came out on top with a 2-1 victory over the Spuds. This year that feat could be hard to accomplish as the Spuds are a veteran club, with only one player lost from last year's state tournament squad, while the Prowlers are facing one of their biggest rebuilding seasons in the history of the school. They only have three veterans from last year's team that was hit hard by graduation.

Probable Starters

Skay indicated at the beginning of the week that this was the first time that the Prowlers have opened so early after starting workouts, and that they are still confined to the National Guard armory where they started practice on March 31.

As for a starting line-up, Skay indicated on Monday night that he would have to start nine boys to see just what they can do, but this line up was subject to change at any time.

Expected to do the pitching for the Prowlers against the veteran Spud team will be Dana Stromberg. Stromberg will work the first three innings on Saturday, and is the only pitcher that Skay has that saw any mound action last season. Stromberg is a senior and after pitching will more than likely move to either third base or shortstop.

Doing the pitching in the following two innings will be junior left-hander Danny Sullivan. Sullivan is a letterman but saw very little action last year on the hill for the Prowlers. Pitching the final two innings will be Tony Johnson, who will be making his first appearance on the mound for the Prowlers. Johnson is the only other veteran back besides Stromberg that played regularly last year. Johnson will start on Saturday at shortstop and after Sullivan will come in and do the hurling. Johnson is a fastball pitcher, who has yet to come up with another pitch.

Doing the catching on Saturday will be junior Don Balmar, the third veteran, who played about one third of the time last year. Tim Duke is expected to be at first base, while brother Tom will start at second base. Tom sat out last year because of a knee operation but will give the Prowlers some extra strength at the plate this year. Johnson will start at shortstop, while Gordy Peterson will be at the hot corner for the Prowlers. Tim Duke and Peterson are juniors, while Tom Duke is a senior on the Prowler squad.

In the outfield Bruce Broughton and Dennis Johnson, both juniors and out for the Prowlers baseball team this year after lettering in track last year, will hold down the left and center field positions for the Prowlers. Another junior, Steve Daley, is expected to start in right field.

Missing this year from the Prowler line up because of graduation will be pitcher-first basemen Tom Tunberg and Dennis Ptacek, shortstop Nick Drees; outfielders Mark Lund, Rocky Wilson and Mark Haugen, and infielder-pitcher Bruce Prichard.

Moorhead, co-favorite along with Little Falls this year in Region 6, has a veteran team, with only one player being gone from last year's team.

Moorhead Starters

Returning and expected to get the starting pitching call from Spud coach Bill Quenette, will be Greg Troland, who supported an 8-3 record last year. Backing him up is Paul Heerwald. Either one of them will start with the other playing first base. At second will be Harley Haug, shortstop will be Joe Savre, while at third base will be either Dennis Kovash or Loren Lee, with the non-starter here starting in right field. Left field is manned by all-stater Keven Reitz, while center field will be held down by Dick Peterson. Doing the catching will be Lee Holschuh.

After the Moorhead game the Prowlers will be at home on Wednesday and Friday, against Goodridge and Red Lake Falls. Both games are slated for 5 p.m., weather permitting and field conditions being favorable for the Prowlers.

GAME OF THE WEEK

Will Be Missed

Two assistant coaches will be missing from the Lincoln high school teams next year, while another avid sports follower of the Prowlers will also be missing from the sidelines at all the Prowler sporting events.

The two coaches who will be gone are Lee Swanson and John Kopari. Both were assistants in football and basketball, while Kopari was also the assistant in baseball.

The third member that will be missing from sporting events at Lincoln will be principal Richard Edlund.

It will seem a little different next year in watching the coaching staff of the Prowlers without Swanson and Kopari, while Edlund will be missed even more so by the fans and students at Lincoln.

Swanson will be taking a leave of absence from Lincoln next year to further his education at the University of North Dakota. Lee was the Prowlers 'B' squad basketball coach and led the younger Prowlers through a fine season this past year as they posted an 11-4 record, while Kopari was coach of the double 'B' team which only lost one game during the season.

Coach Whitey Olson and Jim Sims will miss both of these men come next year when the seasons begin for the Prowlers.

Kopari will be leaving in June for the United States army, as Uncle Sam will take John's smiling face from the halls and field of Lincoln for two years.

One person who will be missed by everyone will be Mr. Edlund, who patrols the sidelines at the football games, roams the stands at basketball, wrestling and hockey games, keeping the younger kids in the elementary grades from running around and spoiling the view of the different games for the rest of the fans.

It won't seem like a Prowler athletic contest without these three, but I know from my relationships with the three that everyone in Thief River Falls who knows these fine men wish them the best of luck in the future and that they always remember the fine young people they were related with in Lincoln high school.

Real Fine Program

It was with a great deal of pleasure I attended the Thief River Falls and Northland state junior college athletic banquet on Monday night, to see the number of persons that came out and paid tribute to a fine bunch of athletes.

Jim Klobuchar, Minneapolis Star columnist, did a real fine job as guest speaker, while the four clubs that sponsored the event should be well pleased with the turn-out that was there for the event.

Probably the highlight of the evening came when Whitey Olson, head coach of the Prowler basketball team, put himself in a hole by stating that Lee Swanson and John Kopari, two top assistant coaches, wouldn't be back and all the people at the banquet began to clap. Olson then indicated that the two would be missed by the entire coaching staff at Lincoln and that the two deserved a hand because of the job they did and not because they were leaving.

Receiving applause from the banquet goers were all members of the different sport teams at Lincoln, but receiving a round of applause after being introduced was Sheldon Joppru. Coach Jim Sims first introduced Shelly as a member of the football team, after stating that he was elected as a member of the Northwest conference football squad, all-stater named by WCCO and Minneapolis Tribune, most valuable player in the conference and most valuable player voted by his teammates.

It wasn't but a few minutes later that Shelly was praised again, this time by Olson, who stated that Shelly was an all-stater by WCCO, all-conference selection, most valuable by his teammates, and after setting seven of eight Big Five conference records was passed up as all-conference most valuable, but Olsen stated he should have been given this honor also but the cards were stacked against him in all Prowler fans' minds.

Anyway, I would like to take this opportunity to state, "It's not whether you win or lose but how you play the game" and to each member of the Prowler teams the best of luck to you in the future.

LHS Track Team At Dragon Indoor This Afternoon

Thief River Falls track squad traveled to Moorhead this afternoon to take part in the Dragon Indoor meet which was scheduled to get under way at 4:30 p.m. with the field events; running events were to begin at 5 p.m.

It was expected that some 60 high schools would take part in the event at Alex Nemzek fieldhouse on the Moorhead state college campus.

On Saturday, the squad will travel to the University of North Dakota for the Sioux Indoor meet at the fieldhouse.

Coach Jim Sims indicated that there will be some changes for the Prowler squad in the different events on Saturday, but it was too early to tell just who will be running in the meet at Grand Forks.

He did indicate that the changes will be made because of conflicts which some of the cindermen have on Saturday, like the District 31 music festival and other activities scheduled at the school.

The Prowlers will then be in action at Crookston on Wednesday, as they will take part in the Crookston indoor meet at the Winter shows building. This will be for both junior and senior high school trackmen. The meet will begin at 9:30 p.m. and will include East Grand Forks, Roseau, Crookston and the Prowlers. It should prove to be an interesting track meet as all four of the teams are members of the Northwest conference.

Curling Club to Hold Election

Annual meeting of the Thief River Falls curling club will be held Saturday night at the American Legion club rooms. A supper will be served at 6:30 p.m. with a meeting to follow at 7:30 p.m. Main business of the meeting will be election of three directors and discussion on artificial ice for the curling plant.

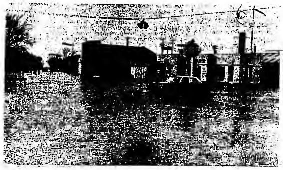
SWIRLING WATERS washed out a culvert and caused collapse of this section of highway 32 north of Red Lake Falls. Sections of the concrete paving collapsed after soil was washed out beneath them. Traffic was able to move by using the west lane and shoulder of the highway as the highway department placed barricades to warn and divert traffic around the sunken section of highway.



INTERSECTION of highways 1 and 75 in Warren was covered with water on Thursday as flood waters moving in from east crossed the Great Northern railroad tracks and poured into the west portion of the city. Most of the traffic in the city was by truck or tractor, although a few people traveling through the town drove their cars through the flooded areas. The flood was believed by many to be the most extensive in the city's history.

Advises Reading Labels Before Buying Next Ham

If you plan to select ham for a family or special dinner, read the label so you know exactly what you're getting, advises Verna Mikesh, extension nutritionist at the University of Minnesota.

Hams are usually labeled "smoked" or "fully cooked." If there is no label, you can assume that the ham is smoked but not cooked. If you buy a ham labeled "smoked," always cook it before eating unless the label also states that it has been fully cooked.

Hams labeled "fully cooked" have been heated to 150 degrees—temperature high enough to kill any possible trichina organisms in the ham. Further cooking is not necessary, but many people feel that the flavor improves if the ham is baked and served hot. Smoked and fully cooked hams may also be labeled "moisture added." This means the ham may contain up to 10 per cent added moisture. If you prefer a juicy ham, you may want to select the kind with moisture added.

Fully cooked, boneless hams, trimmed of excess fat, are especially convenient and easy to slice. A pound of the boneless, fully cooked ham should serve three persons generously since there should be no more shrinkage in roasting, Miss Mikesh says.

Whatever style of ham you choose, remember that your best guide in selection is to read the label.—

UM Ag Students Include 47% From Farm Areas

Only 47 per cent of the 1968 freshmen students majoring in some area of agriculture at the University of Minnesota came from farm backgrounds, according to Richard Barnes, academic adviser in the university's college of agriculture, forestry and home economics.

Only five per cent of the new freshmen majoring in forestry and 22 per cent of the freshmen in home economics came from farm families. The remaining freshmen in all three areas came from families where the parents were engaged in non-farm occupations.

This data reflects the increasing challenge and better occupational opportunities in areas of agriculture, forestry and home economics, Barnes said. As a result of technological and academic developments, these areas are appealing more and more to individuals from non-agricultural backgrounds.

The 1968 freshmen students in the college of agriculture, forestry and home economics came from 70 Minnesota counties, as well as other states.

Thirty-seven per cent of the new freshmen majoring in agriculture, 74 per cent of the freshmen in forestry and 60 per cent of the new freshmen majoring in home economics came from the seven-county Twin Cities metropolitan area. Over 30 per cent of these students in forestry and home economics, and almost 27 per cent of the new freshmen majoring in agriculture came from Hennepin and Ramsey counties.

Sparking Nickel

More than 600 million automotive spark plugs are manufactured in the U. S. each year. For dependable service, 97 per cent nickel resistance wire is used in each plug.

Leadership Being Developed in 4H Clubs of Nation

"That intangible quality called leadership is being methodically developed today in more than 140,000 teenage members of 4-H throughout the nation," observed Miss Emmie Nelson, program coordinator for the national 4-H service committee.

"These young people will be well-prepared to assume the adult leadership role in their local communities, and in the state and nation as well," she said.

The elite group has been participating in the national 4-H leadership program for several years, and many have attended special leader training workshops set up by the cooperative extension service. Miss Nelson has conducted several of these sessions.

Youngsters coached in leadership serve as officers in 4-H clubs and councils, organize new clubs and teach techniques at workshops. They counsel at camps, speak on radio and television, present other talks and use their abilities in school and community service.

Incentive awards are offered at the county, state and national levels. Twelve scholarships of $600 each will be presented to national winners. This is an increase of $100 per scholarship over last year, according to Miss Nelson.

Each state names a winner and delegate to national 4-H congress in Chicago. Up to four members per county are awarded county medals of honor.

"Parents are necessary to the success of the program," Miss Nelson said, "because younger 4-H members depend on them for encouragement, assistance and judgement in the development of leadership skills.

"Adults are always needed to volunteer as 4-H club leaders, because they are the backbone of the entire 4-H program," she added. "Training sessions are conducted for adult volunteer leaders."

Anyone wishing to work with 4-H youngsters ranging in age from nine to 19 years can contact the county extension 4-H office in the Pennington county courthouse or call 681-2118.

Governor Asks Declaration of Disaster Areas

Gov. Harold LeVander Thursday asked President Nixon to designate 59 Minnesota counties as a major disaster area because of flooding. Included in this area were Marshall, Polk, Roseau, Kittson and Lake of the Woods counties.

The governor earlier signed an executive order declaring a state of emergency in Minnesota and directing all state agencies to assist in combatting the floods.

The request for a major disaster designation would make Minnesota units of government eligible to receive reimbursement by federal funds of damages incurred by public facilities and property.

LeVander said the request is being made because of the gravity of the natural disaster in Minnesota and because local governments have already expended some $8 million more than anticipated for snow removal this year. Most local governments, the governor said, will be unable to bear additional costs.

Revising Assessment

Problem of extracting money from the public as equitably as possible to finance government spending is the topic of the following editorial in the Lake City Graphic:

Several decades of inflation, unavoidable high costs of building a home, scarcity of desirable building lots in urban areas, with desirable ones selling at a premium, and other factors have created situations where there are great disparities in real estate tax values.

When the sales tax bill went into effect, a 35 per cent reduction up to $250 maximum was given a homestead on all except the millage needed to finance bonded indebtedness.

This resulted in many older homes having real estate tax bills of not much over $100 and others (with good market values) paying from $200 to $250.

In contrast an economy newer home generally has a higher tax bill than the well built roomy older style home. Yet as communities grow, and employment opportunities bring more families to a town, families simply have little choice except to build in order to find housing. Should they pay a bigger share of the tax bill than families who happen to be fortunate enough to have long owned and lived in a comfortable older home?

Tax specialists conducting seminars frequently say that improved property bears too large a share of the total real estate tax bill.

Property taxes finance about half the costs of local public schools, more than half the city services and a big share of county government costs.

Families living in dilapidated houses, who spend little for neighborhood betterment, are entitled to the same local services as the ones living in homes which are in the high tax bracket. They can send all their children to the "free" public school, have the same police and fire protection, have their streets lighted and plowed, have use of parks, youth recreation programs, and perhaps have as many friends or relatives on county welfare (a big part of the county tax bill) as those paying a much bigger real estate tax bill.

For years tax officials have recommended an overhaul of tax laws and methods of assessing with pressure for more uniformity. Many bills are in the legislature at present advocating changes.

How are valuations computed? The old guide lines presently have little relevancy. Assessors used to look for hardwood floors, fireplaces, and the like, and square footage of homes was considered important. But these things are no longer reliable measuring sticks for taxes.

A minimum tax of say $200 for every home would help to equalize the tax burden. We would also recommend a minimum and a higher value on lots. On the assessor's books some homes now have a market value of not much more than many people pay on a lot.

Since every home owner benefits from the public services which are financed by taxes, there should be equalization of support for such services. This is not to say that the person living in a small old house should pay as much as the one living in a beautiful big new home. But at present there are inequities which need resolving. If state law can do this, we hope appropriate legislation will be passed.

More and More Puzzled

The following editorial appeared in the Waseca Herald:

We have been approached by at least two married women seeking our editorial support for more liberal abortion laws. We have been neither approached nor contacted by anyone seeking more nudity.

Abortion is the more difficult of the two questions. When does it constitute murder? And when it does we must think about many States which approve capital punishment, which is nothing more than murder. Even the Federal government takes a person's life under certain circumstances.

We are amazed by the fact that nudity gets its support largely on the college campuses. There the support is violent. At least the chancellor of St. John's University in Collegeville and the nude performance Thursday evening had been "regretfully allowed to prevent the possibility of physical violence."

Add to this the article in Tuesday's Minnesota Daily describing the act of David Schaet, a Speech 5 class student:

"Standing in the nude, he began to condemn American society for considering sex as something dirty. In a voice shaking with emotion, he said that the body is something beautiful, having been made by God, and that man should not be ashamed of it."

"Several times his voice faltered and at one point he was having a hard time expressing his feelings.

"Several of the girls in the class appeared shocked, but Schaet emphasized that he was not perverted and that the body should not be considered perverted."

How do we stand on the great changes that are sweeping the nation? We can only say that we become more and more puzzled each day.

A Fitting Memorial

Monuments and memorials of many different types are proposed for national figures following their deaths. One of the most fitting which we have heard lately is the suggestion that the interstate highway system be named in honor of President Dwight D. Eisenhower.

When he came into office, one of President Eisenhower's early efforts was directed at the Nation's highway system, which he considered obsolete, inadequate and uncoordinated. Highways varied in dozens of different ways—in quality and type and construction—from state border to State border and from county line to county line.

If the nation was to have a highway system of which it could be proud, Ike recognized that interstate roads had to be a Federal rather than State responsibility. This was the key that unlocked the problem of overlapping jurisdictions.

At the same time, Ike faced up to the funding problems of such a system—and set it up on a pay-as-you-go basis with the cost borne by highway users themselves rather than from general tax revenues.

The United States is a nation on wheels. Of its 200 million citizens, over 100 million operate some 75 million cars. Another 15 million buses and trucks travel 880 billion miles a year. There is a vehicle for every 2.2 citizens. Four out of every five persons old enough to drive have a license to do so.

The interstate system, giant in concept, practical in approach, was based on Ike's vision of a network of safe, high-speed super roads connecting communities and states across America. This vision is near reality. The system has already opened new vistas of highway travel to millions and helped realize the potential of the automobile unlike any other nation in the world.

At present, there is legislation pending before Congress to name this vast 42,500-mile arterial system after the late President who inaugurated it and who was revered and loved by people in all sections of the nation. There could be no more fitting memorial to General Eisenhower than this criss-cross ribbon of concrete that now binds together all the states of the union.

Borrowed Nonsense...

Two young interns were discussing theories about prenatal influence. "Obviously, there's no such thing," scoffed one. "It's been disproved time and time again. For example, before I was born mother broke a huge batch of phonograph records, but it's never bothered me. . .never bothered me. . .never bothered me. . ."

When a reporter on a mid-western daily was sent out to round up the opinion of the man on the street concerning the modern woman, the first person he queried on the subject was a man who had just passed his 101st birthday. Legis Lative Letter

STATE REPRESENTATIVE

During the past few weeks a substantial number of bills have been introduced that would increase the mill levies for individual counties. There has also been some thought given to a state-wide bill to eliminate all levy limitations. However, there is little chance that a state-wide bill will be passed at this time.

I feel that it is most appropriate to re-emphasize now that THE STATE OF MINNESOTA DOES NOT LEVY REAL OR PERSONAL PROPERTY TAXES OF ANY KIND. With the passage of the tax reform and relief measure in 1967, the state "went out of the property tax business" completely.

In fact, when one studies the calculations of the payout from the property tax relief fund to local units of government, it certainly must be concluded that the state has become the single largest property TAXPAYER to local units of government.

The basic problem concerned in the rapid rise of local property taxes is, I believe, twofold. First of all, local governments face the same inflationary pressures that are so evident in all sectors of our economy. Costs of operating local units of government have increased substantially during the past five or six years.

A most significant bill which could help "put a lid" on local tax levies has been introduced for consideration in both the Minnesota Senate and House of Representatives.

Basically, the proposal would give local governing boards the option of letting the voters of a given taxing district decide whether or not taxes can be increased more than four per cent of the preceding year, or more than the percentage increase as determined by the consumers price index as published by the U.S. department of labor if this index figure is greater than four per cent.

In the case of school districts, the "tax base" would continue to be estimated on the average daily attendance by resident pupils in kindergarten and grades through high school. Other governmental subdivisions would base their tax factor on per capita population figures as compiled through the most recent federal census, or other interim census determined by law.

The local mill levies to cover payments on principal and interest payments on bonded indebtedness would not be included as part of the "base" tax levy as outlined in this bill.

The administrative steps under terms of the proposal would require the local governing body to call a public hearing through established methods of notifying the public following the adoption of a resolution which set forth the amount of tax increase being requested by the board or council.

All interested citizens would have the opportunity of being recognized at this hearing to voice their feelings concerning any proposed tax increase. Official testimony could be taken at such a session.

Following the expression of feelings at this hearing, the board or council would have the option of offering their recommendation for a tax increase to the voters at a primary, general or special election. The voters would then have the opportunity of approving or rejecting the proposed tax increase by a majority vote.

Should the governing body refuse to call an election on the proposed increase in taxes, the voters of the district, by petition, could "force" an election on the question. This petition would require the signatures of either five per cent of the voters voting at the last general election, or 10,000 signatures, which ever is the least.

I would like to re-emphasize that this election procedure would be used ONLY if proposed taxes would be proposed to be increased by more than four per cent or by a "cost of living" percentage as outlined previously.

BUYER BEWARE BE WISE

DOUGLAS M. HEAD
Attorney General
State of Minnesota

Many Minnesotans turn to "work-at-home" programs to earn extra income.

There are many companies offering worthwhile opportunities for earning extra money at home. But there are others that use the work-at-home pitch to sell grossly over-priced materials.

Unscrupulous companies using the device will bilk American consumers out of an estimated $600 million this year. And, unfortunately, most of the money will come from the pocketbooks of those who are least able to afford the financial loss, such as widows, retired people, and housewives trying to supplement the family income.

"Work-at-home" schemes cover a broad range of products and services, from bootie knitting to home research. But the non-legitimate ones are alike in one respect: the potential home worker must buy something from the company.

The unscrupulous companies make their profit from the sale of materials and equipment. They lure individuals by promising a market at a fixed price for finished products. But they don't honor their promises.

In a typical situation, a woman answers an ad which says she can earn at least $1.70 an hour for sewing baby shoes in her home. The ad asks the woman to send in $3 for further information.

If the woman mails in the $3, she will receive a letter telling her that she has been accepted for employment by the company and that she can begin work immediately.

There's one catch. She must pay another $30 to cover the cost of materials. She's likely to send in the money, thinking that the investment is modest compared to her expected earnings.

The letdown comes when the woman sends in the finished shoes to the company for payment. Most likely the company will return the shoes with the explanation that they do not meet the company's standards of quality.

The woman's work might have been top quality. But that makes no difference to the company. It had no interest in buying shoes. Its only interest was initially selling her needed materials at high prices.

If you are considering a "work-at-home" program, pay nothing and sign nothing until you have checked the reputation of the company. Ask it for the names of references, preferably persons who have done work at home for the firm.

WHAT'S AHEAD?

BY MARTY McGOWAN

One of the final acts of any legislative session is an appropriation bill which among other things fixes salaries of various public officials. A movement has been started already to make some substantial increases in the top salary brackets.

Such a bill is one to set new salary schedules for the justices of the state supreme court. The bill has as its chief author the speaker of the house, Rep. Lloyd Duxbury—and you can't get a much better author than that. His bill would add $5,500 to the present annual salary of the top court members.

Present pay to the court is $27,000 to the chief justice and $26,000 annually to the other justices. This ratio of $1,000 difference has long been preserved. The bill would make the new salary schedule $32,500 and $31,500.

There is another tradition that has also been preserved. This is that the governor of the state shall be the best paid man in state government. In this tradition the governor has been paid $500 per year more than the chief justice. To keep this tradition the suggestion has been made that the governor be boosted the same $5,500 to raise him from $27,500 to $33,000.

Incidentally, the president of the University of Minnesota does better than all of these. He is the best paid public official at $40,000 annually, plus a house. The governor also has an executive mansion now as an added emolument. In contrast, the governor of Minnesota in the depression era of 1936-38, Elmer A. Benson, was paid $4,700 and had to find his own home.

Some other comparisons have been made: One is that the superintendent of schools at White Bear Lake, who holds a doctor's degree, is paid $28,000, which is $500 more than the governor presently receives. Some residents of that suburban community who feel they have a rather expensive school system have said the governor's salary suffers by comparison and should be raised. On the other hand maybe it is the superintendent who is paid too much rather than the governor too little.

Another comparison has the present salary of the Minnesota governor at the mid-range of gubernatorial pay. This ranges all the way from the $10,000 paid Winthrop Rockefeller in Arkansas to the $50,000 paid his brother, Nelson, in New York state.

Legislators are less hesitant to increase the salary of the governor than they once were. Reason is passage in the general election last November of what was called the "best man" amendment to the state constitution. This allows legislators to resign and run for other offices during the legislative term for which they were elected.

In the past if as legislators they voted to increase the salary of an office they could not run for that office until they had been out of the legislature for a year. Now that prohibition does not apply. This has relevance at the moment because there are at least three DFL state senators, Karl Grittner, Nicholas Coleman and Wendell Anderson, who have been mentioned as possible opponents for Gov. LeVander next year.

Increasing the salaries at the top of the state pay scale opens up the possibility of increases all down the line. The constitutional officers and appointed officials would also be boosted in salary under such a pay proposal.

This prospect causes great consternation among many taxpayers, but particularly among the senior citizens. This group, many of whom are trying to maintain their independence and self respect, as well as pay taxes and maintenance on a home on annual incomes from $1,500 to $3,500, finds such salaries of top officials to be almost a direct insult to them. The senior citizens don't see where they are getting any better government or administration from such salary boosts.

Their pensions and social security incomes are quite static while their costs are zooming. Taxes on their homes have gone up, local spending is increasing but they do not have the means to meet such increases. The tax relief granted in the current legislative session will help some but the prospects are extremely depressing to oldsters. Legislators might well consider the plight of this segment of the population before they go too far too fast on state salary increases.

Break-in Tried At Legion Club

Thief River Falls police department reported an attempted break-in at the American Legion club on April 10. There was no entry made to the building.

They also noted that a juvenile boy, age 17, was apprehended in a local store by store personnel and turned over to the police department for investigation of shoplifting. This also was reported on April 10.

A monthly average of 121,317 volunteers worked at Veterans administration hospitals during 1968. More are needed.

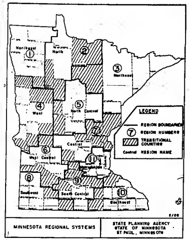
FIELD north of the "cut-across" west of St. Hilaire looked like a lake



Thrifty Americans will soon enter the 29th year of U. S. Savings Bonds, with a record high of more than $52 billion in E and H Bonds and "Freedom Shares" salted away. The first E Bond was issued May 1, 1941.

Roseau Contracts With TRF Firm For Engineering

Roseau village council approved a contract with Stewart and Welker of Thief River Falls for engineering on the proposed village improvement project at a recent meeting.

The council also received a delegation asking that the portion of the project planned for deletion behind the Methodist church and running east, not be dropped from the project. No action was taken at the meeting in regard to the matter.

Other business of importance covered was a committee recommendation given by Bill Provance, to purchase land for installation of a state OMNI navigation station which is slated for Roseau this summer. The station costs the state over $44,000 and makes possible the creation of a "Victor Airway" and precise navigation guidance as well as communications.

The committee recommended renewal of contract with airport operator Bill Pointer; extension of the airport runway to accommodate larger aircraft and outlined possible future hangar needs at the field. It was pointed out that traffic has jumped dramatically at the field and that larger and larger aircraft are seeking to land there.

Turkey Listed By USDA As Plentiful Food

Turkey heads the list of foods which the U. S. department of agriculture says will be plentiful during April and a good buy.

Other foods in abundant supply this month will be canned and frozen green beans and sweet corn, onions, dry beans, rice, prunes, peanuts and peanut products.

If you're concerned about keeping your food budget in line, extension nutritionists at the University of Minnesota suggest that a good way is to plan menus around the foods that will be plentiful during the month.

In spite of reduced marketing of the new turkey crop, supplies of turkeys remain high because the cold storage carryover is well above normal. Turkey prices are considerably below those of April, 1967.

Shoppers looking for good vegetable buys should consider canned and frozen green beans and sweet corn. The large supplies of these products have depressed prices.

Adding to the stocks of the late summer onions in storage are supplies of the early spring crop from the lower Rio Grande valley in Texas.

Pinto beans, baby limas, pinks and blackeyes are the most plentiful of the dry beans.

The record crop of rice in 1967 was surpassed last year with a crop 18 per cent above that in '67. Grocers' shelves will carry a variety of different styles of rice for consumers.

LIKED BY YOUNG

Young homemakers — in the 18 to 30 year age group — are first to accept vinyl fabrics for walls and furniture, surveys show.

Veterans released from active duty after January of 1955 must complete GI bill education by May 31, 1974, or eight years after discharge, whichever is later.

Governor Creates 11 Development Regions

An executive order creating 11 multi-county planning and development regions in Minnesota has been signed by Gov. Harold LeVander. The order affects every county in the state. Region one includes Kittson, Roseau, Marshall, Pennington, Red Lake, Polk and Mahnomen counties.

Incorporated into the order is a provision enabling 32 transitional counties to participate in the process of determining their final regional assignment. They will not be finally placed for another year.

LeVander said that overlap and conflict among existing regions used by state and federal agencies results in confusion and dilution of effort. The order is in conformance with a recent Presidential directive.

Regions established by the order are to be used eventually by all state departments and agencies for planning and administrative purposes. No multi-county region assisted by federal or state governments may deviate from the regions without approval from the governor.

LeVander also directed the state planning agency to conduct two sets of meetings in the next year as part of the establishment of the regions.

One meeting will be held in each of the 10 outstate regions to discuss the benefits of the regional structure. Also, a meeting will be held in each of the transitional counties to assist each county in evaluating its natural regional association.

Veterans May Take Vacation And Entitlement

Minnesota veterans attending school under the GI bill can take a summer vacation without losing any of their remaining VA education and training entitlement when they return to school in the fall, according to John R. Murphy, manager of the Veterans Administration center in St. Paul.

If they plan to return to the same school and pursue the same course next fall, they need not apply for a new certificate of eligibility.

Murphy emphasized to veterans hoping to find summer jobs that GI bill education and training allowances are not affected by the amount of money a veteran earns on his own. Allowances are determined only by the amount of training (full-time, three-quarters, half-time) a veteran is taking and by the number of his dependents.

Veterans who may decide to continue working after summer vacation is over and delay returning to school until next year or later were reminded that they must complete their GI bill education and training within eight years after their discharge from service or by May 31, 1974, whichever is later.

AMAZED...

I tell a few war stories—just like the rest. The censorship of good taste and modesty makes my experiences pretty drab. But Jerry thrills to them. He's proud of his Dad's Purple Heart!

My son would be amazed if I were to tell him the stories we never tell, our thoughts as we hit the beach . . . what it was like in those jungles . . . what war does to its dead . . . and its living.

And in other ways Jerry would be amazed; for he doesn't know me as a man who prays often. He can't realize the depth of my Faith. He has never met the brave chaplain who brought me in when I was hit.

I'll never tell Jerry all of it. I don't think God wants me to!

I pray that Jerry's may be a different world. I want him to learn day by day, step by step, what his religion will mean to him!

That's why we're a church-going family!

the Jones family is worried about inflation

why, a cart of groceries for the week now costs Bill Jones about $40

what if Bill is not here to provide the $40 each week?

LET'S SAY BILL CAN SAVE AND INVEST $750 EACH YEAR

If he puts his money into stocks — or bonds — or mutual fund shares — even assuming a 6% increase in value each year...

HOW MANY $40 CARTS OF FOOD WILL HIS SAVINGS BUY?

20 CARTS
109 CARTS
248 CARTS Food for only 4½ years
425 CARTS

1,042 CARTS!
Even if he dies in the first month — enough to feed Bill's family for 20 years!

IN FACT, MOST EVERYBODY TALKS ABOUT AND WORRIES ABOUT INFLATION
BUT THE JONES FAMILY IS GOING TO DO SOMETHING ABOUT IT THROUGH LIFE INSURANCE are you keeping up with the Joneses?

Local FFA Team Tops Region in Farm Mechanics

Three Lincoln high school FFA members competing as a team at the University of Minnesota technical institute at Crookston won first place in the Regional agricultural mechanics contest. The Thief River Falls team paced the event with a score of 1,260 points while teams from Halstad and Ada earned scores of 1,012 and 941 respectively. In addition to winning the event by a wide margin, the Lincoln high students also won high individual honors.

Harley Lambert achieved the highest score of 700 points, capturing the high individual trophy in agricultural mechanics and being followed by teammates Gary Novak and Alvin Asp, who placed second and third respectively.

The students competing in this event were tested on proficiency in both oxyacetylene and arc welding, farm structures, electrical wiring, engine timing, adjustment of farm machinery, field surveying and general farm mechanics skills. In addition, they wrote a comprehensive 12-page written examination, took numerous identification tests and demonstrated proficiency in skills used in the previously mentioned areas studied in agricultural mechanics.

The top two teams in the event will be entered in the state agricultural mechanics contest which will be held during the annual Minnesota convention of the FFA held in St. Paul, on the University of Minnesota campus May 5 and 6.

LHS Fine Arts Festival Will Offer Many Events

PUTTING THE FINISHING touches on their paintings which will be on display during the first annual Lincoln high school fine arts festival on April 26 and 28 are Margaret Hinrichs (left) and Jerome Donarski. These, along with other paintings, will be displayed during the festival.

Today (Monday) marks the first event of the first annual Lincoln high school fine arts festival with the spring concert of the Lincoln high school band taking place in the high school auditorium at 8 p.m. There is no admission charge and the public is invited to attend.

Saturday and Monday evenings, April 26 and 28, the high school auditorium will be the scene of "Our Town", a play performed by Lincoln high school students and directed by faculty member Everett Marshall. Performances will begin at 8 p.m. and admission will be charged.

The high school art department, under the supervision of Instructor Don Lerud, will display student art works on both Saturday and Sunday afternoons, April 26 and 27, in the Lincoln high school cafeteria. A highlight of this year's exhibit will be art demonstrations conducted by students beginning at 2:30 on Sunday afternoon. The art show will be open to the public from 2 p.m. to 4 p.m. on Saturday and 1 p.m. to 4 p.m. on Sunday. There will be no admission charged.

In recognition of the increased use of the motion picture film as an artistic medium, the feature length film "Lord of the Flies" will be shown in the high school auditorium at 4 p.m. on Sunday. This film, based on William Golding's best-selling novel of the same title, presents an interesting study of the effects a savage environment has on civilized man. The general, nominal price of admission for the film will be 25 cents.

Coinciding with the fine arts events planned by Lincoln students and faculty is the Thief River Falls concert series on Friday at 8:15 p.m. This program will be given in the high school auditorium and admission to the concert will be only to members who hold season tickets to the series.

This year's LHS fine arts festival is planned as the first of many. It is hoped that this event leads to a series of annual festivals, with more and varied programs added each year. These will acquaint area students and the public with what is happening in the fine arts area, both in and out of our own immediate locale.

LHS fine arts festival schedule is as follows:

Monday, April 21—Lincoln high school band concert, 8 p.m.

Friday, April 25—TRF concert series, 8:15 p.m. (season tickets).

Saturday, April 26—Lincoln play, "Our Town", 8 p.m.; LHS art exhibit, 2 to 4 p.m.

Sunday, April 27—LHS art exhibit, 1 to 3 p.m.; Art demonstrations, 2:30 p.m., and feature film, "Lord of the Flies", 4 p.m.

Monday, April 28—Lincoln play, "Our Town", 8 p.m.

Teacher Letter Says No Agreement in TRF

To advise other teachers that no agreement now exists on faculty policies and salaries in Thief River Falls, Thief River Falls Teachers' council has mailed copies of an advisory letter to all state teacher placement bureaus, to state education associations in North Dakota, South Dakota and Iowa, to all student MEA organizations and to members of the Thief River Falls school board.

The planned effect of such an advisory would be to discourage teacher applications for vacant positions in the local school system.

Contents of this letter are as follows:

"URGENT ADVISORY TO ALL CONCERNED PARTIES: Be hereby advised that the Thief River Falls Teachers' Council with the support of the Thief River Falls Education Association announces that no agreement now exists in Thief River Falls Independent School district No. 564 as to salaries and related policies for the coming year. The Council will announce when agreement has been reached.

"Additional details are available from Ted Hellie, chairman, Teachers' Council, Lincoln High."

The Thief River Falls teachers have also presented the school board with a statement of intent to withhold performance of all extracurricular services after the fulfillment of present extracurricular contracts. Some of these services would include teaching of summer activities, all coaching and advisory activities and all types of chaperoning.

Crookston, International Falls and East Grand Forks are three of the few schools in Northern Minnesota which are comparable in size to Thief River Falls and which have adopted policies and salary schedules within the last two to three weeks. All three of

Third of Youth Programs Set

"Communications Within the Family" will be the topic discussed at the third in a series for parents and youth leaders at Lincoln high school. A panel of youth leaders will discuss communications between parents and adolescents at 8 p.m. Tuesday.

Last Tuesday evening, after the discussion on problems of youth, participants agreed that communications within the family is perhaps the most difficult task of parenting. This series, sponsored by the Thief River Falls Ministerial association and the local schools, is open to all interested persons.

County Zoning Subject of Talk At Middle River

Robert Snyder, extension economist in land use, will be in Middle River on April 22 and Warren on April 23 to discuss rural zoning, according to Charles D. Peterson, Marshall county agent.

Snyder will discuss the basic concepts of zoning, standards and regulations that should be included in zoning ordinances, advantages and dis-advantages of zoning, costs and effects zoning will have on people in rural areas and villages.

Marshall county is now in the process of having a 701 comprehensive plan drawn up by a firm in Duluth, with zoning to be a part of this plan. These public meetings will give the public an opportunity to find out just what rural zoning is and how it will affect them and their communities.

The meetings will be held in Middle River in the Legion club on Tuesday at 8 p.m., and in Warren on April 23 at 8 p.m. The meeting place at Warren was not definite at press time.

O-M Elevator Here Sold to Home Lumber Co.

Home Lumber company of Thief River Falls has purchased the land and property of the Osborne-McMillan Elevator company in Thief River Falls with the exception of the firm's terminal facilities. Effective date of the transaction is May 1.

Norris Melander, president of Home Lumber company, said the purchase is for expansion and development of the lumber business in this city. Plans are to move the lumber yard to the O-M site in the future, but no action on that plan is expected during the current summer building season.

Included in the transfer is about four and one-half acres of land north of Eighth street and east of the Soo Line railroad tracks, a 24,000 bushel capacity grain elevator, approximately 100x80 seed warehouse, office facilities, seed cleaning, grinding and mixing equipment and the company's motor vehicles. Home Lumber will continue handling Smith-Douglas fertilizer but will discontinue the feed and seed department.

Osborne-McMillan, which began business in 1887 and has been located in Thief River Falls for many years has been slowly disposing of its property for several years, according to John Wold, local manager. The 750,000-bushel grain terminal here is being retained by the company for grain storage.

Tip Aids In Solving Crimes

Acting on a tip from a local citizen, the Pennington county sheriff's department and the Thief River Falls police department cleared up a number of thefts and burglaries during the past year and a half.

The sheriff's department received a call on Tuesday from a local citizen who had found several kegs of beer which were taken from the Grain Belt warehouse on April 14. The sheriff's department, along with the Thief River Falls police department, kept watch on the area where the beer was located and a group of young people was apprehended with beer in possession on April 15.

After further investigating, three of the youths, all boys age 17, admitted the break-in at the Grain Belt warehouse the previous night. They also admitted the tipping of five mail boxes on county road 62 on the edge of Thief River Falls on April 15.

After tipping the boxes, one of the boys was dropped off, an 18-year-old youth joined the other two 17-year-olds, who went to St. Hilaire and broke into Lindquist's Horz market. According to a report from the Pennington county sheriff, the trio took some small change from the till and other merchandise from the store. The youths admitted the break-in at the store.

The two 17-year-olds also admitted the break-in into the Grain Belt warehouse on March 20.

The 18-year-old youth admitted the break-in at the Viking Cafe in Thief River Falls on April 7, where some $350 was stolen; theft from two Grain Belt trucks in May of 1968; theft of a car from Donald Toomey in January of 1968, snowmobile belonging to Lowell Swenson in January of 1968, cars from Roger Tunberg and Lawrence Poole in February of 1968, car belonging to Robert Larson in February of 1968, snowmobile on a trailer from Don Fearn and a snowmobile from Kenneth Hanson. He also admitted two break-ins at Paterson auto wrecking, theft of gas from county residents and writing checks in March of 1968.

Besides the break-in at the Hartz store in St. Hilaire, the Pennington county sheriff's department also reported that the Goodridge liquor store and Goodridge school were broken into on April 17. Taken from the liquor store was some $1,200 in checks and cash, while nothing was taken from the school.

On April 13 the sheriff's department reported that a car was completely submerged in a county ditch two miles east of Goodridge and one-half mile north. A check by the department found that the driver of the vehicle was Dennis M. Trulson, Trail. No one was hurt in the accident. There was a passenger with Trulson at the time of the mishap.

Besides the clearing up of the cases above, the Thief River Falls police department also reported several other cases during the past week.

On April 17 at 12:05 p.m., a Northwest Trails bus driven by Gerald Brown, Moorhead, was attempting to make a right turn from Third street onto LaBree avenue and was in collision with a car driven by Mrs. Harriet Wongberg, city, who was also making a right turn. There was no damage to the bus while the Wangberg vehicle received $400 in damage.

On the 17th it was reported that a chrome mag wheel cover was taken from a car parked in the post office parking lot. Value of the cover is $20.

On the 18th a local car dealer reported the theft of a new wheel and tire from a pickup parked on his lot. Value is estimated at $40.

On the 18th a juvenile boy, age 11, was apprehended in a local store and turned over to the police department for investigation.

On April 18 at 6:36 p.m., a car driven by Orolin Billing, city, going east on First street, stopped behind another vehicle driven by Bernard Kasprick, city. Damage to the Billing vehicle was $185 while the Kasprick vehicle received $55 in damage.

On the 19th at 3:40 p.m., a car owned by Harold Jorstad, city, was parked on Main avenue south of Third street. When

Flood Provides Close Call for People at Huot

The Robert Larson farm, built in a rather low area one mile southwest of Huot in Louisville township on the Red Lake river, had never before been threatened with total inundation by high waters. However, on Wednesday afternoon of last week, it became evident that the water would rise higher than the permanent dikes banking the river near the Larson farm, and Mr. and Mrs. Larson, with the help of neighbors and friends, began the job of raising the height of the one-eighth mile dike about two feet in an effort to hold the water in the river channel. Five hundred sandbags were brought from Crookston.

On Thursday morning many from Red Lake Falls and 21 boys from Lafayette were called to the area to aid those who had been on the job most of the night. By noon the water had remained at a pretty stable level for about three hours. When it actually began to recede, the danger of flooding was thought over.

In late afternoon, about 5:30 p.m., an ice jam broke upriver, and about six o'clock jamed four or five miles north of the Gentilly bride. Immediately the river began a very steady rapid rise. Three carloads of boys, many who had been there previously, answered an urgent call for help. At 7:00 p.m. the water rose rapidly, about three feet in a few minutes, and the Red Lake Falls fire department was summoned. Ice tore open a section of the dike, the onrush of ice and water about a quarter of a mile wide over the dikes, flooded the entire farm area. The workers who had been sandbagging barely escaped by running to the slightly higher ground of the home and to their cars on the road about 200 feet from the house. An effort was made to remove the 80 ewes and 80 lambs from the barn, but the men and women were forced to abandon them. Cattle and grain had already been saved.

Women's Clubs Display Projects At Joint Meeting

Craft projects for the year were displayed on Wednesday at a joint meeting of the Zehilan, DeCor and Laurel clubs of the Thief River Falls Federated Women's club. The meeting was held at the local women's club room located in the city auditorium.

Included in the display were miniature oil paintings, decorated Easter eggs and thread flowers. Artificial fruits and flowers formed the basis of the burlap wall hangings and unique men centerpieces. Also on display were the floral centerpieces that Geneva Overum and Mrs. J. Arthur Johnson had won at the Federated Women's club convention. These centerpieces were made by shaping wire frames and dipping them into colored liquid plastic to form the flowers.

Two miniature oil paintings were given as door prizes. Winning the paintings were Mrs Joe Dostal and Mrs J. Arthur Johnson.

The program included a report of the Federated Women's club convention held recently at Moorhead. Miss Overum, who attended the convention, gave the report. Lunch was served by Mrs. T. C. Conners.

Attending the joint meeting were Mrs. Joe Dostal, Mrs. Cal Ripley, Mrs. James Walker, Mrs. Jake O'ttara, Mrs. Emil Farmes, Mrs. Harold Rasmussen, Mrs. Rudolph Sagmoen, Mrs. Harold Elofson, Miss Geneva Overum, Mrs. J. Judith Coan-Roger Larson Vows Exchanged at Trinity

Miss Judith Ann Coan of Goodridge and Roger I. Larson of Strandquist exchanged marriage vows on Saturday, March 8, at 2 p.m., in the chapel at Trinity Lutheran church in this city.

The bride is the daughter of Mr. and Mrs. James Coon of Goodridge. Parents of the groom are Mr and Mrs. Irvin Larson of Strandquist.

Rev. Reuben A. Wangberg officiated at the double ring ceremony before an altar graced with a floral arrangement of mums and roses. White satin bows marked the pews. About 80 relatives and friends were in attendance.

Nuptial music was provided by Mrs. Walter Larson, organist. She played the traditional wedding march as the bride was escorted to the altar and given in marriage by her father.

The bride was attired in a floor length gown of white satin which she had designed and made. The empire bodice was styled with a high rounded neckline and long modified bell sleeves that were slit almost to the elbow. The A-line skirt flowed back into a chapel length train. Marking the empire waistline was a belt secured at the sides and tied in a bow in the back. A braid trim accented with sequins, outlined the neckline, edged the sleeves and surrounded the skirt at the hemline. Her fingertip veil was held by an organza looped headpiece and she carried a cascade bouquet of sweetheart roses and white mums.

Miss Rita Wells attended the bride as maid of honor and Miss Elaine Iverson was bridesmaid. Both are friends of the bride and both reside at Goodridge. Junior bridesmaid was Miss Becky Coan, a sister of the bride. All wore deep pink floor-length gowns styled like the bride's except that their gowns had short sleeves and were without the train. They wore matching drop pink Chanel bow headpieces and white shoes and wrist-length gloves. Each carried a long-stemmed white chrysanthemum, sprayed with pink, and tied with a white satin bow. Their crystal drop pendants were gifts from the bride.

Gordon Larson of Newfolden attended his brother as best man. Donald Osse of Middle River, was groomsman and Bill Gusa, also of Middle River, was junior attendant. Both are cousins of the groom, as is Mark Larson, who served as usher. For their attire, the men of the wedding party chose black tuxedos with black bow ties. The groom's boutonniere was a rose from the bride's bouquet and his attendants had white carnation boutonnieres.

The mother of the bride was attired in a white brocade dress with mint green hat and gloves and black accessories. The mother of the groom wore a two piece dress of blue-green brocade accented with white accessories. Both wore identical corsages of baby pink roses and white mums. Similar corsages with corresponding boutonnieres were presented to the grandparents of the bride, Mrs. Florence Stenvik of Thief River Falls, and Mr. and Mrs. John Coon of Goodridge.

Approximately 200 relatives and friends attended the reception that followed in the church parlors. Serving as host and hostess were Mr. and Mrs. Raymond Coon, uncle and aunt of the bride.

Centering the serving table was a round, four-tiered cake trimmed with deep pink roses and topped with a miniature bride and groom. On either side of the cake, baked and decorated by the mother of the bride and Mrs. Bernard Wells of Goodridge, were two large layer cakes, decorated similar to the wedding cake.

Mrs. Daryl Rud, sister of the groom and Mrs. Curtis Vraa, aunt of the bride, cut and served the cake while Mrs. Glenn Peterson and Mrs. Lloyd Larson, aunt of the bride and groom, respectively, poured. Mrs. Bert Coon and Mrs. Robert Stenvik, aunt of the bride, served the ice cream.

Cousins of the couple also assisted at the reception. Misses Cheryl Peterson and Rhonda Stenvik served the punch and Miss Lori Peterson presided at the guest book. They are cousins of the bride. Carolyn, Catherine and Martha Gusa, cousins of the groom, served as waitresses together with Mrs. Richard Johnson, a friend of the bride.

Opening and arranging the gifts were Mrs. Steve Henricks, Renee Carlson and Kathi Wells, friends of the bride.

Out-of-town relatives and friends who attended were from Fargo, N.D.; Duluth, Babbitt, Embarrass, Minneapolis, Middle River, Strandquist, Newfolden, Goodridge and Bemidji.

For her going away attire, the bride was attired in a blue A-line dress with black accessories.

The bride is a graduate of the Goodridge high school and is employed at Parkin's Corner Drug. The groom, a graduate of the Newfolden high school, is employed by Land O'Lakes Creameries, Inc.

Marshall Co. DFL Changes By-Laws Women's Group

At the annual meeting of the Marshall county DFL Women's Federation, Miss Anna Gunderson was elected to fill the newly formed office of treasurer. Her election followed a vote to change the by-laws, separating the duties of the secretary-treasurer, thus creating a four-member board. Two officers of the federation will be elected each year, the president and treasurer in even years and the vice president and secretary in odd years.

Miss Beulah Wikstrom, who had served as secretary-treasurer, was chosen to continue as secretary. Also returned to office were Mrs. Norma Hanson, president and Mrs. Grant Satre, vice president.

The meeting was held at the American Legion hall at Middle River. Guest speaker was Robert Bergland. He stated that the DFL party will continue to work for better legislation for rural America. He said that a strong rural America is being built by business concerns locating in the rural area and the present trend of young people returning to the rural districts to raise their children.

Special music was provided at the meeting by Doug Brandt of Thief River Falls and Sam Fournier of Red Lake Falls. Brandt played a trumpet solo and Fournier sang several songs, including "Send Me Home", which he composed before he left for service in Vietnam. Fournier provided his own guitar accompaniment.

Several new members joined the federation. Mrs. Henry Williams was in charge of the registration and Mrs. Norma Hanson presided at the meeting. The door prize was won by Mrs. Harvey Slokke of Newfolden.

In addition to the name, Sun-Brite Garden club, the board chose the Sweet Pea as the club flower. Lavender and white were selected as the club colors.

The Sun-Brite garden club was recognized as a formally organized club at the 13th District Horticultural Society workshop on Saturday at Argyle.

KITCHEN KARNIVAL

Features from the Kitchen of

Mrs. Winton Knutson
of rural Thief River Falls

It has been said that more ground beef is eaten in the United States than any other type of meat. One of the reasons for this is its versatility. As a beef patty, barbecue, hot dish, meat loaf or meat balls and gravy, ground beef is included on the menu several times a week.

We are grateful to Mrs. Winton Knutson of rural Thief River Falls for sharing her favorite recipe, using ground beef.

Hamburger Bun Filling

1 lb. hamburger
¼ cup chopped onions
½ teaspoon salt
One-eighth teaspoon pepper
1 can chicken gumbo soup

1 tablespoon uncooked oatmeal

Method: Combine hamburger, onions, salt and pepper and brown in a heavy skillet with three tablespoons shortening. Add the remaining ingredients and simmer until thick. Serve on a heated bun.

Mrs. Knutson stated that this filling will appeal to those who do not like highly spiced foods. She also said that it freezes well.

The Knutsons live 12 miles west of Thief River Falls. Their farm is located in Numedal township. In addition to raising sheep and beef cattle, they are also engaged in grain farming.

Mrs. Knutson enjoys all kinds of hand-work, gardening and raising African violets. She is a member of the Numedal homemakers club and the Oak Ridge Ladies aid. Her husband is chairman of the ASCS committee.

Conditions In Germany is Told At BPW Meeting

Mrs. Terry Nelson told of living conditions in Germany when she spoke Tuesday at the regular dinner-meeting of the Thief River Falls Business and Professional Women's club. She described living conditions, homes, foods available, stores, schools and the attitude of the German people towards the Americans. Mrs. Nelson spent several years in Germany while her husband was stationed in that country.

Mrs. Connie Ferber, chairman of the program committee on World Affairs introduced the speaker. She also presented the Lincoln Folk Singers, who sang two selections.

Flags of the nations and candles graced the tables. Of special interest was a table featuring items from Norway, Greece, Japan, Germany, Spain, India and Greece.

Mrs. Ruth Wilson presided at the business session. A letter was read from Mrs. Margaret Race, school nurse, informing the club that the money entrusted to her from the Christmas collection had been used for six immunizations and to purchase clothing for needy children.

Several committee reports were given. Norma Hanson, legislative chairman reported that the Equal Pay for Equal Work bill, sponsored by the Minnesota Business and Professional Women's clubs, had passed the house and senate and was now waiting for the Governor LeVander's signature.

The scholarship committee stated that eight names had been submitted to the committee and that the two scholarships will be presented at the next meeting.

Mrs. JoAnn Reeve, chairman of the annual event for the young prospective career women, stated that this event will be held May 19, at the Lincoln high school cafeteria. Girls from the Thief River Falls Junior college, area vocational school and the senior girls from Lincoln high school and the Goodridge high school will be invited.

Plans were also made for the rummage and bake sale to be held May 3 at the Eagles hall. Members were asked to price the baked goods and rummage before bringing the articles to the hall.

An invitation was also extended to visit the Thief River Falls Public library during National Library week. The invitation was given by Bertha Hastad who attended the meeting in place of Dorothy Last, head librarian. The meeting concluded with the appointments of the past presidents JoAnn Wedul, Anna Zinter, Dolores Johnson and Clarice Collins, to serve on the nominating committee.

District GOP Officers to be Named This Week

Seventh Congressional district republican convention, to be held in Bemidji on Friday and Saturday, will bring to a climax one of the most vigorous races for district Republican offices within the memory of most observers. Elections are scheduled Saturday afternoon.

Contestants for the chairmanship are Herman Nalwick, Ada farm operator, and Dwaine Hoberg, Moorhead state college football coach. Seeking the chairwoman post are, Mrs. Donald (Krista) Sanda, Staples, and Mrs. John (Gloria) Jensen, Crookston. Virtually every other district office is also being contested.

Retiring district chairman R. M Bigwood, Fergus Falls, has served as Seventh district chairman since 1963.

Although not seeking reelection at the district level, Bigwood's name is mentioned frequently as a possible contestant for one of the three state vice-chairman slots that will be up for election in June. The Seventh district convention will no doubt discuss ways of promoting Bigwood for one of those offices.

Mrs. Marvin (Harriet) Gelb, Moorhead, retiring district chairwoman, is seeking election as delegate-at-large to the Republican state executive committee.

The featured speaker at the Friday evening banquet will be Frank Kent, Minnesota commissioner of human rights. Also expected to attend are Lt. Governor James Goetz, attorney General Douglas Head and state GOP chairman George Thiss.

Saturday's program, in addition to the election of officers, will feature addresses by Congressman Odin Langen and Governor Harold LeVander.

Nursing Homes Urge Visitation At Open House

Nursing homes in Minnesota have announced that they will participate actively in National Nursing Home week being sponsored by the American Nursing Home association (ANHA) of which Minnesota is a member. The ANHA, which represents both proprietary and non-proprietary nursing homes, has a membership in excess of 7,200 homes and 400,000 licensed beds in 49 states.

In joining in the program, Philip Schumacher, president of the Minnesota association, said that member nursing homes will begin National Nursing Home week on Mother's Day, May 11. Governor Harold LeVander recently proclaimed May 11-17 as Nursing Home week for Minnesota.

Main purpose of the observance is to encourage the community to visit the more than 700,000 aged and infirm in the nation's nursing homes.

"We are joining with the 7,200 member homes of the ANHA to make sure that no patient is overlooked on Mother's Day," Schumacher said. "We'll all be having an open house on Mother's Day because most of the nursing home patients are women. But the men will be visited too, of course. This year's theme is 'A Better Life through Community Concern'. All of us in the nursing home profession are going to get the community to come in for a visit.

"We can provide for all of the needs of our patients but one—we can't show them that the community cares—we cannot relieve their feeling of remoteness from community life, unless the community does care and does come in," he added.

Officials of the ANHA have expressed the hope that two and one-half million people will come into nursing homes on Mother's Day. Last year it was estimated that over two million joined in the observance.

Schumacher declared that nursing homes in Minnesota will be contacting all community groups in person, by phone and through all communications media in a massive effort to win support for the visitation program.

"The health care revolution that is occurring in American is probably affecting the nursing home more than any other type facility," Schumacher commented. "We want to show people what modern nursing homes are and what our profession is like."

Project to Aid Small Producers Of Area Timber

A project to assist small timber producers in northern Minnesota, Wisconsin and Michigan has been approved, Gov. Harold LeVander announced today. Known as the Lake States Forestry cooperative assistance program, it involves a total of $182,500.

Wayne E. Gilbert

Gilbert Seeks Presidency for U of M Campus

Wayne E. Gilbert, son of Dr. and Mrs. E. L. Gilbert of Thief River Falls, has announced his candidacy for student body president of the University of Minnesota, Minneapolis and St. Paul campus.

Gilbert stated that his campaign would revolve around two themes: The restoration of the Minnesota Student association (MSA) to the position of a truly all-campus government, and the involvement of as many students as possible in university organizations and community organizations.

He proposed programs in the areas of revitalization of MSA structure, urban and community affairs, the student in the decision-making process of the university and in student rights and obligations.

According to Gilbert, a junior and currently an MSA senator at the university, "The Minnesota Student association has for too long been dealing with perennial problems that the most competent administrators and student leaders have been unable to find solutions for. We shall, of course, continue to work at these problems, but we are proposing an entire new slate of action. Our emphasis will not be concentrating on dead issues, but rather proposing new programs, and a new plan of action to cope with the current issues on today's campus. And the difference is that these programs are relevant and will work."

Election will be by the student body at the university on May 7 and 8.

8, Pamela, 6, Diana, 4, Dannie, 1½, and Mrs. Joe Brunelle, grandmother of the children, had stopped at the Larsons momentarily with a supply of groceries. All except Mrs. Willard Brunelle were in the car when the dike broke. With the Brunelle car already in water, teenagers who had just driven to the farm to help, took the five children and their grandmother into the car driven by Jim Hofius, and were on the way to higher ground when chunks of ice pushed the vehicle into the ditch. The boys immediately helped those who were trapped out of the car windows and onto the roof. Little Pamela Brunelle fell into the water. Jim Hofius, last in the car, somehow got out, swam to grab the child, and brought her to safety. Swift water pushed the others from the car top. They managed to grab an uprooted floating tree and from there were miraculously rescued one by one. It was estimated that Mrs. Joe Brunelle and the children were in the icy water about twenty minutes.

The Brunelles were taken to St. John's hospital. All except Mrs. Joe Brunelle and Dannie were released shortly.

Joe Brunelle, taken to a safe position, saw Rodney Fering and two other boys swept off the road—two were able to make higher ground, but Rodney was caught in a tree and rescued later.

Mrs. Robert Larson, assisted by Junior Gervais, managed to get a boat at the barn, made it back to the house, but was unable to save any of their personal belongings.

Six cars and three trucks were swept into the ditches or covered with water. Four have not yet been recovered.

Oklee Mfg. Co. To Double Space By New Addition

Oklee Manufacturing company, which last year added 1,500 square feet to its original plant and purchased the Nadeau building with 2,500 square feet, now has construction under way which will double its present square footage of space.

Wallace Graberg, OMC president, has announced the purchase of the 4,500 square foot tile and brick building presently housing school buses for the Oklee school district, built 15 years ago by Rolandson Implement. It is understood that the school will build a new combination bus garage and athletic storage building west of the highway, at the North side of the new football field.

Space between the present school garage quarters and the original plant, consisting of a 20 foot alley and a 32 foot lot, is the site of construction activities. Harry Hinkley handles the general work and Bill Hendrickson is laying up the cement blocks. This construction measures about 54x90 feet.

New dimensions of Plant No. 1 will be 232 feet long and 90 feet wide at its greatest points. The new additional space will be used for quilting production and extra warehousing.

OMC presently has 41 employees and projects a level of 60 on a year-round basis. Principal operations are the manufacture of snowmobile cushions and accessories for Viking and Arctic, and production of winter outerwear garments.

Urges Guardsmen To Apply for Training Leave

Wilbur T. Lindholm, regional director of the U.S. department of labor's office of veterans' reemployment rights, has advised all members of the Reserve and National Guard to protect their reemployment rights when leaving their employment to participate in summer military training.

Lindholm urged reservists and national guardsmen to request a leave of absence from employment upon receiving notice of training dates and to report back to work promptly upon completion of training.

Under the universal military ployers must grant leave for military training when such leave is requested, and the employer cannot require that such leave take the place of earned vacation leave.

Lindholm said that relatively few reemployment problems arise out of summer training activities in this region because employer policy often is more generous than the legal requirements.

Most of the problems that do arise could be eliminated by proper requests for leave of absence and prompt return to work following training, according to Lindholm.

New Varieties Of Soybeans and Flax Announced

New varieties of soybeans and flax were announced this month by the University of Minnesota's agricultural experiment station. The announcement was made by William F. Hueg, experiment station director.

Norman soybeans and Norstar flax were developed by the department of agronomy and plant genetics and the department of plant pathology in cooperation with the agricultural research service, U.S. department of agriculture.

J. W. Lambert, professor of agronomy and plant genetics at the university, selected Norman soybeans from a cross between Acme and Hardome.

Minnesota tests have shown Norman to mature 4 to 7 days earlier than Flambeau and two to three days later than Portage. Norman is intermediate to these two varieties in standing ability and height, and has yielded more than Portage and less than Flambeau. Norman has light green foliage, purple flowers and grey pubescence. Its seeds are medium size, shiny yellow, with colorless hila. The seed quality and protein and oil contents of Norman are good.

The area of greatest use of Norman soybeans is projected to be in east central and northeastern North Dakota and the Upper Red River Valley area of Minnesota. It was named after Norman county. North Dakota and Minnesota are participating in the release of Norman.

Norstar flax is a medium to late maturing variety being slightly later than Summit and earlier than Nored and B5128. Norstar is outstanding in seed yield when sown early. It is moderately susceptible to pasmo, resistant to rust and wilt, and has good lodging resistance equal to Summit and Windom. Norstar has relatively high oil content and fair quality. The new variety is medium tall in height, has blue flowers and brown seed of average size.

North Dakota and South Dakota are participating in the release of Norstar. V. E. Comstock, USDA agronomist and associate professor of agronomy and plant genetics, and Harlan Ford, research agronomist for the USDA, cooperated in its development at the university.

According to Carl Borgeson, associate professor of agronomy, seed of Norstar flax was distributed to registered and approved growers in 36 counties this year and seven counties were allotted Norman soybeans. Seed of both varieties will be available to the public for 1970 planting.

Certificate of Title Should be Filed with State

Chief executive officer of the Minnesota State Automobile association (AAA) said today motorists of the state will be "taken for a ride" if the legislature approves a bill providing for motor vehicle certificates of ownership to be filed in 87 different county seats, rather than a central filing system in St. Paul.

Arthur C. Tomlinson, executive vice president of Minnesota AAA, said the county filing system for certificates of title would cost motorists $8, while the central filing system cost would be only $2.

"In my view," Tomlinson said, "$8 is not a filing fee; it is just another tax on motorists!" Tomlinson noted that "our neighboring state of Wisconsin had a county system for certificates of title up until 1966, but discarded it in 1966 in favor of the more efficient central filing system.

Minnesota is one of eight states which does not presently have a certificate of title law. At the present time, Minnesota motorists secure a certificate of registration when they buy their automobile license plates, but this registration card is only evidence they paid their license plate tax. (It is not evidence that the holder owns the vehicle.)

A certificate of title provides proof of ownership as well as a record of any liens or mortgages against the vehicle.

Flood Damage Is Deductible Under Federal Tax Law

Until a Presidential announcement is issued declaring certain Minnesota counties as disaster areas, George Lethert, IRS district director, advised flood sufferers how to establish their losses for federal tax purposes.

Normally, losses from the spring floods can be claimed on the 1969 return, to be filed in 1970, Lethert said. However, any taxpayer who sustained flood losses prior to April 15 can elect to claim the loss on his 1968 return, to secure an earlier tax refund. Those who filed before the floods have until July 15 to amend their 1968 return.

In claiming a flood loss deduction, taxpayers must establish the adjusted basis of their property before the disaster, and the fair market value after the floods, Lethert declared. Photographs are helpful in showing the condition of the property before and the extent of damage suffered, as well as appraisals, articles and other evidence to substantiate the deduction claimed.

Taxpayers prevented from filing by the April 15 deadline due to floods were advised that penalty for late filing will not be added to any tax owing. Flood filing delays will be considered reasonable cause of late filing. Simple interest of six per cent per year will be added, however.

Filing returns as soon as the emergency is ended was urged by Lethert, who suggested attaching a statement ascribing the delay to the flood emergency.

Highway Patrol Resumes Vehicle Safety Checks

Minnesota highway department resumed its program of random vehicle safety checks during the week of April 14, with inspections at 11 different locations throughout the state. They will continue through the week of October 13.

Altogether, spot checks will be conducted at 660 locations, with a goal of 65,000 inspections.

Vehicles that qualify will receive a safety check sticker to be mounted on the windshield. Vehicles failing to pass the inspection will be re-checked after the defects are corrected.

Special attention will be given to lights and signals, brakes, windshield washers and wipers, glass, mirrors, tires, mufflers, safety-belts, horns, bumpers and steering. Results of each inspection will be recorded on data sheets which will be run through an optical scanner and automatically put into a computer. Four-man teams consisting of two inspectors and two highway patrol officers will conduct the checks.

Inspections will be conducted one day per week in each of the 11 highway patrol districts through the week of June 2 and after the week of September 8, and on four days each week through the summer. No inspections will be made during the weeks in which Memorial day, Independence day and Labor day are observed.

In addition to the spot checks which will cover light trucks and passenger vehicles, there will also be inspections of trucks at the state's weigh stations. This year the results of these checks will be coordinated with those of the passenger vehicles and light trucks.

Volunteer Group Seeks Glasses For the Needy

"These glasses were my grammy's, maybe someone else's grammy can use them."

The note was written in a childish hand, wrapped around a pair of eyeglasses and mailed to "New Eyes For The Needy," a Short Hills, N.J. volunteer organization staffed mostly by housewives.

Some 883,835 pairs of glasses were sent to "New Eyes" last year from every state and from people of all ages, to assist in bringing the gift of better sight to people who have no one else to help them.

The "New Eyes" volunteers have been on the job for 36 years, and donated reusable glasses have always been the mainstay of the operation. When the organization was incorporated in 1947, the treasury consisted of 47 cents.

Despite this, "New Eyes" has never solicited money. Besides glasses, virtually the only other assistance the 300 volunteers who make up the organization accept is precious metal scrap, silverware, antique and costume jewelry. These are melted down and the money from the reclamation, and from the sale of usable jewelry and silverware, is used to supply funds established in 106 hospitals all over the country, Canada and Puerto Rico. They pay for new prescription glasses, or if needed, artificial eyes.

The "New Eyes" people invite individuals and organizations to help them continue the job of bringing better sight to those who need it most. Discarded glasses, broken jewelry, and precious metal scrap are needed. Address them to New Eyes For The Needy, Short Hills, N.J. 07078.

73,000 in State Get Assistance In Food Programs

Over 73,000 low-income persons in Minnesota received food assistance from the U.S. department of Agriculture during February, according to Dennis M. Doyle, midwest district director of consumer food programs.

The total included 14,670 persons in 23 commodity distribution program projects and 58,390 in 48 food stamp program areas.

Minnesota participants in the stamp plan received around $1.2 million worth of coupons during February of which nearly $341,000 were bonus coupons. The average bonus per person was $5.86.

In 11 Midwest states, about 1,177,000 persons received USDA food assistance. Around 432,000 were in 347 commodity programs and 745,000 in 461 food stamp projects.

The food stamp program enables low-income families to buy more food by exchanging the amount of money they normally spend on food for coupons worth more than they paid. The coupons are spent like cash at authorized retail food outlets for any domestic foods.

The commodity distribution program provides over 20 USDA-donated foods to supplement the diets of needy people. The foods are shipped to the state distributing agency which handles the storage and transportation to local distribution centers and welfare agencies.

Region Fireman Meet Recently in East Grand Forks

Record breaking attendance was noted at the spring meeting of the Northern Region Firemen's association held at East Grand Forks on April 10. A total of 240 firemen registered from 31 towns, although some region towns were unable to be represented due to the flood.

Firemen attending the meeting from Thief River Falls were Pat Barry, deputy state fire marshal; Roy Langevin, local department chief; and firemen Duane Noel, Gene Henrickson, Leighton Haire and Tom Fuller.

The evening opened with a welcome by Mayor Jacob of East Grand Forks, with Langevin giving the response. Three retired East Grand Forks fire chiefs were introduced.

Lawrence Sunsdahl of Stephen, president of the association, spoke of the hazards of abandoned refrigerators and made a suggestion that the region fire departments have an exchange inspection with neighboring towns.

Neil Wagsland, fieldman, and John Turner, safety director, for Mills Mutual insurance, were the principal speakers for the evening. They showed a film on the "do's and don'ts" in fighting an elevator fire. They also gave demonstrations of sprinkler systems, smoke detectors and dust explosions. Warroad was accepted as the site for the summer fire school.

Refreshments were served following the meeting and the East Grand Forks firemen escorted visitors around their new quarters.

40,000 Veterans In State Given Larger Payments

Nearly 40,000 military veterans in Minnesota with service-connected disabilities are receiving higher compensation checks from the Veterans administration this year.

Some 2,300 veterans in the state with 100 per cent disabilities received an increase in their basic compensation from $300 to $400 a month. For the others, who are rated 10 to 90 per cent, the increase averaged about eight per cent.

John R. Murphy, manager of the VA center in St. Paul, said disability compensation is the agency's largest program, both in number of veterans receiving payments and in total expenditure. In fiscal year 1968 more than $2.4-billion in compensation payments was made to two million veterans nationally.

Veterans with 10 per cent disabilities have had their compensation increased from $21 to $23 a month. Veterans rated 20 to 90 per cent service-disabled now receive payments ranging from $40 to $226 monthly.

Murphy said that extra allowances payable for dependents of veterans rated 50 per cent or more service-disabled were not increased when the higher compensation rates went into effect.

He urged veterans seeking more information on their disability payments to contact the St. Paul VA office or their nearest county veterans service officer.

Motorists traveling on Interstate Highways may have an easier time finding service facilities as a result of new standards adopted by the Federal Highway Administration, Oil Facts reports.

Viking-Land to Seek Municipal Help for Funds

Viking-Land, USA, Inc., has mounted its fiscal 1969-70 municipal membership drive. Municipal clerks in 165 Viking-Land region communities have received a kit, including a list of 1968-69 Viking-Land activities, a Viking-Land lure book and a dues statement based on community population—0-2500, $25, 2,500 - 5,000, $50, and over 5,000, $100.

It is expected that municipal councils will act on their membership within the next 30 days. Viking-Land county directors are available to explain the program to councils should they need them.

"Viking-Land has had a successful first year of operation and has shown that the regional concept of economic development does work and will grow in prestige with continuing cooperation between municipal, county and state government and private enterprise", noted Viking-Land President Bob Anderson, Battle Lake.

Kenny Institute Offers Help for Rehabilitation

A teenager paralyzed by a broken neck in a diving accident—a college girl with a spinal cord injury from a head-on car crash—a grandmother crippled by arthritis—a young father helpless from a sudden stroke—are typical patients at Kenny Rehabilitation Institute, Minneapolis, sponsored by the American Rehabilitation foundation, a member of the Pennington County United Fund.

The agency provides total rehabilitative treatment, according to Dr. Arnold Berg of Thief River Falls, member of the local United Fund board of directors. He is urging residents who have not sent in their contributions to do so in order that books may be closed and allocations made to the member agencies.

Dr. Berg explained that the American Rehabilitation foundation also engages in health research and training, which returns benefits to residents of all counties in Minnesota.

And what will be done for the four typical patients—the teenager, the college girl, the grandmother and the father?

Dr. Berg explains that Kenny Institute's team of physicians, psychologists, speech pathologists, physical and occupational therapists, social workers and rehabilitation nurses will utilize the newest techniques to help them return to their homes, schools or jobs and to become as independent as possible.

The teenager may need a wheelchair for some time, he says, but eventually he will be fitted with devices to allow him to get about, to write and to dress and feed himself. The college girl will be helped so she can continue her education. The grandmother will be taught to use specially designed devices so she can keep house again. After counseling with his family, the father should be able to take his place again in the working community.

The foundation also conducts a broad educational program, according to Dr. Berg. Its some 15 courses reach nurses, social workers, physical and occupational therapists, physicians and the clergy. Its nurse-educators take the newest techniques in rehabilitative care to employees of community hospitals, nursing homes and similar facilites.

VA Offers Aid To Veterans Who Had Flood Damage

Veterans administration will give all possible assistance and advice to veterans in major disaster areas who are victims of flooding.

This will include whatever construction analysis and architectural services VA is in a position to render for veterans whose properties have been damaged.

John R. Murphy, manager of the VA center in St. Paul, urged veterans in Minnesota, North Dakota and South Dakota, whose VA guaranteed or direct loan property is damaged, to contact the loan guaranty division at the VA Center, Fort Snelling, St. Paul, Minn. 55111. Veterans may also phone 721-2955, extensions 283, 207, 288 or 293.

Depending on the situation, the VA may extend payment dates on VA loans to borrowers in distress through no fault of their own during the emergency to assist them to retain their property, Murphy said.

Spring Sports Teams In Action Wednesday

by Bob Wielinski
Times Sports Writer

Three spring sports teams of Lincoln high school will be in action on Wednesday. The tennis and track squads will be on the road while the baseball team will be at home.

The tennis team, under the direction of coach Whitey Olson, will open the season at Grand Forks St. James, and the track squad will be engaged in an indoor quadrangular meet at Crookston. The Prowler baseball squad will host Goodridge at the fairgrounds park.

Tennis Team

The tennis team will be making the first start of the season and as of last week only the number one singles position and the doubles team were settled. Number two and three singles positions on the squad remained open, according to coach Olson.

The number one singles position will be held by senior Steve Edlund, defending District 31 and Region Eight singles champion. The doubles team will include Kip Puppenhagen, a junior and the defending District 31 and Region 8 number two singles champion, and senior Dan Jorgenson, who played some as the number three singles man last season.

The other two singles positions, two and three—will be battled for by newcomers to the tennis squad this year who include Mark Thyren, Tim Nepper, Gordon DeLap, Dennis Benson and Stuart Waltinen.

After Wednesday's match against the Royals, the Prowlers will be home on Thursday against Crookston. Both matches are scheduled for 3 p.m.

Track Squad

After failing to place in two previous meets, the Prowler track squad will journey to Crookston Wednesday to take part in a quadrangular meet at the Winter shows building in that city.

Besides the Prowlers and Crookston, others in the meet will be East Grand Forks and Roseau. The meet is for both the senior and junior high school teams of all four schools, and is scheduled to begin at 6:30 p.m.

The meet should be a good one as all four squads are members of the Northwest conference. Results should prove who will be the favorites in that meet in the middle of May.

Coach Jim Sims, who expected that the Prowlers' strong events would be in the distance races, has found two of these boys quitting the squad. They include Lynn Stromberg, who was a good prospect in the mile run, and Jim Gibson in the half, 440 run and in the relays.

As of now, Sims indicated that he didn't know in what event the boys would run but that the whole squad would make the trip to Crookston on Wednesday evening.

Expected to pick up points in the dashes for the Prowlers will be senior Richard Habedank, who in Moorhead ran the 60 yard dash in 6.7 seconds but failed to be in the finals of the event.

Others who will be counted on will be John Horris, half miler; Sheldon Joppru, high hurdles and high jump; Tim Olson, low hurdles; Darrold Rodahl, hurdles and high jump; Bill Norman, dashes, 440 and mile and 880 relay teams. Rex Rugland will give the Prowlers help in the dashes, while Jon Swick will be a top contender in the pole vault. Scott Vettleson will help in the weights.

Baseball Squad

After a disappointing opener last Saturday at Moorhead, the Prowlers will be at home and will be out to even their season mark at 1-1 as they play host to the Goodridge Huskies. Game time is scheduled for 5 p.m. at the fairgrounds in Thief River Falls.

Coach Ralph Skay will be making some changes in his starting lineup as four of the Prowlers were unable to make the trip to Moorhead on Saturday because of music contests. Those that didn't make the trip were catcher Don Balmer, outfielder Dennis Johnson, pitcher Mike Hamerlinck, and outfielder Brian Peterson.

Dana Stromberg will more than likely get the starting assignment from Skay once again, but junior Dan Sullivan could also be the starter with Stromberg waiting until Friday to start against Red Lake Falls.

Other probables for the Prowlers will be Tim Duke at first, Tom Duke at second, Tony Johnson at shortstop, Gordy Peterson or Stromberg at third, Bruce Broughton, Sullivan, Dennis Johnson or Steve Doley in the three outfield positions, with Balmer behind the plate and Jerry Morben in reserve.

Goodridge, with six lettermen back, will more than likely go with two or three pitchers. Glen Peters, the Huskies' coach, indicated last week that ace lefthander Jim Smeby will be unable to make the trip to Thief River Falls as he will be taking college entrance exams at Bemidji state college. Peters indicated that he would more than likely go with Roger Blaine and Roy Molsberger on the hill. Gary Anderson will be at first base, Alton Hyland at second, Leslie Iverson or Blaine at shortstop and Brian Wiseth at third. In the outfield will be Molsberger or Terry Wiseth along with Greg Nesland and Don Wilkens. Doing the catching will be Steve Holte.

Goodridge Lacks Pitching; Faces Tough Schedule

by Bob Wielinski
Times Sports Writer

Glen Peters
Baseball Coach

An 11-game schedule faces the Goodridge Huskies under the direction of coach Glen Peters. The Huskies started their season today (Monday) against Fisher in a home contest, and will be in action on Wednesday as they travel to Thief River Falls to meet the Prowlers.

Six lettermen were among the candidates which reported to the opening of practice for the Huskies some two weeks ago, with most of the workouts being confined to the Goodridge gym. Last week the Huskies were able to work a couple of days outside.

Leading the ranks of the Huskies are Jim Smeby, veteran pitcher and outfielder. Smeby will be counted on heavily this season as the Huskies' number one hurler. Peters indicated that pitching is the big problem for the Huskies this season. Smeby is a senior and three-year veteran and is a lefthanded thrower.

Also returning for the Huskies is Brian Wiseth at third base, who also may be counted on as a pitcher this year. He is a junior. Other junior lettermen are first-baseman Gary Anderson and catcher Steve Holte. Anderson did some hurling last year but because of a leg injury in basketball this past year will only see duty at first for the Huskies.

A ninth grader, who lettered as an eighth grader last year, is at second base. Alton Hyland is expected to be at this position once again for Peters. The only other senior letterman for the Huskies is Ray Molsberger, an outfielder, who pitched some last year but is expected to see action in the outfield this year, with a possibility of seeing some hurling against weaker teams that the Huskies will be facing.

Others out for the team and expected to see action are Leslie Iverson, shortstop; Glen Nesland, outfield; Terry Wiseth, infield; Don Wilkens, outfield; Dave Dahlin, outfield; and Roger Blaine, shortstop and pitcher.

April 21—FISHER; 23rd—at Thief River Falls.

May 5th—at Warren, 7th—at Climax; 8th—RED LAKE FALLS; 9th—at Newfolden; 12th—MIDDLE RIVER; 14th—at Red Lake Falls, 15th—at Middle River; 10th—NEWFOLDEN, and 19th—at Alvarado

Local Jaycees To Sell Buttons For Track Meet

Thief River Falls Jaycees announced today that they will be selling "Booster Buttons" to help cover the expenses of putting on the first annual Prowler-Jaycees invitational track meet slated for the Prowler track on May 3.

The Jaycees have become involved in this meet and are hoping to create a strong interest in track and field in Thief River Falls. They also hope to make this annual event bigger every year through the cooperation of the Lincoln high school track staff.

The buttons will be on sale at 50 cents each. Jaycees urge support for this sale and that purchasers also be on hand for the meet on May 3. There are 10 teams invited to take part in the event.

MOST VALUABLE players at St. Bernard's school this past season in basketball and football were named Thursday night at St. Bernard's as members of the two squads were honored. Main speaker for the evening was Prowler head basketball and tennis coach Whitey Olson (far right). Named as most valuable football player was Tom Barry, second from left, next to Prowler football coach Jim Sims. Robert Kosel, next to Barry, was named most valuable in basketball. All boys who played basketball or football received ribbons and letters, while the cheerleaders also received ribbons.

Moorhead Pounds Prowler Pitching; Wins 18-1 Sat.

by Bob Wielinski
Times Sports Writer

Moorhead, with a veteran club, had little trouble with the Thief River Falls Prowlers on Saturday as the Spuds walked away with an 18-1 victory over the Lincoln high school baseball club at Moorhead.

The Spuds, having all but one player back from last season's Region Six champions, wasted only one inning in which they failed to score off three Prowler pitchers. Dana Stromberg gave up one hit and struck out the other three batters in the first inning. From then on the Spuds scored four, one, three, three and seven in the last five innings of the game, while the Prowler managed to tally one run in the sixth inning.

The Spuds' pitcher, Paul Heerwald, spaced six hits in six innings that he pitched and was only in trouble in the sixth inning of the contest, when the Prowlers scored once and stranded three on base.

Dan Sullivan led off the frame by taking a third strike for the first out. Tony Johnson collected his second single of the day as he shot one through the hole at short. Johnson then stole second on a close play. Larry Lee, batting for Gordy Peterson, sent a long fly to left which was caught for the second out. Dana Stromberg drew a walk and when the catcher was charged with a passed ball, Johnson moved to third.

Tim Duke then rapped a single to left field, driving in Johnson with the Prowlers only run of the contest, giving the Prowlers two men on base. Tom Duke drew a walk to load the sacks, but pinch hitter Tom Wurst drove a long fly to right which was caught for the final out of the inning.

Moorhead jumped on Prowler pitching for nine extra base hits as they had seven doubles and two triples in their 18-hit total. Larry Lee and Joe Javre led the attack with three hits each for the Spuds, which found 11 of 10 players collecting hits in the contest and 15 scoring runs for the winning Spuds.

Next action for the Prowlers will be Wednesday when they host the Goodridge Huskies in a 5 p.m. game at the fairgrounds as they will be seeking their first win of the season.

Airman Carlson Decorated for Vietnam Valor

Airman first class Roddy D. Carlson of Thief River Falls has been decorated with the Bronze Star medal with "V" device for valor and the Air Force Commendation medal for service in Vietnam.

Airman Carlson, son of Mr. and Mrs. Robert J. Carlson of Thief River Falls, received the Bronze Star for heroism as a radio operator while engaged in military operations against enemy forces at Ca Mau.

His valorous actions were directly responsible for repelling a heavily armed attacking force and his assistance in providing air support inflicted heavy damage on the enemy and freed 180 Americans who were trapped in the Military Assistance Command, Vietnam compound, the citation states.

Airman Carlson, who was assigned to the 22nd Tactical Air Support squadron at Ca Mau during his combat tour, was awarded the commendation for his meritorious service.

He is a 1966 graduate of Lincoln high school in Thief River Falls, and has also attended Northland state junior college.

Newfolden Music Groups High in District Contest

All three large choir groups at Marshall County central high school in Newfolden received superior ratings at the District 32 music contest held at Roseau Friday and Saturday. The groups included the girls' chorus with 46 members, the boys' chorus with 34 and the mixed choir with 53 members.

Three small groups also received "A" ratings and will advance to state-area competition. They were the girls' sextet with Mona Borg, Dione Johnson, Judy Moen, Nancy Johnson, Susan Stokke and Barbara Roppe; triple trio with Becky Engen, Lana Sorenson, Debbie Nelson, Bonnie Nelson, Cindy Waterworth, Cheryl Broten, Karen Dunrud, Carol Liedberg and Cindy Green; and the boys' octet with Ronald Kvamme, Rick Sethre, Don Lunke, David Kalmoe, Marlin Bjornrud, Paul Tandberg, Dwight Dyrud and Bob Hodny.

Soloists who received superior ratings were Deland Elsoth, tenor; David Sethre, baritone; and Marvin Wayne, bass. All groups and soloists will participate in the state-area contest in Thief River Falls on May 2 and 3.

Placing high in the regional speech contest held at Fosston on Saturday from Central was David Kalmoe. He received an "A" rating and was named second alternate to the state speech contest. Kalmoe, a sophomore, competed in the discussion category.

U. S. Savings Bonds are synonymous with indestructibility. If you lose yours, no matter how odd the circumstances, you can get a replacement at no cost from the Treasury. Take the situation of a boy in a rural community who went out to the mailbox to get the mail. On the way back to the house, the wind blew an envelope containing a Savings Bond into the path of a rotary lawn mower. Bond and envelope were shredded. The Bond was replaced.

Snow Mold May Cause Damage to Lawns in State

Snow mold—a cold season disease of grasses—could cause more damage than usual this spring. Snow mold disease appears as more or less circular, dead, bleached areas from one inch to several feet in diameter, according to Herbert Johnson, extension plant pathologist at the University of Minnesota.

It's too late now for control measures this spring, since snow mold damage occurs during the winter months. It is caused by a few fungi that have the ability to grow at freezing temperature, or even lower. Conditions last fall and winter were favorable for snow mold disease.

During the thawing periods in late February and early March, the fungus could be seen as a delicate webbing on the grass near the edges of receding margins of snow. The webbing is often dirty gray in color, but may be white or pink, Johnson says.

Snow mold damage can occur in various ways. If only a few scattered grass plants are killed, the loss may be insignificant and remaining grasses will fill in. Other times, most of the grass plants are killed and the few remaining plants are left to do the filling in. This may take a few weeks or months. In extreme cases, areas of grass several feet in diameter are killed completely and need to be seeded or sodded to replace the dead turf.

Once the temperature has gone up to the point where grass starts to grow, snow mold isn't likely to be a problem, so new grasses can be started with little regard for snow mold.

Late fall and snow-free periods during the winter are the times to apply chemicals for snow mold control. Extension Folder 165, "The Home Lawn," and North Central Regional Extension Publication No. 12, "Lawn Diseases in the Midwest" contain information and give control procedures on snow mold. These publications are available from your county agent, or from the Bulletin Room, University of Minnesota, St. Paul, Minnesota 55101.

Peace Corps Facts, Figures

Peace Corps Volunteers began serving in four additional nations in 1968—Fiji, Dahomey, Swaziland and Nicaragua, and are training to serve in The Congo (Kinshasa) and to return to Guinea this year, according to Jack Vaughn, the agency's director.

The Peace Corps is now involved in its first multi-nation development program. Working with the United Nations' Food and Agriculture Organization and the ministries of six Central American countries, Volunteers trained in marine biology, commercial fishing and co-op development are seeking to establish or strengthen commercial fishing operations on both coasts of Central America.

38 Scout Troops Registered for Summer Camp

Dr. Henry Tomasek, camping chairman of the Lake Agassiz council, announced that 38 scout troops in the Lake Agassiz council have registered to attend Camp Wabaunaquat, the council camp located near White Earth.

Nearly one-half of the campsites have been selected with nearly 400 boys currently registered to attend camp. The camping committee of the council hopes to have 75 troops with over 800 scouts in attendance.

Currently troops are signed up from the following communities: Northwood, Leeds, Mylo, Oslo, Neche, Park River, Stephen, Grafton, Pembina, Hallock, Greenbush, Devils Lake, Manvel, Cando, Bisbee, Fertile, Crookston, St. Hilaire, Grand Forks Air Base, Edmore, Grand Forks and East Grand Forks.

The complete program that will be offered at Wabaunaquat this summer will be presented at the Scout Leaders Workshop to be conducted in conjunction with the annual meeting on Sunday, April 20.

Tomasek also announced that Clarence Sunderland, chairman of the non-scout committee of the council, is making plans to have the largest number of boys to participate in this program since it began three years ago. Boys are invited to participate in this program that otherwise may not have the opportunity to attend a summer camp.

Plans are also being completed to conduct three work week-ends at the camp this year. Volunteers interested in doing this good turn for scouting are encouraged to contact scouters in their areas to get more information.

State's Doctors Urge Curbing of Drinking Drivers

Minnesota Academy of General Practice, at its annual meeting, passed a strong resolution in support of strengthening drink-drive legislation.

Dr. Tony Malerich, West St. Paul, a spokesman for the organization, stated that 25,000 people are killed yearly in traffic accidents in the United States directly involving the over-use of alcohol.

"One-half of the adult drivers have used alcohol and driven, but it is not this group that is the major source of the problem, but rather the one to four per cent of the adult drivers who are the so-called problem drinkers."

"We seem preoccupied with the exotic such as heart transplant, which will save a few lives a year, while on our highways every year we lose more lives than have been lost in the entire Vietnam war," he said.

The resolution stressed: Two degrees of intoxication, moderate being .05 to less than 0.1 mg. per cent; severe greater than 0.1 mg. per cent. Increasing penalty—from fines, driver's license revocation for an extended period of time, jail sentences and, as an important alternative to jail, referral to an alcoholic treatment center. Use of breath analyzers was recommended for law enforcement agencies as a screening devise particularly during peak hours between 6 p.m. and 3 a.m.

The resolution is being submitted to the Minnesota state legislature. The state medical association is also expected to act on this measure.

"As doctors, we feel it is our duty to point out this tremendous health hazard to the public, and with public support through our legislators enact a meaningful law so that we can expect a drastic decrease in the highway carnage as has been shown following similar laws enacted in England and Sweden."

Appliance Change Is Noted by Home Economists

Easy-care appliances, solid-state controls, new colors, special features and development of many small appliances to supplement or replace major equipment—these are a few of the trends in household equipment for 1969.

With all the changes taking place in household equipment, the consumer who is in the market for some new appliance will be able to shop more wisely knowing some of the trends taking place, says Glenda Humphries, extension specialist in household equipment at the University of Minnesota.

She lists these:

The mini revolution. Many small appliances are being developed to supplement or replace major equipment. Examples are blenders that not only grind, blend and chop but also cook; fry pan-buffet cookers which may be taken to the table for service; ranges and refrigerators so small they can be placed in many different locations in the house; multi-basketed washers which can launder white clothes in one tub and colored clothes in another simultaneously.

Easy-care appliances. Frost-free refrigerators, non-stick finishes, self-cleaning ranges have eliminated many chores for the homemaker. In 1969 self-cleaning gas ranges and smooth-surface gas and electric range units will be on the market.

Solid-state controls. The solid-state systems will reduce the amount of servicing needed and make for more flexibility. Solid-state controls have been added to mixers, washers and dryers to give the user more control. Thus in mixers, solid-state controls help maintain the selected speed even when heavy products are added.

Color and decorator finishes. New colors projected for 1969 are flame and blue. Wood tones, cork, geometric designed, the leather look are found on refrigerators, ranges and laundry equipment. You can even have a renoir print on your refrigerator door.

Special features. On any appliance it's important to decide if the extra feature is worth the additional money. Some of the features being added to new appliances include wheels or rollers for easy moving; end-of-cycle timers and signals; warming shelves for quick thawing of frozen foods; doors that hinge on either side for refrigerators.

Morken Reviews Third Concert Of Local Series

EDITOR'S NOTE: The following article was submitted by David Morken, choir director at Lincoln high school and Northland state junior college in Thief River Falls, following the third program in the concert series in Thief River Falls on April 7.)

Robert DeCormier proved himself a musician and showman as he directed his singers through a program of folk music last Monday in the Lincoln high school auditorium.

His 15 singers, accompanied by a variety of percussion instruments and an electric harpsichord-piano-organ, performed each selection with a background of varied lighting effects. The group also did effective choreographic movements appropriate to the song.

The lighting and choreography were combined tastefully with the music, making it an enjoyable and entertaining evening for a wide gamut of musical tastes.

Memorials Given To Cancer Fund

Cancer fund memorials in the names of the late Mrs. Carrie Jenson, Mrs. Lena Nelson and Harry Stuey were recently received by the Pennington county unit of the American Cancer society, according to Mrs. Charles Krause, memorial chairman. Memorial gifts are used entirely in cancer research to assist in discovering causes and cures for cancer.

Agri-Business Centers

Shopping mall complex for agriculture is in the planning stage by National Farm Stores, Inc., an organization which has announced intentions to open farm service centers from "the Appalacians to the Rockies". Each of the centers would be placed on a 40-acre tract and provide all the services and supplies for farmers in a 25-mile radius.

Construction on 20 of the centers is expected to begin this year. Each is expected to cost a minimum of $3 million to build and will be expected to gross $20 million in annual sales. Long-range plans call for a minimum of 12 centers per state in wheat and livestock areas and at least 16 per state in highly diversified farming areas. They will be located in rural areas—near towns of 5,000 to 15,000 in population.

The centers would supply the complete needs of the farmer—machinery, building supplies, food, clothing, hardware, insurance, real estate services, electronic record and accounting services, finance and loans, marketing information, veterinarian, agronomists and a community center.

In addition to the shopping mall, individual buildings around the mall would include a gas station, grain elevator, feed mill, L.P. gas distribution plant, fertilizer blending plant, and sales areas for automobiles, trucks and farm machinery. Business places in nearby small towns—within the 25-mile radius—are likely to severely feel the loss of revenue, unless they have an unusually loyal group of customers. That loyalty is never built over night—it is developed over the years.

It would be expected that such a farm service center as proposed would operate on a cut-rate basis—and no one can blame the farmer for being extremely cost-conscious; necessity has forced him to be exceptionally aware of prices. This would place an added burden on the local merchant to compete.

Needless to say, the first of these service centers will be watched with great interest—and perhaps some apprehension—across the agricultural area of the country. They may well serve to reawaken the rural businessmen to the value of their farm customers.

Home Safety Month

Deaths resulting from home accidents are second only to highway vehicle deaths and home injuries far surpass the number of motor vehicle injuries. With these facts in mind, it makes good sense to place special attention on possible accident-causing situations which may exist in a person's home.

A few statistics will emphasize the extent of home accidents. Last year motor vehicle accidents claimed 55,000 lives in the United States and 1,055 in Minnesota. Home accidents took 28,000 lives nationally and 432 in Minnesota. Traffic accidents were responsible for 2,000,000 disabling injuries while home accidents accounted for 4,200,000 injuries in the nation. Minnesota's respective figures were 50,000 and 80,000.

It was estimated that the home accidents cost Minnesotans some $30 million last year, not including property or fire loss.

Spring clean-up time is also spring safety check time. The following safety questions can be asked about the various portions of your home:

KITCHEN

Do You: Use nonskid wax on your floors? Have stove and sink areas well-lighted? Turn pot handles away from stove front, but not over another burner? Wipe up spills immediately? Open oven door before turning on gas to light it manually? Follow directions when using your pressure cooker? Have a rack or compartmented tray for sharp knives? Keep electric appliances away from sink area and make sure your hands are dry before operating them? Have at least two hot dish holders near the stove? Have metal containers for waste paper and cans? Use a step stool when reaching into high cupboards? Clean range exhaust hood and duct frequently? Have emergency phone numbers handy to your telephone (police, fire, doctor, utilities)?

LIVING, DINING, BEDROOM

Do You: Have nonskid backing on small rugs, and avoid use at top of stairs? Keep traffic areas and exits clear of furniture and obstructions? Use a screen in front of your fireplace? Have plenty of wall outlets for lamps and appliances avoid octopus connections? Have lamp within reach of bed?

GARAGE AND DRIVEWAY

Do You: Have your garage in order—tools in place, floor clean, flammable liquids stored in safety cans? Have your garage well-lighted with switches at doors? Set "Park" or hand brake and lock car when you leave it outside? Check area around car before backing?

WORKSHOP

Do You: Keep paint thinners and solvents in metal cans? Keep power tools disconnected or switches locked when not in use? Store oily rags in air-tight metal cans? Keep tools out of the reach of small children? Have workshop well-ventilated and work areas well-lighted? Have a dry-powder, carbon dioxide or all-purpose fire extinguisher handy? Ground power tools before using them? Use safety glasses? Keep power tool guards in place?

BATHROOM

Do You: Have nonskid mats or textured surfaces in tubs and showers? Have a sturdy grab bar for your tub or shower? Have medicines clearly labeled and read the label before taking any medicine? Keep medicines stored safely out of the reach of small children? Dry your hands before using electrical appliances—and never operate them when you're in the bathtub? Avoid using hair sprays near open flame or when smoking?

STAIRWAYS

Do You: Have sturdy handrails for outside steps and inside closed stairways? Have attic stairs well-lighted? Have sturdy bannisters on open stairs and stairwells? Keep children's toys off stairs? Avoid using stairways for storage areas? Have stairs well-lighted with switches at top and bottom? Keep treads, nosing and carpeting in good repair?

STORAGE AREAS

Do You: Avoid using your basement, attic or utility room for a "dumping ground," especially for combustible materials? Have attic floored if used for storage? Keep rubbish and waste paper in metal containers?

BASEMENT OR UTILITY ROOM

Do You: Know where your main gas and water valves are located and how to close them? Have gas and water lines distinctly tagged so they can be quickly identified? Know how to light the pilot light on your furnace and water heater? Have your gas dryer vented to the outside (if designed for outside venting)? Call the gas company if you suspect a leaky valve or pipe? Know where your main electrical switch is and how to turn it off? Have extra fuses on hand and pull the main switch before changing a fuse? Determine what has caused a fuse to blow and eliminate the cause before replacing the fuse? Know the maximum load each of your electrical circuits can safely carry and avoid overloading them? Have fuses or circuit breakers labeled to identify outlets and fixtures they protect? Keep combustibles away from hot light bulbs? Have a 20 ampere line to safely carry the heavy load needed to operate kitchen appliances such as electric grills, waffle irons, rotisseries? Have washer and dryer electrically grounded? Have a metal ironing board or an asbestos pad for a wooden one? Keep cleaning fluids, drain openers, ammonia and similar items locked up or out of the reach of small children?

OUTSIDE

Do You: Return garden tools to their storage racks after use? Get help for heavy or difficult jobs? Limit the time you work in the hot sun (severe sunburn or sunstroke is serious business)? Keep children and pets a safe distance away while operating your power mower? Shut off the mower when cleaning, adjusting or emptying grass catcher, and never refuel when motor is hot? Use charcoal lighter fluid to light your outdoor grill (never gasoline)? Keep ladders in good shape—replace loose rungs, worn ladder shoes, frayed ropes on extension ladders? Use extra care putting up screens or storm windows when you're on a ladder, especially in windy weather? Keep your trash burner covered when using it? Repair broken walks and driveways? Have clotheslines high enough to clear pedestrian traffic? Have your television antenna grounded?

Borrowed Nonsense...

"It is no easy thing to tell a story plainly and distinctly by mouth; but to tell one on paper is difficult indeed, so many snares lie in the way. People are afraid to put down what is common on paper, they seek to embellish their narratives, and they think, by philosophic speculations and reflections; they are anxious to shine, and people who are anxious to shine can never tell a plain story." —George Borrow

Letters to the Editor

(Editor's Note: The following letter from Richard Stenberg, son of Mr. and Mrs. Otto Stenberg of Otto's Red Owl to Thief River Falls, was written to answer to a request for information about his studies at Cambridge university to England. Richard has been a student there since the first of January and will return to early August.)

Dear Sir:

I hope this letter will answer the questions you have asked about Cambridge.

I am one of ten students from St. Olaf College in Northfield, Minnesota, who are studying here at Cambridge University in Cambridge, England. It is an exciting and valuable experience, but it is completely different from school in the States. Nearly all of our study is done on our own. Lectures are available, but no one has to attend. Each student has a private tutor. We meet our tutors once each week and discuss with them the reading we have done during the week. We prepare an essay each week and present it to the tutor for criticism and evaluation. There are no examinations, but we are judged on our weekly discussions and essays.

The University is an excellent school, but only the top five per cent of the English students are admitted. The others go to lesser known universities, vocational schools, or don't continue on in school at all. The general belief seems to be that the English educate their elite much better than we do in the States. This is no doubt true, but the vast majority of the English never receive as good an education as we receive in our high schools in America.

School is not the only thing which is different here. The city of Cambridge and the life of the people both differ in many ways from Thief River Falls.

Cambridge is well over a thousand years old, and it still retains a very medieval appearance. Most of the streets are very narrow and winding. They change names at every turn, so it's hard to keep track of where you are. Most of the streets are one-way, but many of them would not be wide enough for our big American cars. Whenever the street isn't wide enough, the drivers merely drive half in the street and half on the sidewalk. There is no such thing as speeding, of course, when things are so crowded, so the pedestrians have plenty of time to move out of the way.

The business section of town is all crowded around a central market, where they sell fruit, vegetables, books, flowers and clothing in open-air stalls. Most of the businesses are in shops just like ours, however. There are two modern supermarkets and even a dime store, but most of the shops are small specialty stores where they sell only one product.

The city centers around the University. There are twenty-eight colleges that make up the University. Most of them were founded several hundred years ago. For example, King's College, the college I attend, was founded in 1441 by King Henry VI. The colleges are especially proud of their buildings, because each college has tried to outdo the others by building spectacular chapels and dormitory facilities. The result is that Cambridge has some of the most beautiful architecture in the world.

The University is fabulously wealthy, but the city itself is not. Most of the people live quite simply compared with our standard of living in Thief River Falls. Most people do not have central heating, but have fireplaces or room heaters. It often gets down to the freezing point during the winter, and the result is that the houses are very uncomfortably cold and drafty. Electricity is expensive, so most people do not have as many appliances as we have. Luxuries like color TV, dishwashers, automatic washers and dryers, and wall-to-wall carpeting are almost unheard of. Still, the people live well and seem to be happy and satisfied. They all go on one or two day holidays as often as they can, and everyone seems to enjoy an occasional outing in one of the many parks.

When the weather is nice, the river Cam which runs through the city is the recreational sight for nearly everyone. People go rowing and punting. Punting consists of pushing a flat-bottomed boat through the shallow water with a long pole. It's fun, but they tip as easily as canoes, so you naturally run the risk of getting wet.

Cambridge has a hundred thousand people living in it, but it doesn't seem much larger than Thief River Falls. The people are friendly and the pace of life is relaxed. It's a good place to live.

Mr. Marvin Lundin, Editor
Thief River Falls Times
Thief River Falls, Minnesota

Dear Mr. Lundin:

Kindly print the following letter in your letter to the editor column. I would prefer that my name was not listed.

Thief River Falls and surrounding area is fortunate to have one of the largest and most progressive snowmobile manufacturers anywhere. This has created employment for many people in the trade area. It has also created enthusiasm and has given the people a more progressive and positive outlook on life.

It is our feeling that Thief River Falls could capitalize more on the snowmobile image. We could, perhaps, have large billboards on the edge of town advertizing the City and the home of Arctic Enterprises, Inc. A large statue, (maybe to the park by the Armory) of a snowmobile or a black panther would add a lot to the city. A statue of an animal would not become outdated whereas a snowmobile statue could be.

It would seem that a joint venture of interested groups such as the Jaycees and Arctic Enterprises could help to make this a reality.

To the Editor:

I strongly believe that the present abortion laws should be abolished. I believe, as does The American Public Health Association, that abortion should be accepted as an "important means of family planning" and also that abortion is "a decision which the person or family involved should be free to make as their own religious beliefs, values, emotions and circumstances may dictate." It is the right of every woman as a dignified human being to decide for herself whether she should or should not continue a pregnancy.

Current supporters of abortion laws often claim that it physically and psychologically harms the abortee. If a licensed physician performs the operation in a hospital within the first three months of conception, death by abortion amounts to less than one-fifth the percentage of deaths from normal child-birth, or about 3 per 100,000.

Psychological disturbances, however, tend to function according to the beliefs of the society in which the abortee lives. In societies where women are conditioned by the church and culture to believe that abortion is a sin and will bring punishment, more than 50 per cent receive psychological damage. However, in societies where relative permissiveness in sexual matters prevails, only about 2 per cent receive psychological effects.

The primary objection to abolishing laws equates abortion with murder. The worth of a human embryo is real, but how does it compare to the worth of the mother, the family, and society?

QUESTIONS Answered for VETERANS

Q—For some time I have had the Veterans Administration retain my GI insurance dividends, but I just got a letter saying I should apply for reinstatement of my policy. I know that I have enough dividends to cover the premium due. What happened?

A—You have the DEPOSIT option. These dividend amounts draw interest. However, they are like a bank account; the Veterans Administration cannot use these dividends to pay your GI insurance premiums without your permission. To insure that your policy will not lapse in the future, you should change your dividend option to CREDIT. These dividends will also be set up in an account which will draw interest. However, with the dividend credit option, the VA can withdraw a monthly premium if not otherwise paid to prevent lapse of the insurance. You will be furnished a statement each time a monthly premium is withdrawn, letting you know what premium was paid and the amount remaining in your dividend credit account.

Q—I am told that my nonservice-connected pension payment will be increased soon. When will I receive my increased payments?

A—The VA nonservice-connected pension program was restructured effective January 1, 1969. Approximately 1.2 million beneficiaries under this program will receive increased pension payments as the result of this restructuring. These increased payments also went into effect January 1, so, if you qualify for an increase, you should receive your higher pension check around February 1.

Q—My husband died as a result of injuries received in World War II. He obtained a GI home loan during his lifetime which is now paid off. Am I, as his widow, also eligible for a loan?

A—Yes. Any unremarried widow of a World War II or Korean Conflict veteran may be eligible for a GI home loan if her husband's death was service-connected. The fact that the veterans may have obtained a loan does not effect the widow's entitlement.

Governor LeVander Reports

Americans long ago resigned themselves to the old axiom that death and taxes are inevitable. But many of our citizens could not be blamed today for complaining that taxes are the most onerous of the two.

I am greatly concerned for the growing disparity that shadows our tax structure in the state of Minnesota. It was for that reason that I recommended several weeks ago that the legislature authorize a comprehensive analysis of all kinds of taxation at every level of government in Minnesota to be carried out by a blue ribbon study commission.

The results of this study—along with recommendations for reform—should be prepared for use by the next legislature.

However, since I have made the recommendation, it has become increasingly obvious that some areas of the state are already so far out of balance that every effort should be made immediately to provide at least temporary relief.

A good example is the problem caused by commercial assessments being assigned to property in Dakota county that had previously been assessed as agricultural. Many farmers have told me that their property taxes have jumped from five to 11 times in the past year. This is perhaps true in other primarily rural counties as well.

No individual, in my judgment, should be required to pay a tax increase of such staggering proportions when he uses his property for the same purposes.

Another area of great concern to me is the iron range in northeastern Minnesota. Here, a combination of circumstances that can hardly be blamed upon anyone has caused extreme pressure on homeowners.

Assessors, in compliance with a state supreme court ruling, have attempted to equalize all real property at 33 and one-third per cent of its valuation. This has caused a sharp increase for many homeowners whose property previously had been valued at a much lower rate.

A second factor has been the steady decline in the valuation of iron ore on the range. This decline has deprived many communities of their principal source of tax revenue.

While I plan to recommend that a special task force working within the blue ribbon study commission be assigned to come up with a long range solution to the problem on the iron range, I am very anxious that all potential temporary assistances be explored right away.

Another group of homeowners which is being rapidly inundated by onerous taxes are those who reside in suburban areas, although some suburbs have a broad enough tax base to offer a very reasonable tax climate.

I believe every Minnesotan will agree that it is most desirable to work in the months ahead to find a more balanced and equitable overall tax program for our people.

This High Value Penny Protects 100 Corn Plants!

Currently, eight corn producing states are affected by the resistant western corn rootworm. The advance of this pest, plus the possible decline in corn prices, leaves the farmer with an economic necessity: control the rootworm at the lowest possible cost.

How much should you pay for corn rootworm control? $2.85? $3.00? As much as $4.00 an acre? One effective corn rootworm insecticide controls the pest for as little as $2.40 an acre. That works out to a penny per 100 corn plants. At university recommended rates, Thimet 15-G is the lowest in cost of any proven, recommended resistant corn rootworm insecticide.

This low price makes the product an economic necessity for corn producers who have been faced with prices that have dipped as low as 80 cents a bushel.

Therefore, for every penny spent for this control, 100 corn plants can be protected against the ravages of the rootworm and its voracious appetite. Thimet 15-G has proven effective against the resistant corn rootworm in all soils and under all weather conditions, during each of the past six growing seasons. Your County Agricultural Extension Agent can provide further information.

No need to delay Spring fertilizing.
(Your Land O'Lakes dealer is ready when your fields are!)

You can expect an extra bushel of corn per acre for every day you get your crop in before mid-May. That could mean several thousand dollars extra income this year.

The moment your fields can be worked, we're ready with the dependable Land O'Lakes fertilizer service you need in order to go after that extra income.

We carry clean, dry, free-flowing plant foods and will blend the exact formulation your soil test dictates. Prompt delivery, too. And the price is right.

Retarded Prove Good Workers When Employed

Many mentally retarded persons can work in the competitive-labor market as successfully as normal workers if given the chance. These are the words of Michael Yehle, representative for Minnesota's on-the-job training program for the retarded.

He added that once retarded persons are on the job, they tend to have better work records, higher production rates and less absenteeism than workers of normal intelligence.

The on-the-job training program, he said, is a national program operated by the National Association for Retarded Children (NARC) and funded by the United States department of labor.

When the teacher or counselor of a retarded person feels that the person is ready to join the labor force, Yehle is contacted. He gets in touch with potential employers to inform them that a retarded person is available to do the simple, often monotonous tasks that a normal worker would find boring.

When the employer agrees to hire the retarded person (at the prevailing wage) the employer receives a weekly stipend of $27 50 to defray the costs of special training and supervision of the retardate.

The program has proven successful, Yehle said, judging by the dozens of letters he receives from employers who praise their retarded workers and ask if more are available.

The retarded workers find the program a success too, Yehle said. Instead of living non-productively in sheltered environments, they are able to develop self-sufficiency and responsibility while contributing to the labor force.

One of the difficulties the program has had, Yehle said, is in finding enough workers to meet the needs of the employers. To be more affective in placing retarded workers, the program needs the cooperation of schools, local associations for the retarded, workshops and activity center which train and educate the retarded. These facilities, he said, identify and train potentially employable retardates.

Further information about on-the-job training for the retarded can be obtained by contacting Yehle at the Minnesota Association for Retarded children, 1911 Nicollet avenue, Minneapolis, Minn. 55403.

Owners of U. S. Savings Bonds need not worry about their investment, should they fall victim to a sudden disaster such as a flash flood or tornado. The Treasury acts quickly to replace or reissue Bonds in such hardship cases. The first major instance in which such action was taken came in Cleveland, Ohio, following an explosion in 1944—just a little more than three years after the first Series E Bond was sold.

City Council Holds Meetings This Week

Thief River Falls city council met Tuesday night in regular session, approved a number of licenses renewals and heard the first readings on two new ordinances.

In a special meeting held on Monday night, the council, on the recommendation of the planning commission, approved three business places to be located in the residential zones of the city. They include a shoe repair shop at Eighth street and Horace avenue; a fix-it-shop at 507 Riverside avenue; and a photography studio at Maple avenue and First street.

They also issued a special use permit to Ed Weele, Moorhead, to construct a 12-unit apartment unit in the 700 block of Crocker av. S The planning commission approved this after a hearing and advised the council to grant approval.

The council Tuesday approved renewals for private club liquor licenses, plumbing license, theater licenses, bowling alley license, auctioneer licenses, junk licenses and pool table licenses.

First readings were on ordinances to give the city council jurisdiction over all property within two miles of the city and regulating dancing where intoxicating liquor is being sold.

The latter states that all such places will be required to have a license which will cost $250 a year and will be renewable annually. The license shall be good from July 1 to June 30 of the following year, and no person under the age of 21 shall be permitted to dance in this establishment. The owner shall have a door man on duty at all times during dancing hours to enforce the age requirements.

No dance shall be held or conducted between the hours of 1 a.m. and 8 a.m. on any day and no license shall be given to any establishment which does not have seating for 75 persons, the ordinance states.

City Band Needs More Musicians

Regular rehearsal of the Thief River Falls city band will take place Monday evening at the city auditorium. Ormond Johnson, president of the organization, issued a special call for a good turn out of players for this rehearsal.

"We are approaching our concert season," Johnson said, "and if we are to be able to function as a band this year, we will have to have an immediate response from interested band men. We particularly invite, encourage and ask that interested high school musicians take an interest in this band. Especially needed to fill out the various band sections are clarinet and cornet players, although other instruments are also needed to make a well-balanced band group."

Any adult or student instrumentalist who can possibly attend is asked to make that effort his Monday evening. Rehearsal will start at 8 p.m.

At 4 p.m. on Monday, four-year-old Juanita Prestegaard was walking into the street when she came in contact with an unidentified vehicle. The car was going west on Sixth street, and the girl reportedly was hit by the rear fender of the vehicle. Two children who witnessed the accident said that the car was yellow and that it turned south into the alley between Main and LaBree avenues.

The Prestegaard girl was treated for scratches on her face, arms and legs and bruises to her hip and head. She is the daughter of Mr. and Mrs. Eugena Prestegaard, Thief River Falls. Anyone having any information about the accident is asked to contact the Thief River Falls police department, which notes that it is possible the driver did not know that the accident happened.

Lower Thief River Area Aided by Agassiz Pools

Management personnel at Agassiz National Wildlife refuge gambled and apparently have won this year in preparing for the spring snow melt run-off. In so doing, the refuge has saved downstream areas from considerable flooding and extensive damage to land and other property. But it has also jeopardized its primary purpose as a wildlife refuge — the production of waterfowl.

Last year the refuge gambled and lost. It held back a large volume of water, but spring rains washed out nests as water levels fluctuated greatly. As a result, less than half of the anticipated production at the refuge was actually produced.

This year the area snow cover vanished in a very few days, appearing in ditches, rivers and other depressions as a torrent of water. Agassiz was ready to meet the flow to the best of its ability. All but three of the major pools were drained during the fall of 1968 to provide storage for the unexpected spring flood waters. Only 7,000 acre feet of water were stored during the winter.

By Wednesday of last week, more than 59,000 acre feet of water had flowed into the refuge, bringing the total storage to 66,000 acre feet. (This means level land would be covered with water a foot deep over 66,000 acres or about 100 square miles.) Releases had amounted to only a little more than 5,000 acre feet—or about eight per cent of the total inflow.

Without the refuge pools serving as a sponge to absorb the flood waters and release them slowly, the increased volume of water would have caused untold problems and damage along the Thief river, Red Lake river and Red River of the North.

Concerned with people downstream as well as the main purpose of the refuge, Agassiz personnel face a dilemma. Howard Lipke, assistant manager, states the situation as follows:

"Agassiz National Wildlife refuge may be losing its identity as a waterfowl refuge. Many people undoubtedly think of the refuge as a flood water storage basin and that alone. Refuge management has suffered because of the increased water dumped on the area. Drawdowns for increased flood water storage have eliminated the natural biological control of cattail; fluctuating water levels (as much as three feet during the critical waterfowl nesting period) have all but eliminated production in some years; flood damage has been significant in some years; and there is almost an annual threat to a good portion of the refuge property and facilities."

Linda Larson-Alton Sparby Vows Said in Middle River

First Lutheran church at Middle River was the scene of the four o'clock wedding on March 15 of Miss Linda Kay Larson and Alton Sparby. For the ceremony attended by approximately 250 relatives and friends, altar candles and baskets of white gladioli, accented with pink carnations, formed the chancel setting. The pews were marked with white bells suspended from blue satin bows.

The bride is a daughter of Mr. and Mrs. Fred Larson of Middle River. Parents of the groom are Mr. and Mrs. Alton Sparby of Grygla.

Rev. Philip Peterson officiated at the double ring ceremony. Organist was Mrs. Lawrence Johnson, a cousin of the bride. She played the traditional nuptial selections and also accompanied the vocalists. Prior to the ceremony, Mrs. Richard Luoto, a friend of the bride, sang "The Song of Ruth" and during the ceremony, Jerry Sparby, a brother of the groom, sang "The Wedding Prayer. As the couple knelt at the altar, he sang "The Lord's Prayer" and before the recessional, he was joined by Mrs. Rick Larson, a sister-in-law of the bride, in singing "O Perfect Love."

The bride was escorted to the altar and given in marriage by her father. She was attired in a floor-length gown of lace and taffeta featuring a watteau train styled with a scalloped border accented with lace and sequins. The fitted bodice, designed with long sleeves and a scalloped neckline, topped the bouffant taffeta skirt, edged at the scalloped neckline with lace and pearlized sequins. Her double tiered veil fell from a floral headpiece of net petals and pearl leaves, enhanced by crystals, pearls and sequins. She carried a cascading bouquet of red roses, centered with a large white chrysanthemum.

Serving the bride as her personal attendant was her sister-in-law, Mrs. Rick Larson of Thornton, Colo.

Miss Jeanette Lunsetter of Gatzke, a friend of the couple, was maid of honor. Other attendants were Miss Sheryl Newman of Thief River Falls, a cousin of the bride who served as bridesmaid; Karen Sparby, a sister of the groom who was junior attendant; and Jacqueline Larson, a niece of the bride, who was the flower girl.

All were attired in A-line, street-length gowns of blue taffeta featuring blue chiffon overdresses with long sleeves and high rounded necklines marked by blue sequins. Their matching headpieces were blue taffeta bows with chiffon veils. Each carried a solitary white chrysanthemum.

Attending the groom as best man was his brother, Robert Sparby of Grygla. Groomsman was Steven Larson, a brother of the bride, and the junior attendant was Steven Sparby, a brother of the groom. Jeffrey Sparby of Minneapolis, a cousin of the groom, was ring bearer. Seating the guests were Rick Larson of Thornton, Colo, a brother of the bride, and Dennis Sparby, a brother of the groom. Brothers of the groom, James and David Sparby, served as acolytes and gift bearers. All the men of the wedding party wore white dinner jackets and dark trousers. The groom's boutonniere was a red rose from the bride's bouquet. Blue carnation boutonnieres were worn by his attendants.

For her daughter's wedding, Mrs. Larson chose a beige dress complimented by brown accessories. The mother of the groom was attired in a blue ensemble with black accessories. Both wore corsages of red sweetheart roses and white baby carnations and foliage. Similar corsages were worn by Mrs. Alma Hanson, grandmother of the bride, and Mrs. Alfred Sparby, grandmother of the groom.

A reception in the church parlors followed the ceremony. Serving as host and hostesses were Mr. and Mrs. Walter Lunsetter, friends of the couple. Members of the Ruth circle of the First Lutheran Church Women were in charge of the serving.

The four-tiered wedding cake, baked and decorated by Mrs. Arne Tuura, was cut and served by Mrs. Vernon Stardig of Vergas, a friend of the bride, and Mrs. Wallace Sparby of Thief River Falls, an aunt of the groom. Pouring were Mrs. Hans Newman of Thief River Falls, aunt of the bride, and Mrs. Eddie Engelstad of Gatzke, great aunt of the groom.

Presiding at the guest book was Miss Julie Sorter, a friend of the couple. Mr. and Mrs. Lowell Anderson of Moorhead served the punch and Miss Gerry Olson of Middle River, pinned the corsages.

Mrs. Andrew Shantz of Badger was in charge of the gift table. Waitresses were Nancy Sparby of Minneapolis, Junelle Sparby of Thief River Falls, cousins of the groom; Diane Shantz of Badger, friend of the bride; Bonnie Bengston of Thief River Falls, cousin of the bride, and Jo le Moen of Middle River, friend of the couple.

Out-of-town relatives and friends attending were from Thornton, Colo.; Grand Forks, N. D.; Minneapolis, Moorhead, Gatzke, Grygla, Badger, Roseau, Thief River Falls, Stephen, Hallock, Nielsville, Newfolden, Red Lake Falls, Mentor, Argyle, Hastings, Bemidji, Karlstad and Foley.

Both the bride and groom are graduates of Middle River high school. The groom is also a graduate of the Northland State Junior college, in Thief River Falls, where the bride was also enrolled.

The newly-weds are now at home at Cyrus. Both are attending the University of Minnesota at Morris. The bride is enrolled as a sophomore and the groom is a junior.

WCTU Institute Emphasizes Love For Neighbors

"What it means to love our neighbor today" was the theme of the annual WCTU Institute held at the United Methodist church in Thief River Falls on Wednesday, April 16. This theme was echoed in the devotional message given by Miss Anna Koglin. She read scripture passages from Matthew 5:43-45; 22:36-39 and 25:35-46, referring to the teachings of Jesus. She stated that people must be concerned with the problems of others, emphasizing that not everyone has a good job or enough to eat. Miss Koglin concluded by reading again Christ's admonition, "Inasmuch as ye have done it unto one of the least of these my bretheren, ye have done it unto me."

To correspond with the theme, Miss Koglin's sister, Elsie, sang "Going Through the Land." Miss Agnes Longren played the organ accompaniment.

Mrs. Wilbur Geary of Pipestone, WCTU State president, was the guest speaker. She gave a report, including sidelights, regarding pertinent bills coming up in the legislature. In her comments on the progress of the Women's Christian Temperance Union, she stated that since its formation almost 100 years ago, there are units in 72 countries and on every continent. Mrs. Geary also announced that the state convention will be held in Cokato in October of this year and that United States will host the World's WCTU convention in 1971.

Mrs. Robert McWaters of Crookston, district president, presided at the Institute. She reminded those attending of the Youth Temperance education week proclaimed for April 20-26 by Governor Harold LeVander. She stated that former President Lyndon B. Johnson gave national recognition in 1967 when he issued a proclamation for National YTC Week.

It was also announced that the membership dues have been raised to $3.65 a year, or a penny-a-day.

Lunch was served by the two hosting units, the WCTU of Thief River Falls and the Alice Mae Stewart unit of Hazel.

Agassiz Pools Aid Lower Area Of Thief River

release the spring run-off, Agassiz is placing the investment in property and management methods in jeopardy.

"The time has come for all the people in this watershed to take a close look at the present problem," Lipke said, "and a potential worse problem if we continue to pour increased volumes of water into our drainage-ways. The refuge has kept from releasing too large a volume of water in most years, and has afforded needed protection to people along the Thief and Red Lake rivers.

"However, the refuge has reached a "physical limitation" in the amount of flood water that it can store. Individuals in the upper reaches of the watershed talk about new drainage and new ditches. A proposed ditch in the Fourtown area may bring additional water into the Thief river, compounding problems here."

During the run-off period, all of the refuge's water releases into the Thief river were held to a minimum. Flow from other off-refuge ditches was keeping the river channel full and preventing the refuge from making any major water releases without causing flooding downstream.

Northeast pools are generally small and filled rapidly. Water crested there April 14, just in time to save the dikes which were in danger of being washed out. Some emergency dike build-up was necessary where water was coming over Webster pool dike. All emergency spillways had two to three feet of water passing over them, limiting travel to heavy, high-wheeled, four-wheel drive, vehicle. Pools were checked several times a day.

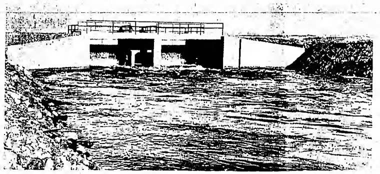
By Wednesday the water had reached the southwest portion of the refuge and posed threats to those pools. Headquarters pool just east of refuge headquarters was about to top the dike. Levels increased despite maximum releases from that pool.

Agassiz pool, which contains the largest storage capacity of all the refuge pools, was rising at the rate of .35 to .40 foot per day until last Thursday. Water through the three spillways on Agassiz was one to two feet deep and had only to pass through one more pool before hitting the Thief river.

As a last resort to store water and spare damage downstream, Agassiz management personnel decided to close Green Stump pool and allow larger water releases from the rising Agassiz pool. Green Stump had been scheduled for draw-down this summer in the refuge's management program.

Mercifully, there was no rainfall of any consequence in the watershed during the critical period. With a little more time and a little more favorable weather, Agassiz can survive its spring trial by water without irreparable damage. But it cannot be expected to do so forever.

Decisions are now being made on methods which can be used on the refuge to prevent some of the problems. These include construction of a control on the Mud river diversion where it leaves Ditch 11. Opposition is anticipated from upstream. Downstream, however, residents can be thankful the refuge was able to hold back the water which otherwise would have spilled onto their property this year.



CONTROL STRUCTURE on judicial ditch 11 at Agassiz National Wildlife refuge has been used to manage the release of water into the Thief river during this year's rapid spring break-up. Rising water levels at the refuge crested late last week, finally resulting in the staff being able to release as much water from the refuge as was coming in. Holding capacity of the refuge pools—pushed to the limit of dike safety—enabled property along the Thief river below the refuge to be protected from flooding. This control structure gives the refuge much better control over water levels than the much smaller structure it replaced about a year ago.

SPILLWAYS designed for emergency use got a real workout during the spring run-off at Agassiz National Wildlife refuge. Howard Lipke, assistant manager at the refuge, is shown crossing one of the spillways with one of the refuge's two four-wheel drive trucks. Personnel at the refuge expressed concern for permanent dikes and the effect of water retention in relation to the unit's primary purpose of waterfowl production.

"Dear George:

When you open a new market you never know what to expect. In fact, it will take several months before we'll have a real good idea of just what to look for in the way of volume. We do know that we'll be at the Joppru Livestock Market every Tuesday morning between the hours of 8:00 a.m. and Noon to buy top quality feeder pigs. We believe that you'll find our market to be one of the best markets for the 40 pound and heavier, smooth, castrated and healed feeder pigs.

All pigs are bought according to their actual weight. There is no guesswork. Neither are there any commissions. No commission or other charges are deducted from the price you receive.

We'll be paying $16.50 on the 40 pound pigs again this coming week with 15 cents a pound for the pounds above 40 up to 60 and 10 cents a pound for the pounds above 60.

Bring your pigs to the Joppru Livestock Market on Tuesday morning between 8:00 a.m. and noon.

In Memoriam

A Letter From Heaven

I am home in heaven, dear children, from the sight of Dad, my dearest, Oh so happy and so bright; There is perfect joy and beauty in this ever lasting life. All my pain and grief is over, every restless tossing passed; I am now at peace forever, safely home in heaven at last. Did you wonder and so calmly trod the valley of the shade. Oh, but Jesus love illumined every dark and fearful glade and he came himself to meet me in that way so hard to tread and with Jesus arm to lean. Then you must not grief so sorely, for I love you dearly still there is still work for you, so you must not idly stand, do it now, while life remainth when all your work is all completed, he will gently call you home. Oh the rapture of that meeting, Oh the joy to see you come. Husband Knute and my dear children and my brothers-in-law and their wives and two sisters-in-law. Sent in by Daughter Helen. 1t23p

Smeby Hurls, Bats Goodridge to Victory

by Bob Wielinski
Times Sports Writer

Goodridge Huskies, behind the pitching and hitting of senior Jim Smeby, opened their 1969 baseball season on Monday with a 7-1 win over the Fisher Flyers. Smeby hurled a one-hitter and collected two base hits, driving in two of the seven runs scored by the Huskies.

The lone run off Smeby came in the first inning as lead off batter John Engel drew a walk, stole second and came home on a ground out. Engel also collected the only hit of the game against Smeby as he singled to left field in the sixth inning.

During the contest Smeby was in complete control as he struck out eight, walked only one batter and had five assists in the field. Except for Engel's hit to left, the only ball hit out of the infield was a fly ball to left which was caught for an out in the fifth inning.

The Huskies made a bid for a tie in their half of the first inning but failed to score. Brian Wiseth reached first on an error and Smeby singled to center. Wiseth, coming home from first on the play, was thrown out on a perfect throw from the Flyers centerfielder Tim Wagner to catcher Bill Rutherford.

The Huskies got on the scoreboard in the third inning as they chased starting pitcher Kent Gunderson from the mound. The first six batters he faced in the frame reached base safely.

Dave Dahlen led off the inning by drawing a walk, stole second and moved to third on a wild pitch. Wiseth drew a walk and both rode home on Smeby's double to left-center, putting the Huskies ahead 2-1. Another wild pitch by Gunderson moved Smeby to third, and Ray Moisbeorger singled to left to drive in Smeby with the Huskies' third run of the inning. Roger Blaine followed with a single putting men on first and second for the Huskies, who then pulled a double steal with Moisbeorger moving to third and Blaine to second.

Both advanced on a third wild pitch by Gunderson, with Moisbeorger coming home with the fourth run of the inning. Steve Hoite drew a walk and Fisher replaced Gunderson with Loren Haake. A grounder to Haake by Gary Anderson provided the Huskies with their final run of the inning, as Blaine raced home when Haake threw Anderson out at first. In that inning the Huskies scored five runs on three base hits.

The Huskies added their final two runs in the sixth inning off the Flyers' third pitcher, Pete Anderson. A walk to Don Wilkens, a fielder's choice and an error provided the Huskies with two runs in the inning and a 7-1 lead going into the final frame.

Fisher pitching allowed only five hits but walked eight batters, threw three wild pitches and only struck out three Huskies in the game.

Goodridge is back in action today (Wednesday) as they travel to Thief River Falls to meet the Prowlers in a 5 p.m. game at the fairgrounds. Coach Glen Peters indicated on Monday that he may use two or three pitchers in that game against the Prowlers.

Prowler-Jaycee Invitational

Thief River Falls Jaycees, through the cooperation of Lincoln high school, will stage an invitational track meet on Saturday, May 3, at the Prowler track in Thief River Falls.

Head Prowler coach Jim Sims indicated that 16 teams are invited to the meet, along with the host Prowlers, making it a possible 17 team event. The meet will be staged in place of the annual Snowball invitational usually held by the Prowlers.

Sims indicated that the meet, if all teams choose to participate, should be one of the toughest invitational meets in the area this year.

Some of the teams that have been invited are Warroad, Warren, Oslo, Red Lake Falls, Plummer, Middle River, Greenbush, Stephen, Bagley, Crookston, Ada, East Grand Forks, Bemidji and Fosston.

The meet is scheduled to begin with field events at 9:30 a.m., and it is expected that most of the finals in the running events will be held in the afternoon in the all-day event.

Schedule Set

Thief River Falls Prowler basketball coach Whitey Olson indicated last week that the schedule for the 1969-70 season is set with five different schools being added this year that weren't on the schedule this past year. Five schools were dropped from last year's schedule.

Gone next year will be Detroit Lakes, Oslo, Littlefork-Big Falls, Fargo North and Fargo South.

Replacing these will be Breckenridge, Dilworth, Mentor, Karlstad and Kennedy. The Prowlers open the season away this year against Breckenridge and open their home season and second time out against Kennedy.

It was also noted that the Prowlers won't be playing Grand Forks Central this year in football. The Prowlers replaced the Redskins with East Grand Forks Sacred Heart, along with the other teams that appeared on the schedule this past year. Bemidji is scheduled for the first or second home game of the season this year in September, and the Prowlers will open at Dilworth at the end of August.

Twins will play Houston in the annual Hall of Fame game on July 28th in Cooperstown.

DRIVER OF THIS VEHICLE, Allen Iverson, escaped injury on Monday afternoon when he tried to avoid hitting another vehicle. His car rolled over into the ditch. According to police officials at the scene of the accident, Iverson was going west on Third street when a car driven by Earl Gjerdes, city, entered the highway from Brooks avenue, going north. Iverson applied his brakes and his car went out of control, landing in the ditch. He was taken to a local clinic where he was checked and released. Damage to the car was estimated at $600.

WORKING ON HIS FORM is one of the Thief River Falls Prowler shot putters. The Prowlers are working hard outdoors now and hope to win the Prowler and Jaycee invitational meet to be held here May 3. The meet is expected to bring some 16 teams to compete. Thief River Falls Jaycees are co-sponsors with the Prowlers. The Prowlers are in action today (Wednesday) with an indoor meet at Crookston and travel to Grand Forks on Saturday to take part in the Sioux outdoor meet.

Two Favorites Picked To Win Northwest Loop

One familiar face and one newcomer may dominate the Northwest conference baseball race this spring, according to advance reports.

In the six seasons since baseball was added as an official league sport, Bemidji and Thief River Falls have dominated the league race, with the Lumberjacks winning three titles, Thief River Falls two and the two teams splitting the sixth title.

Bemidji seems likely to make a strong run for the title again this spring with its strongest opposition expected to come from Crookston, which has been in the loop's cellar the past three years.

Bemidji Preview

Bemidji returns a veteran squad with six starters from its 1968 team. These include the battery of Tom Hill and Ernie Blackburn. Larry Shadlow is back at shortstop, while Tom Reise has moved from the outfield to third base this year. Jim Yost and Dave Rose are the other two returning lettermen, both in the outfield. Newcomers up from the 'B' team a year ago include Gary Sargent and Dan Dokken at first and second while Mike Thompson is battling Jeff Baumgartner, a transfer from Roseau, for the left field position.

Crookston Outlook

Crookston has six starters back among nine lettermen and is out to improve on a 6-10 record and 1-5 league mark. One of the Pirates' chief weapons is strong righthander Ron Brown, a three-year regular. Ron Muir returns behind the plate while Ryan Branti and Ken Porter will offer fine protection at short and second. Other veterans include infielders Jerry Wermager and Charles Reynolds and outfielder Paul Barnes, Jim Seilberg and Morris Pearson. Banti is also listed as a pitcher on the squad.

Prowler Hopes

Defending champion Thief River Falls has 10 lettermen back but only two were regulars. Dana Stromberg will take over the main hurling duties from graduated Tom Tunberg and Dennis Ptacek. Tony Johnson will be at shortstop while Don Balmer, who started half of last season's games, returns behind the plate. Otherwise, the Prowlers have been going with Tim Duke at first, his brother Tom at second and Gordy Peterson at third. Track lettermen Bruce Broughton and Dennis Johnson inherit two of the outfield spots with Steve Daley in the third. Other pitchers include Tony Johnson, Tim Duke and southpaws Danny Sullivan and Ken Lindquist.

Roseau Preview

Roseau has seven lettermen and five starters back, losing R'Lynn Erickson and Tim Weston to graduation, Baumgartner to Bemidji and Roger Markstrom in an auto accident. Key performers figure to be pitcher Leland Petersch, second sacker Sheldon Hedlund, shortstop Mike Kvarnlov and third baseman Earl Anderson. Paul Anderson or Bill Beamon will handle first with Tim Delmore behind the plate. Outfield candidates include Mitchum Brandt, Dale Smedsmo, Paul Severson, Mike Broten and John Wilkens.

Last year's final standings were as follows:

Thief River Falls	5	1	.
Bemidji	4	2	1
Roseau	2	4	3
Crookston	1	5	4

Jewels for thought

by Phil Hess

Governor LeVander has declared April 20th to April 27th as Youth Temperance Education Week. Most of our citizen's consider the loss of young lives in the Vietnam War so tragic that it is the Number one problem of our country. After reading "Tell It Like It Is" maybe we Americans should be concerned about the billions being spent that create society problems?

THINK ABOUT IT!

"TELL IT LIKE IT IS"

TELL IT LIKE IT IS

This frank expression could lead to changes in "Vital Statistics". A drinking-driver is in an accident. The death certificate may state the cause as "traffic accident". Dr. Abram Bennett, U. of California School of Medicine, reports, "Alcohol would be listed as the third largest killer in the U.S., if we could evaluate all the direct and indirect causes of death in which it is involved." (Listen Oct. '68). A heavy smoker may die of lung cancer, which is listed as the cause. What caused the "cause"?

LIKE IT IS: Ever hear "Alcohol is a Food?" NO, it is NOT a food. It cannot produce growth, energy, nor warmth. Heard, "Alcohol is a Stimulant?" No, it is NOT a stimulant. It is a Narcotic Depressant. Brain cells are numbed, causing a short-circuit in the nervous system. The user feels LESS, thinking he feels BETTER. Brain cells killed, NEVER REVIVE. According to Dr. Melvin Knisley, professor of Anatomy, Medical School of S. Carolina, "When a drinker begins to feel giddy, a few of his brain cells are being killed. A heavy drinking bout can damage or destroy as many as 10,000 such cells". (Alcohol at the Wheel-Seliger, School and College Service).

SAFETY: Blood Concentration at 0.05 per cent (about 2 or 3 drinks) impairs to some degree, the driving ability of most individuals; at a concentration of 0.10 per cent (5 or 6 drinks), all individuals' abilities are definitely impaired. (Minnesota recognizes 0.10 per cent blood-alcohol as "under the influence"). Nat. Safety Council Report) Roughly, a 12 ounce bottle of beer contains as much alcohol as an ounce of whisky. In the next 43 days, automobiles will kill as many and injure 22 times as many, as all the Vietnam fighting in 1968. (Nat. Foundation for Highway Safety) 55 to 70 per cent of these accidents will be because someone was drinking. (Traveler's Insurance)

COST: Americans spent 14½ BILLIONS FOR LIQUOR-'67-'68. 500,000 new alcoholics are made every year. It takes a human being plus alcohol to make an alcoholic. There are an estimated 10,000,000 alcoholics and pre-alcoholic drinkers in the U.S. now. In industry, absenteeism due to alcohol costs between 2 and 5 BILLION a year. The 35 Billion drink costs and losses are more than six times the 5 billion dollars gained in taxes. 10,000 persons die of hunger every day throughout the world, while America grinds 10,000 tons of grain and other food products to make alcoholic beverages every day. (American Issue, Sept. '68-Signal Press, Aug. '68).

CRIME: The President's Crime Commission affirms that alcohol contributes to 50 per cent of all crimes in the U.S.; most lawmen say it is more. Alcohol admittedly contributed to the recent rioting. (American Issue, Nov. '68) LSD: LSD is so dangerous, that even the doctors have given up experimenting with it. The federal House has voted to stiffen penalties for illegal traffic in drugs like LSD, ranging from $1,000 fine and one year in prison, to 3 years in prison, and $10,000. (Listen News, Dec. '68).

CIGARETTES: More than 60,000 Americans will get lung cancer this year. Nearly 75 per cent of them will be dead within twelve months. Cigarette smoking may be declining for the first time since Surgeon General's report in 1964, linking smoking with cancer. The size of the reduction suggests that there may be about 1,250,000 fewer smokers currently than a year ago, despite the increase in population of 5 million. (Public Health Survey, U.S.)

NATIONAL LEGAL EXPENDITURES (Consumers): Pub. July '68: U.S. Dept. of Commerce, Nat'l Safety Council; F.B.I.

Crime	30 Billion
Alcoholic Beverages	14.5 Billion
Milk Products	14 Billion
Motor Accidents	10.7 Billion
Tobacco	9.3 Billion
Religious Activities	6.8 Billion

MINNESOTA: For the fiscal year '67-'68, records showed that Minnesotans drank 5,880,742 GALLONS of spirits and wines or 2.5 gallons per person. They also drank 80,655,423 GALLONS of beer or 16.76 gallons per person. Revenues from licenses, taxes, permits, that period were 25.9 MILLION. Accidents in '67 cost the people of the state an estimated $199 MILLION. Total traffic fatalities in the calendar year of '68 were 1044, an all-time high. Crimes recorded each year have shown a continuous increase since 1959. During '66-'67, violent crimes increased 41.5 per cent; crimes against property increased 22.9 per cent. Minnesota has 514 beds in tax-supported centers for treatment of alcoholics-(Biennial Report). Increasingly, modern medicine emphasizes PREVENTION, rather than CURE. "TELL IT!"

SLOT CAR RACING will be one of the attractions at the Pied Piper recreation center which will be open for inspection Friday from 7 to 9 p.m. in Thief River Falls. The center is open to people of all ages and is located at 212½ LaBree av. N., in the area formerly occupied by the vocational-technical school business department.

JEAN SIMMONS looks on as George Peppard and Dean Martin engage in a serious game of poker in "Rough Night In Jericho," a Martin Rackin production for Universal photographed in Technicolor. The thrilling, excitement-packed dramatic adventure story will be shown Friday through April 25 at the Satellite drive-in theatre. First show is at dusk.

Flax Growers to Seek Prize for 1969 Production

A $1,000 cash prize awaits the 1969 champion flax grower of Minnesota, North Dakota and South Dakota.

According to the rules of the second annual flax growers' contest sponsored by the Flax Development committee, every farmer will have an equal chance because results will be judged against the 10-year average flax yield for his county. The grower who increases his yield-per-acre by the greatest percentage over the 1958-67 average will be named champion.

The same system of judging will be used to select the three area champions and runners-up. These will each receive $500 and $250 respectively.

To qualify, a grower must seed a minimum of 20 acres of flax on non-irrigated land in one of the eligible counties. From this planting, a plot of not less than five or more than six acres must be measured and harvested. Measurement and harvesting must be witnessed by the county agricultural agent or his assistant, vo-ag instructor, qualified ASC or SCS personnel, or by the county chairman or an appointed representative of the county Farm Bureau, Farmers Union, NFO or Grange.

The 1968 winner of the $1,000 first prize was Harold Blumhardt of McIntosh county, North Dakota, with a yield of 28.56 bushels per acre on his 5.01 acre plot.

Entry blanks may be obtained at local elevators, and must be completed and mailed by July 12, 1969. All yield data and information on production practices is submitted after harvest and becomes the property of the state agricultural extension service.

The competition is sponsored in the interest of better farming by the Flax Development committee in cooperation with the Minnesota agricultural extension service. According to a Flax Development committee spokesman, purpose of the contest is not to obtain an increased acreage or greater total production, but rather to encourage growing practices which will make flax a more profitable crop for Minnesota farmers.

In Minnesota, the contest is offered only in the following counties: Becker, Big Stone, Chippewa, Clay, Douglas, Grant, Kittson, Lac Qui Parle, Lincoln, Lyon, Mahnomen, Marshall, Norman, Ottertail, Pennington, Polk, Pope, Red Lake, Roseau, Stevens, Swift, Traverse, Wilkin and Yellow Medicine.

Vacation travel on interstate highways has increased 23 per cent every year for the past five years—and is expected to duplicate this growth rate for at least the next decade. Business use has also soared—65 per cent of all interstate travelers surveyed were on business trips.

Many Two-Wheel Vehicles Illegal On Public Roads

Parents who are planning to let their children have motorized bicycles should look carefully into the law first, Minnesota Highway Patrol Chief John J. Harbinson warned today.

"It has come to our attention that mini-bikes are being marketed in Minnesota that do not meet the equipment requirements for motorcycles under Minnesota law, and that they are being sold for use by drivers not old enough to qualify for the Minnesota driver license.

"All motorized two or three-wheeled vehicles having saddles for driver and passenger are motorcycles under Minnesota law. No person can drive a motorcycle on a public roadway without a regular Minnesota driver license and a motorcycle endorsement. The minimum age for a driver license is 19 if the applicant has passed an approved driver education course, and 16 otherwise."

Dealers who sell mini-bikes admit that they are sold for use on private property exclusively, and are not designed or intended for use on public thorough-fares.

"While such vehicles can be driven on private grounds without licenses," Harbinson pointed out, "suitable privately owned grounds are scarce in urban areas. Even in rural areas they may prove hard to find, and there is always the temptation to use the roadways. Simply crossing a public roadway by an unlicensed driver is a violation of the law."

Chief Harbinson also asked parents to remember that the licensing restriction is a safety measure. When the legislature raised the minimum age from 15 to 16 for operating a motor scooter, one of the main reasons for the change was concern for the safety of young people," he said.

Two New Stamps To Go on Sale

Two new stamps will go on sale soon for U. S. stamp collectors desiring first day cancellations. Both are six-cent stamps.

One is the fourth in the "American Folklore" series, and will be first placed on sale at Washington, D.C., on May 1, during Senior Citizens month. The stamp reproduces a detail of "July Fourth," which Grandma Moses painted in 1951 at the age of 91. The painting hangs in the White House.

Greeted by Governor—

Paper Firm to Build New Plant on Airlake Park Site Near Twin Cities

LAKEVILLE, MINN. — Ground breaking ceremonies attended by Minnesota Gov. Harold LeVander and other public officials recently, marked the beginning of a new Menasha Corp. Corrugated Container Plant at Airlake Industrial Park near Lakeville.

In welcoming the 120 year-old corporation to Minnesota, LeVander stated that Minnesotans "spend a great deal of money" educating their young people and "we want to have jobs to keep them in Minnesota.

"You are participating," said LeVander, "in a part of our program of providing jobs for our good, well trained and educated Minnesota people."

Employment at the Lakeville plant at start up is estimated at 100 plus, and is expected to increase with sales.

Just 25 miles south of the Twin Cities, Airlake Park is a new concept in industrial sites and the first in Minnesota which puts paved runways at the doors of its industries.

Menasha's new plant will be the first large industrial complex to be built at Airlake Park. Although several smaller manufacturers now occupy some of the available 1,500 acres, the Menasha plant, due for completion and full operation by early 1970, will occupy the largest single tract of land.

The company's new 150,000 sq. ft. building will house a new manufacturing and office complex located on 20 acres adjacent to airport buildings. The site offers immediate access to two rail lines, Interstate 35W and a 5,000 ft. airport runway. The Twin Cities are only 30 minutes away by car.

Airlake Industrial Park is a division of Hitchcock Industries, Inc., a Minneapolis-based corporation principally engaged in casting non-ferrous metals. Hitchcock Ind., according to Vice President, Maynard Johnson, acquired the 1,500 acre site in 1966, and, presently have eight companies located in the park and several new plants scheduled for construction this year.

Although Menasha has had container product sales representation and warehousing facilities in Minnesota since the 1920's, this will be its first container manufacturing plant. The company once operated wooden-ware factories in Mankato, Sauk Centre and Minneapolis.

Menasha Corp. manufactures corrugated containers, paper board, plastics, lumber and refined wood fibres. They have plants and offices in Oregon, Washington, Calif., Ill., Mich., Ohio, Mass. and Wis. Corporate headquarters are located at Neenah, Wis.

Interstate routes carry 30 per cent of rural traffic, and 70 per cent of all traffic between states. By 1972 these figures will increase to be 40 and 90 per cent, respectively.

State highway departments are now authorized to install limited numbers of sign panels along rural Interstate mileage to tell motorists which brands of gasoline and what restaurants and places of lodging can be found near the next interchange. Each state must now decide whether to install the panels.

Forty-two per cent of travelers listed signs as chief information sources in selecting a motel; 32 per cent said maps and guidebooks; 12 per cent had prior reservations and the remainder asked locally for shelter recommendations.

Time was when people tried all sorts of things to disguise their room air conditioner so they could hide that cold "appliance" look. Buying an air conditioner today, however, is an entirely new experience — as this young miss has discovered. She can now be comfortably cool without being decoratively left in the cold.

Her only problem is one of selection. Should she take a voyage to the Aegean Islands from her living room, or should she visit the waterways of Venice? Or perhaps she'd like a touch of the "Old World" in her den?

Air conditioner manufacturers have created an excitingly new appearance for their product, and the homeowner is now offered front decorator panels with an infinite variety of woodgrain finishes, detailed patterns and attractive designs. One manufacturer — Chrysler Airtemp — has gone a step further by introducing colorful "Old World" scenic landscapes.

The three scenic panels pictured on the right are a first in the industry, and can be had with Airtemp's high-styled Imperial room air conditioner. The panels are actual reproductions of three exquisite art pieces from the James Seeman Collection.

The remaining panels in the photo are of the more conventional designs, but offer an extra treat for the woman who likes to change her decor frequently. They are reversible. In a very simple operation, you can slip out the panel, reverse it, and replace it again. Or you can replace it with another panel.

There are even panels available for the person who wishes to use his own imaginative ideas. Airtemp, for instance, offers a panel with a mocha-tan enamel finish to which you can apply any decorative paper or fabric with an adhesive backing. You can even paint your own design.

Yes, buying a room air conditioner today is certainly different than it used to be.

Free University Is No Cost To State Taxpayers

Taxpayers can't complain about the cost of the Free University. It doesn't cost them a cent, reports Patricia Juliani of the University of Minnesota news service.

The Free University, centered on the west bank of the University of Minnesota, has no tuition, no required papers, no fulltime faculty and no graduation. There is no pass or fail pressure on the students.

Though the west bank area is commonly thought of as a hippie retreat, a haven for the "turned-off" generation, Free University students are "turned on" to learning for its own sake, not just for a diploma.

The Free University has no formal structure. Its students are constantly re-defining its purpose. In fact, they seem to be more sure of what it isn't than what it is. There are no bored professors on tenure who are no longer excited about teaching. Students don't have to take courses that don't interest them. Courses are developed by people who are interested in the subject. Often an instructor at a nearby college will decide that he would like to teach a course. If there is sufficient interest, the course is started. It is as simple as that.

The Free University is an answer for people who want an education, but can't afford to attend a regular college. Many of its students are young mothers and older students who have dropped out of school. Because the classes are held in the evenings, they are convenient for students who are enrolled in another school.

"We aren't trying to put down the regular university," says David Christofferson, one of the volunteer coordinators who puts out the free monthly newspaper that serves as a class bulletin. "It's just that the university has become a trade school. People go there to get a degree, to get a job, to fit into the system. The real purpose of education is lost somewhere.

"The Free University promotes the idea that education is more than preparation for life: education is life."

It is possible to receive university credit for courses taken at the Free University. This involves getting the approval of the chairman of the department in which the course would logically be offered and taking a special examination at the close of the course.

The Free University exists on contributions, but very little money is needed to run it. Classrooms are furnished by some of the religious foundations on campus and by the Coffeehouse Extempore, on the west bank. This year the Minnesota student association and the union board of governors at the university donated some money for publicity and part-time secretarial help.

Some of the courses offered by the Free University are revolutionary non-violence, the philosophy of Bertrand Russell, child psychology—for children and American foreign policy.

Veterans Group Seeks United Front on Laws

Veterans will be organized into "Veterans for Political Action" committees in every county in Minnesota as a result of an emergency meeting of the United Veterans of Minnesota held in the conference room, office of the commissioner of veterans affairs, St. Paul, recently, according to Harry W. Wilson, Minneapolis, chairman of the veterans group. The United Veterans is an organization composed of the commanders of the major veterans organizations in Minnesota to present a united veterans program to the legislature.

The action stems from that portion of the proposals contained in the omnibus bill, H.F. 1063, which calls for reorganization and operation of state government that would eliminate the department of veterans affairs as a separate department and place the services of that department under the proposed department of health and social services.

According to Wilson, the proposal is directly opposite of the intention of the legislature when the department of veterans affairs was established in 1943. At that time the legislature recognized that because of the nature of the programs for veterans, it was feasible and proper that a separate department be established to perform the special work that is associated with veterans. Previous to that time, it was necessary that veterans contact a number of offices in order to process their claims.

One-stop service to veterans is provided in 46 states through like departments, and the Veterans administration handles like service on the national level, Wilson observed.

Because of their service to the state and nation, veterans wish to retain their identity through the department of veterans affairs, according to Wilson. Proponents of the omnibus bill make no claim to either improve service or to reduce the cost of that service, Wilson notes.

Smelt Run to Start Soon in Duluth Area

The smelt run is on!

They've started harvesting the silvery little fish by the millions on Lake Superior's beaches and streams. Smelt will soon arrive at local stores in plentiful quantities.

In a time of rising prices, smelt are a welcome relief. Their low price plus high food value make smelt one of the best buys of the year. In a delicacy that is nutritious and a joy to serve and eat.

At Duluth, the "smelt capital", the catch will likely exceed 2,000,000 pounds. Other Great Lakes areas and New England will account for about 9,000,000 more. The harvest is divided between nets of commercial and sports fishermen.

Smelt are not native to the Great Lakes, but have flourished in fresh water. Heavy concentrations of the fish in Lake Superior were first noted in the late 1940's. Great Lakes smelt population probably resulted from a planting of smelt in Crystal Lake, Michigan, in 1912.

The North American smelt (osmerus mordax) is related to salmon, grayling and trout. Its maximum size is 14 to 15 inches, but smelt average eight to 12 fish to a pound. There are closely-related fish on the Pacific coast where four similar types occur, on the Labrador coast, where the Arctic smelt, called capelin, is common, and in Europe.

The smelt's name is derived from the Anglo-Saxon "smeolt" meaning "smooth and shining."

The annual spring spawning run lasts about three weeks, normally reaching a climax late in April at Duluth. Peaks may occur slightly earlier or later depending on location and weather conditions. Heaviest runs usually occur at night, and often in squally or snowy weather. Spring storms in Norway are known as nors-il, which translated means "smelt squall."

Smelt have always enjoyed great popularity in New England. Capt. John Smith wrote in 1622, "... of smelts there is such abundance that the savages doe take them up the rivers with baskets like sives." Smelt have not always been such a bargain as they are today. The price in New England in 1875 was 16 cents a pound, in 1925 45 cents a pound.

Smelt are marketed fresh, either whole or dressed, and frozen. Whole fresh smelt cost the least and gourmets contend that whole smelt keep best. Whether you get them whole or dressed, home economists urge buying in quantity so you can freeze plenty for thrifty meals throughout the year. Smelt are high in protein, low in fat.

Smelt keep well in your freezer. Just dress and seal in a plastic bag. If you want to keep them longer than six months, freeze them in water. A popular method is to load a milk carton with Smelt, fill with water and freeze in a solid block.

Here are two favorite Smelt recipes:

FRENCH FRIED SMELT

2 lbs. fresh or frozen smelt; ½ cup flour; 1 tsp. salt, 1 tsp. paprika; 1 egg beaten with ¼ cup milk, fine bread crumbs.

Combine flour and seasoning in paper bag. Have egg and milk mixture ready in a shallow bowl. Place about 6 thawed fish at a time into bag and shake to coat evenly. Dip each fish into egg mixture, then into bread crumbs. Fry in deep fat (370-375 degrees) three to four minutes or until golden. Drain on absorbent paper. Serves six to eight.

Favorite Fishes

SMELT (Osmerus Mordax)

Originally an ocean fish, the Smelt has flourished in the Great Lakes. Most Smelt are netted on beaches or in streams during spring spawning runs. About 11,000,000 pounds are harvested each year in the U.S. The largest Great Lakes catch is at Duluth which has become known as the "Smelt Capital."

The North American Smelt is a graceful salmonoid fish related to the Grayling and Trout. Jumbo Smelt grow up to 15" in length but most are smaller, averaging 8-12 to a pound. Smelt are easy to catch, have a delicious flavor and are rich in protein.

"OF SMELTS THERE IS SUCH ABUNDANCE THE SAVAGES DOE TAKE THEM WITH BASKETS"

In 1622 Capt. John Smith wrote about the Indians catching smelt on the Atlantic coast. Smelt are commonly fished in New England and the Maritime Provinces. The Labrador coast has the Arctic Smelt or Capelin. There are Smelt similar to ours on the Pacific coast and in Europe.

Fun-fact today: Smelt are inexpensive. Old records show that Smelt were 16c a pound in 1875, 45c a pound in 1925! Because they are now so low in cost they are popular for group feasts such as sportsmen's banquets. Smelt have high food value as well as delicate flavor.

The name Smelt comes from the Anglo Saxon "smeolt" meaning "smooth and shining." Smelt are called Nors in Sweden and Norway, Eperlan in France, Stint in Germany, Sparling in England, Spiering or Spearling in Holland, Norssi or Kuore in Finland, Korjuschka in Russia, Sprattoo in Japan.

French Fried Smelt

2 lbs. fresh or frozen Smelt
½ cup flour
1 tsp. salt
1 tsp. paprika
1 egg beaten with ¼ cup milk
Fine bread crumbs

Combine flour and seasoning in paper bag. Have egg and milk mixture ready in a shallow bowl. Place about 6 thawed fish at a time into bag and shake to coat evenly. Dip each fish into egg mixture then into bread crumbs. Fry in deep fat (370-375°) 3 to 4 minutes or until golden. Drain on absorbent paper. Serves 6-8.

QUICK BAKED SMELT

1 tbsp. salt; ¼ tsp. pepper; ½ tsp. dry mustard; 1½ tsps. Worcestershire sauce; ½ cup milk; 1½ lbs. dressed smelt; 2½ cups crushed wheat flakes; 3 tbsps. melted butter.

Combine salt, pepper, mustard, Worcestershire sauce and milk. Dip the smelt, one at a time, first into the milk mixture, then into the crushed wheat flakes and arrange on a large shallow greased baking pan in one layer. Drizzle melted butter over evenly and bake in a very hot oven (450 degrees) for 15 to 20 minutes. Serve with your favorite sauce or lemon wedges. Serves about four.

Hardware Dealers Object to Change In License Sale

Minnesota residents and vacationers may find it more difficult to find places to buy fish and game licenses, if a recent poll by the Minnesota-Dakotas Retail Hardware association is any indication. Hundreds of Minnesota hardware dealers reportedly have indicated that they would discontinue selling fishing and hunting licenses unless the state conservation department retains the present commission fees paid to the agents that sell the licenses throughout the state of Minnesota.

If the hundreds of hardware stores and other sub agents would discontinue the sale of licenses, all fish and games licenses would have be be purchased at the county auditors office in each county seat town throughout the state.

According to Jack Mueller, executive-director of the Minnesota-Dakotas Hardware association, "This would cause great inconvenience to all sportsmen, as well as result in much higher costs for all Minnesota counties. County auditors would be forced to hire additional personnel in the peak selling periods, and would have to keep much longer hours if the system were to function with anywhere near the present convenient and efficent operation."

According to John Bonhus, president of the association and a Minneapolis hardware dealer, the present fees have been paid by the state of Minnesota since 1924. Since 1924, the state of Minnesota has paid sub-agents an eight per cent fee if the dealer paid cash for the licenses, and five per cent if the dealer got the licenses from his county auditor on a consigned basis. The Minnesota Senate has passed a bill to lower the fees to six per cent for cash payment and four per cent on consignment. A similar bill is awaiting action in the house.

"The handling of fish and game licenses has always been considered a service for the state of Minnesota by hardware dealers," Mueller said, "But we believe it is only fair to be reimbursed somewhat for the time and effort involved."

The best way to tell when a rib roast is done is to use a meat thermometer. Generally, beef is considered rare when roasted to 140 degrees, medium at 160 degrees and well done at 170 degrees.

The "Indestructibility" of U. S. Savings Bonds crosses international boundaries. One person took a $1,000 Bond with him to Cuba, in 1961. Since Government regulations made it illegal for him to hold the Bond, he burried it in the ground. When he left Cuba, he could not bring the Bond back. The Treasury deemed it unrecoverable and a new Bond was issued.

Water Is High On Lake of the Woods Watershed

A small crowd at Warroad last week heard members of the Lake of the Woods control board report that the water content in the watershed serving the lake is about "1000 per cent above what it was last year at this time." It was revealed that water has been let out at the Kenora dam at the maximum possible rate in order to lower the lake in anticipation of the run-off.

Same procedure was used last year, officials said, but the excessively heavy rains during the early summer brought the level up faster than the outlet could take care of the flow.

The high rate of discharge is to be continued to take care of the water content which was called the highest in 41 years in the watershed area. If heavy rains come again during the summer, the lake could still raise to an undesirable level, it was emphasized.

Cold weather has helped slow the runoff and if heavy rains do not come, little trouble is expected because of the precautionary measures taken, J. D. McLeod, assistant deputy minister, Ottawa, Canada, and Lt. Col. M. W. Rees, dupty assistant enginneer, corps of engineers, said.

The men traced the efforts to keep the lake within desirable limits, indicating that it had been maintained within about four feet or less most of the time.

In answer to a statement that the lake has been too high and has been "mismanaged," the men emphasized that if they draw out too much water too early, the low level is more undesirable than higher water. However, if they anticipate a dry year and draw off too little, and get a big rainfall, the high level damages property down stream from the Kenora dam as well as on the lake itself.

Windows of the Soul

Eyes have been called the windows of the soul. Clarity, expression and size—all of these are supposed to reveal character. A child's eyes seem innocent. But small, closely-placed eyes may also indicate deception. Some even say that you can tell a criminal by his eyes.

Calling it nonsense, even scientists find it hard to dispel the old wives' tales that have persisted for centuries.

Eyes, in a certain sense, can be the windows of the soul—precious windows through which you look at life. Don't judge another man by his eyes. Look instead through eyes of understanding and compassion, for in God's sight we are all equal. If your inner vision has been a bit faulty lately, why not start going to church next Sunday?

Well, What Do You Know?

fun, games and knowledge

by MARTHA GLAUBER SHAPP, Editor The New Book of Knowledge

How fast does heat travel through metal?

The speed at which a metal conducts heat varies in different metals. You can demonstrate this using metal rods, thumbtacks, Vaseline and a source of heat (light bulb). Dip the heads of the thumbtacks in Vaseline and hold them against the side of one of the metal rods so that the tacks will stick to the rod. Stick several tacks along the rod, and measure the distance between them. The tacks should be the same distance apart on every metal rod you test. Place one end of the rod on the bulb. As heat travels along the rod it will melt the Vaseline and the tacks will drop off. Note the time that each tack drops off. Repeat the experiment using rods of different metals (copper, aluminum, steel, brass), but of the same thickness. What material conducts heat the fastest?

How can you make an invisible ink?

Carefully squeeze the juice out of a large onion. Add a little water to it. This is your ink. When you have written your message and the ink has dried, hold the paper over a steady flame. The letters will show. Be careful not to hold the paper too close to the flame, or it will catch fire!

Why do animals migrate?

As a rule animals travel over short distances mainly in search of food. They migrate on longer journeys usually for one of two reasons. They may migrate to breed in a more suitable place than where they feed. Or they may migrate because change of season causes food supplies or temperatures to fall too low. The return migration occurs when breeding is over or when the season has changed again.

Can a person get warts from handling a toad?

No, toads do not cause warts. Some people think that toads are covered with warts, which people can catch. But this is not so. The "warts" on a toad are really glands in the skin. They give off poison that protects the toad against its enemies. Human warts are probably caused by a virus.

MINNESOTA FARMERS RECEIVE MILLIONS FOR MALTING BARLEY

MINNESOTA IS A LEADER IN BARLEY PRODUCTION
1,056,000 acres of Minnesota land were planted to barley in 1968. Minnesota ranked second in the United States in production of malting barley in 1967.
The Brewing Industry nationally, uses about 93% of the barley that is malted.

BREWERS AND MALTSTERS PAY PREMIUM PRICES FOR MALTING BARLEY
An average premium of 28¢ per bushel was paid for Top Malting Barley over Top Feed Barley on the Minneapolis Grain Exchange from August, 1967 to August, 1968.
About 28½ million bushels of Minnesota Barley were sold at the Minneapolis Terminal in 1967-68 at an average price approximating $1.28 per bushel totalling nearly $36½ million.
MINNESOTA BREWERIES, ranking 10th in production nationally, contribute to the maintenance of the premium price paid for malting barley WHICH PUTS MILLIONS OF EXTRA DOLLARS IN THE POCKETS OF MINNESOTA FARMERS.

Medical personnel in America's hospitals — particularly nurses — receive an amazing amount of help from industry in keeping up with the latest developments in techniques and materials.

"There is an enormous gap between the production of new hospital products and their actual use on the patient," said William O. Elson, Director of Medical Research for the Hospital Products Division of the Kendall Company, one of America's largest manufacturers of hospital health goods.

"When a product is developed and produced," Elson said, "we must inform hospital people about its existence, its purpose, and the manner in which it is to be used. And we are only returning a favor when we do this; for, in most cases, the product was created by our research scientists only after doctors or nurses pointed out how much it was needed."

The Kendall Company has for several years conducted in-service training programs for nurses. More than 16,000 hospital personnel in 40 different states have received helpful instruction in the advantages, savings, and convenience of Kendall's catheters, special Telfa bandages, and products of all kinds for the modern hospital.

The courses are sponsored by hospital and nursing associations, and nurses and other hospital personnel are urged to attend. Experts in the field of patient-care often must explain the need for forsaking older procedures in favor of new, time- and discomfort-saving techniques, many of which employ products never before in general use.

Patient Is Basic Concern

"Products available to today's hospitals are packaged for individual, specific uses; they are often hypo-allergenic, sterile, non-woven, and, in many other ways, more serviceable, less bothersome, and of more real value to the patient," Elson said.

"We have also found in these seminars that today's hospital staffs are concerned first of all about improving patient-care in every way possible; and, second, about stemming, as much as possible, the mounting costs of such care to the patient. The hospital supply field, aided by doctors and nurses, has made highly important contributions in both areas," Elson concluded.

"When you have a just and reasonable cause, protest all you wish, but remember that there can and should be order and decency in democratic protest. Stand up and be counted when troublemakers try to rob you of your right to an education. If it becomes necessary for the forces of law and order to move in and quell such disturbances, give them your support. For freedom, after all, is nothing more than the right of self-discipline, and when self-discipline is absent and law must take a hand. This is the only way in which freedom can survive." —Dwight D. Eisenhower

What It Takes

"As time goes on, perhaps the greatest obstacle to agricultural progress could be lack of public knowledge of what it takes to grow food and fiber for our expanding population," states Eric Hafer in Industrial News Review. It is a good point.

As Hofer points out, the very efficiency of agriculture in our country has become a handicap. When one farmer is able to feed dozens of his city cousins, it means that comparatively few people know what it takes to grow the things we eat and wear. Abundance is measured in terms of the ability of the pocketbook to purchase foods off the supermarket shelves.

Today's American city dweller is already far enough removed from the land so as to be virtually unaware of the problems, the risks, the investment and the labor of food and fiber production. His children think of milk in cartons rather than from cows, of bread in plastic bags rather than wheat in the field, and clothing from the retailer rather than cotton in the field or wool on the hoof.

And while the city dweller doesn't know what it takes, America's farmers have what it takes. They have the know-how, the ability, the determination and the courage to face tough odds from seeding to harvest. They play a game where there is no tomorrow for work not done today. They feed the notion, accept economic abuse and come back for more.

Ask most farmers why they do it and they will tell you they like it. They like to be their own boss, to succeed on their own merit, to watch things grow, to rear their children in a healthy atmosphere. It's too bad, really, that more city folks won't have the opportunity for the same experience.

Youth Power

Throughout areas of Minnesota which were threatened by floods in the past days and weeks, citizens have been loud in their praise of young people. High school and college students responded to the need for help, and "youth power" was the difference between success and failure in many diking and evacuation situations.

The Wadena Pioneer-Journal stated: "Our faith in the basic responsibilities of the college and high school boys and girls during the recent flood in Fargo and Moorhead has been largely restored after reading of the hell-raising proclivities being indulged in metropolitan centers, principally among our great colleges and universities.

"They turned out practically enmasse in building dikes and otherwise helping to save properties that might have sustained considerable damage by the raging Red river. They turned out in such numbers that older men and women as a rule had little more to do than patrol the dikes and see that materials and food were supplied the workers. One youth seems to have supplied the answer for all the workers when asked why he worked for long hours day after day when he said: 'It could have happened to my home'.

"Many students worked around the clock, indulging in light banter while they applied themselves to the task. Too much cannot be said in praise of their sense of responsibility when the chips were down.

"Yes, there is hope that some day the youths of the nation who have caused so much dissention and loss of millions of dollars worth of property will learn of the Moorhead youths and the wonderful work they have done and are still doing. One is almost tempted to say they may have earned the accolade that nothing now is too good for them."

Adventure has a lure for youth, but filling sandbags and building dikes soon loses its sense of adventure. It becomes hard, back-breaking and tedious work. Young people who rallied to the cause greatly increased their stature in the eyes of the public.

Party Designation

As the Minnesota legislature draws ever closer to its scheduled adjournment, one of the questions again being pushed in some quarters is that of party designation for legislators. In other words, there are groups and individuals who would like to hang Democrat or Republican party labels on our state representatives and senators.

Both political parties think this would be a good idea, and well they might. The closer they get to home with the candidates of their respective party, the closer they get to the pocketbooks of the potential contributors. And if the parties can brand the legislators with a GOP or DFL, they will be more likely to control their actions along party lines—and that is not always best for the people of Minnesota.

There is nothing wrong with local political contributions—in fact, they are the backbone of a good two party system. A party financed by the small contributions of many is more likely to pay attention to the people than one financed by special interest groups. But political parties know it is easier to get contributions where there are local candidates in need of support.

At the present time, the assumption is made by many that the legislature's Conservatives are Republicans and that Liberals are Democrats. In most cases, the assumption would be correct—and that should suffice for those who seek adherence to party lines. But there are many Liberals and Conservatives who believe they can be more effective without party designation, and they are undoubtedly right.

Major political parties should be satisfied with making a mess out of the federal government; there is ample opportunity for making mistakes there. Must they also reach into Minnesota's governing body, paste labels on the puppets and pull the strings here?

Profit Incentive

The following editorial from the "Industrial News Review" accurately portrays the place of profit in the successful system which has created the American way of life as we know it today:

Business and political leaders the country over are only too well aware of the gravity of the problem posed by dissenting groups of students and others who have increasingly turned to violence to gain their ends. Industries are working night and day to broaden the base of jobs and opportunities that they feel will bring people together and restore stability. However, the task is made immeasurably more difficult by the prevalent notion among many of the dissenters that profits and human rights are mutually antagonistic.

Many young people have fallen prey to the communist dogma that human rights in some mystical way must take precedence over the idea of private profit when in fact the right to private profit is one of the most fundamental of human rights.

Commenting on this subject, Robert G. Dunlop, president of the Sun Oil company, observes, "History, our own experience, and comparative studies of living standards in the nations of the world tell us that this kind of criticism of the profit system is not valid. Instead, the profit system is not only the most effective incentive to economic effort, but also the one that provides the maximum amount of economic freedom for individuals and the means for economic and social progress."

When the right to profit from one's own endeavors is eliminated from the list of human rights, those rights become no more than an empty phrase. When the profit incentive is removed, the whip of slavery is just around the corner.

BUYER BEWARE BE WISE
DOUGLAS M. HEAD
Attorney General
State of Minnesota

Our Consumer Division has been receiving complaints about itinerant hearing aid salesmen and repairmen who work door-to-door, posing falsely as representatives of reputable hearing aid companies.

Hearing aid companies are dedicated to service to those persons who rely on hearing aids. The companies provide ear testing and often recommend an examination by a physician before purchase of a hearing aid.

These companies do use traveling representatives. But there are some persons apparently operating in the state who are not associated with any of those companies, but who represent that they are bona fide sales representatives.

The price of a hearing aid is about $400. The cost is fair if the aid is of good quality and helps the buyer's hearing. But some salesmen have sold expensive hearing aids to individuals who cannot be helped by such instruments. One woman was told by her doctor that she could not be helped by a hearing aid, yet a hearing aid salesman, after giving her a phony "hearing test", persuaded the woman to purchase an expensive aid. He assured her that it would help her hearing. It didn't.

It is not uncommon for itinerant hearing aid salesmen to sell used and defective hearing aids to individuals, and to charge more than the price of a new one. Likewise, it is not unusual for phony hearing aid repairmen to offer to clean and inspect a hearing aid free charge. When given the aid to clean and inspect, however, he will switch the aid with a similar-looking but defective one and then tell the owner that the hearing aid is defective and in need of costly repairs.

The Minnesota Medical Associations committee on the conservation of hearing has pointed out that not all persons can be helped by a hearing aid. The association recommends that a person who has hearing problems consult his doctor before purchasing a hearing aid. Often, if found that a hearing aid will help, a doctor can recommend a reputable firm to deal with.

If a person identifying himself as a representative of a hearing aid company comes to your home, ask for identification. Don't permit him to take your hearing aid out of your presence, unless you are confident he is a legitimate representative. Don't allow yourself to be pressured into making an on-the-spot purchase; first consult an ear doctor.

Letters to the Editor

Thief River Falls, Minn.

Back on January 1, there appeared an article in the Minneapolis Tribune titled, "Public Seen Losing Faith in News Media." In this news item one of the reasons given for the public's disenchantment was that, "news media incite the violence they report". It might have been more accurate to say the public could be getting fed up with being brainwashed by the steady flow of "liberalism" and radical propaganda.

Ever since President Nixon's election and inauguration, there has been a massive quasi-nazification program to mold reader opinion into believing it was a mistake to have voted for and elected President Nixon. It is being done in such a way as to totally disregard respect for the Presidency as evidenced by the barrage of publicity the defeated Presidential candidate, Hubert H. Humphrey is receiving continuously. Example: The Picture Magazine section of the April 20 Sunday Tribune.

In many large metropolitan areas across the land there is only one newspaper of any consequence, such as is the case with Minneapolis. Readers for the most part remain blissfully unaware of this and could care less there aren't more. As a result these lone newspapers exert tremendous control over local government, politics and political candidates, educational systems, business and labor communities and the newspapers know only too well, what else.

The incredibility and absurdity of all this is that, civil libertarians abound all around, completely oblivious to the need for emancipation from the control of newspapers. In the meantime, these same libertarians are almightily hot and bothered that the rights of everyone not under the control of newspapers be upheld—communists, hippies, demonstrators, protestors, dissidents, radicals of all shapes and sizes and others too numerous to mention here.

A clue to the zeal of the Star and Tribune have for their anti-everything, that's not "left" or "liberal" can be found in a news item from the October 9, 1965 Minneapolis Star, in the article headlined, "Editor Hits GOP Stand In States", John Cowles Jr. editor of the Star and Tribune and publisher of Harper's magazine, among other criticisms of Republicans had the following criticism?" Republicans are strangling the very vitality of state government". This should lay aside once and for all the Star and Tribune's claim to "political independence".

The wool program incentive payments have been paid in Pennington county for the marketing year 1968. Shorn wool payments were paid at the rate of 65.4 per cent of the dollar returns each grower received from the sale of shorn wool marketed during the year.

Each grower's wool payment is determined by multiplying his dollar return from the sale of wool (less marketing charges) by the payment rate of 65.4 per cent. For each $100 in sales returns the grower receives an incentive payment of $65.40. The grower who gets the best possible market price for his wool also gets a high incentive payment and is thus encouraged to improve the quality and marketing of his wool.

The payment rate for wool is based on the difference between the incentive price of 67 cents and the national average price of 40.5 cents a pound received by growers.

The payment rate on unshorn lambs sold or slaughtered during the 1968 marketing year is $1.06 a hundredweight. This compares with the 1967 rate of $1.05 a hundredweight. The payment on sales of live lambs that have never been shorn is made to discourage unusual shearing of lambs before marketing. This payment is based on the payment rate for shorn wool, average weight of wool per hundredweight of lambs, and value of lambs wool relative to the value of shorn wool.

Reseal programs are available for the 1969-70 storage period on the following farm-stored loans. Barley and oats: 1965, 1966, 1967 and 1968; wheat: 1964, 1965, 1966, 1967 and 1968. Warehouse-stored loan extensions are available for 1967-1968 oats, wheat and barley. We do not have the rates to date. Cards are being mailed for you to indicate your desires on resealing your grain or to deliver. Please fill them in and return the card to the ASCS office as soon as possible.

By helping researchers at one of the world's largest seed companies develop a pure-white marigold, a lucky gardener could get $10,000.

After more than fifteen years of experimentation with the familiar orange and yellow marigold, horticulturists have developed a near-white blossom, but have so far failed to produce a pure-white marigold.

The public this spring has an opportunity to help in the search for the pure-white marigold, and someone could get $10,000 for doing so.

The manufacturers of a puffed rice and puffed wheat cereal, in association with the seed company, are giving free packets of near-white marigold seeds in specially marked boxes of their product during April and May. Details on the cereal packages will tell how to plant the seeds contained inside, and will provide details on earning the $10,000.

This modern suburban husband will find operating his electric lawn mower not only faster this year but safer: he has read his use and instruction manual and performed the few tasks necessary for springtime "get ready."

Power mowers, either gasoline or electric, require close attention to cleanliness if they are to give top performance, Sunbeam engineers, designers of both types, say in their manual. Gasoline engines should be drained, wiped dry, and refilled with fresh fuel at season's start and occasionally during the long summer. The spark plugs should be checked occasionally and crank case oil should be drained before the season and at least once during the summer. Homemakers are warned to keep gas in UL approved red can, in fixed places beyond children's reach. Can should be securely covered to prevent fumes from spreading and stored outside of the home, away from the furnace, water heater, etc.

Electric motors require no attention beyond a few drops of oil, checking brushes, cord and connector plug. A dry cloth is suggested for "after-use" wipe-up. This type mower is best stored off the floor by hanging it on a hook.

Often the simplest vegetable combinations are the most elegant and best suited to special occasion service.

Two dishes that are worthy of your best silver service begin with canned vegetables. These convenience vegetables are special because they are processed in 93 score butter, a seasoning step that makes them extra flavorful and buttery throughout.

Creamy Limas Fromage and Curried Peas and Onions are two recipe ideas from Libby's home economists calling for the special "Seasoned with Butter" vegetables. The buttery lima beans are sauced with both cream and Parmesan cheese and accented with onion salt and pimiento. Mix Peas Seasoned with Butter, canned onions and curry powder for the second vegetable treat.

Both are perfect companions to meat, poultry or sea food entrees. Serve them often—for everyday and special occasions.

Limas Fromage

- 2 cans (14¼ ounces each) Lima Beans Seasoned with Butter
- ¼ cup whipped cream cheese
- 2 tablespoons grated Parmesan cheese
- 1 teaspoon onion salt
- 1 jar (2 ounces) chopped pimiento

Combine ingredients except pimiento in saucepan. Heat until cheese is melted and sauce smooth. Add pimiento. Serve hot. Makes 6 servings.

Curried Peas and Onions

- 2 cans (13¼ ounces each) Peas Seasoned with Butter
- 1 can (1 pound) small whole onions, drained
- 1 teaspoon curry powder

Combine ingredients. Heat gently. Serve hot. Makes 6 servings.

Approximately 125 Region I F.F.A. members and advisors attended the meet.

Adjustment Panel To Hold Hearing Thurs.

Formal hearing of the Thief River Falls adjustment panel has been set for Thursday at 8 p.m. in the cafeteria of Lincoln senior high school. The three-member panel has failed to reach agreement on a recommended salary schedule for Thief River Falls teachers, and so the fact-finding hearing has been called. Formal hearings of the panel are open to the public.

The three panel members—Joe Forberg, C. L. Charlson and Kenneth Nelson—had met previously without agreement. Appointed respectively by the teachers' council, board of education and district court, Forberg, Charlson and Nelson will officially hear both sides of the salary question Thursday evening.

Following conclusion of the formal hearing, the adjustment panel will have 15 days to make its findings, providing copies to the parties concerned and to the Minnesota commissioner of education. Panel members failing to agree may file separate findings. Whether agreement is reached by the panel or not, its findings are not legally binding on either the teachers or the board of education.

A notice of the arbitration panel meeting states that, "The adjustment panel formed . . . for the purpose of providing agreement of matters relating to economic aspects of teachers' employment has not been able to reach agreement. . ." The hearing date is set in the notice and special mention is made that hearings are public.

According to the notice, Minnesota statutes 125.25, Subdivision 4, cover the proceedings. That portion of the law reads as follows:

The panel shall meet within eight days after the appointment of a third member. The parties shall attempt to provide agreement of matters relating to conditions of professional service through informal conferences. If agreement can be found through conferences between the parties with the aid and assistance of the adjustment panel prior to April 1 of each school year, it shall be so adjusted and the school board shall emplement the agreement in the form of a resolution. If the results of the conference are not satisfactory to all parties concerned, the panel, upon request of either party, shall afford the parties a full hearing, after which the panel shall make their findings, a copy of which shall be sent within 15 days to each of the parties involved and to the commissioner of education.

Arctic Plant in Karlstad Being Remodeled Now

Arctic Enterprises, Inc., reportedly has started work in the branch plant in Karlstad recently, when work crews began remodeling the front portion of the building and making it ready for the first assembly line.

Changing of the wiring and light fixtures has been completed and installation of air lines for a Fiberglas operation has begun. The plant will produce Aqua-Camper units for General Motors.

FFA Members in Local Chapter Win in State

Four Thief River Falls members of the F.F.A. were among more than 140 young Minnesotans from 80 Future Farmers of America chapters throughout the state who were recently named winners of some $5,000 in F.F.A. awards.

Those winning awards were: Mitch Kezar, who won the regional star dairy farmer trophy and the concrete improvement award; Gary Novak, regional agriculture mechanics award; Alvin Alp, farm electrification award; and Lyndon Pream, placement in agricultural products award.

They will be honored at a noon awards luncheon on the St. Paul campus of the University of Minnesota next Monday during the state F.F.A. convention which runs May 4-6.

Red Lake Falls Teachers, Board Reach Agreement

Board of education of Independent school district 630, Red Lake Falls, has officially adopted the 1969-70 teacher salary schedule. The schedule as approved was a result of two months of negotiation on the part of the board and a representative group of teachers.

The beginning salary as adopted in approved form will be $6,350 for a first-year teacher with a B.A. degree, advancing to $8,950 after 12 years of experience.

Beginning salary for a teacher with a master's degree and no experience would be $6,950 to $10,200 with 13 years' experience. All teachers will receive a maximum of $100 on a health and hospitalization policy. Total estimated cost of the package was about $30,000 or an 8.0 per cent increase over 1968-69.

Price Support Is 55 Cents on 1969 Crop Oats

Price-support rate for 1969-crop oats in Pennington county will be 55 cents per bushel, according to Winton Knutson, chairman of the Pennington County Agricultural Stabilization and Conservation committee. This is the same rate that was in effect for 1968-crop oats.

County support rates are established on the basis of grade three oats. Producers do not have to participate in the feed grain program to be eligible for price support on oats.

Premiums and discounts that are applied for grade and quality to determine individual producers' support rates also are unchanged from the 1968 program. Premiums are one cent per bushel for grade two or better, one cent for heavy test weight, and two cents for extra heavy test weight. A discount of seven cents per bushel will be applied to badly stained or materially weathered grade four oats. On the factor of test weight, the discount is three cents per bushel. Discount for garlicky oats is three cents per bushel.

Price support will be carried out through loans on oats stored on farms or in elevators, and by purchases.

The chairman pointed out that operating procedures for farm-stored grains, in use during the past five years, enable farmers to obtain their loans promptly. Producers do not pay a delivery charge in connection with 1969-crop loans if they redeem their crops instead of delivering them to the Commodity Credit corporation as payment of the loans.

Mr. and Mrs. Selmer Holter of Foley and their son, Gordon Holter of East Grand Forks, were Thursday visitors at the Joe Osness home in this city.

Two File for School Board

With filings to close on Tuesday, only two persons have filed for posts on the Thief River Falls board of education, succeeding to Robert Bredeson, clerk. Maynard Wedul, incumbent, and Kenneth Murphy, 603 Duluth av. N., are seeking the two positions open on the board.

Dr. H. R. Achenbach, incumbent whose term also expires this year, has not announced his intentions as of today.

Red Lake County Citizens Form Taxpayer Ass'n.

A group of Red Lake county citizens has formed a taxpayers association in opposition to the rise in taxes in that county. William Cossavant was elected chairman; Pat Hanson, vice chairman; Don Huot, secretary; and A. W. Opheim, treasurer.

The courtroom in Red Lake Falls was nearly filled with dissatisfied taxpayers of Red Lake county on April 19. Almost all in attendance reportedly were farmers who carry a big share of the Red Lake county tax load.

Main discussion concerned tax figures of the past two years which showed a definite increase.

Irving Beyer, chairman of the organizational meeting, presented the county levy figures of the past two years from the Red Lake county auditor's office. In 1968, the county mill levy of 110.1 raised $250,123. The levy of 135.3 mills in 1969 raised $314,151. Agricultural mill levies for the Red Lake Falls school district were 144.4 mills in 1968 and 246.2 mills in 1969.

Clearbrook May Build Crates For Arctic in T.R.F.

Plans for a proposed expansion of Arctic Enterprises of Thief River Falls in Clearbrook were disclosed to a crowd of about 400 people at a meeting in Clearbrook last week.

Those in attendance were informed that negotiations were almost completed for the sale of a potato warehouse building together with 10 additional acres of land to the company. It was reported the branch plant would manufacture crates and would provide from 20 to 50 new jobs for the Clearbrook community.

The building proposed for sale to Arctic is currently housing meat products manufactured by the Sun Plant Products of Gonvick.

It was expected that Clearbrook residents would need to raise from $5,000 to $8,000 to fulfill its commitment to Arctic Enterprises.

State Favors TRF and Newfolden Consolidation

Newfolden Board Asks New Bids On New School

Plat for consolidation of the Newfolden and Thief River Falls school districts was approved recently by Duane J. Mattheis, Minnesota commissioner of education, in an official letter to John O. Pearson, Marshall county superintendent of schools.

Commissioner Mattheis attached a memorandum to his approval of the plat, citing reasons for approval. His memorandum read as follows:

"The consolidation proposed is in the best interests of education in the area because it creates a district with:

"1. Greater opportunities to offer a complete educational program to every resident pupil;

"2. A broader tax base;

"3. A more adequate geographic area for more stable enrollment;

"4. A greater opportunity to secure an adequate faculty and to better utilize their individual talents and training."

Under provisions of the law, Pearson has notified the boards of education of Newfolden district 441 and Thief River Falls district 564 of the commissioner's approval of the plat. Each school board will have 45 days to decide to accept or reject the consolidation.

If either board rejects the proposed consolidation, the proposal will be closed and no consolidation will take place, Pearson said. If both boards accept the proposal, an election will be held in each district to determine whether or not the consolidation should be made.

Reject Building Bids

Newfolden board of education unanimously rejected all bids for the new school at the bid opening Wednesday and voted to readvertise for bids to be opened May 14 at 4 p.m. The board is now meeting with the architect to determine what modification can be done in the building plans to reduce the total cost of the building project.

With all alternates eliminated, the total bids on the proposed school amounted to about $1,386,330, according to Gene Kjellberg, superintendent of schools. While this is less than the $1,415,000 in bonds sold (sale of $1,450,000 was authorized), it was considered too high by the board since it would not allow for fees, contingencies and equipment.

Supt. Kjellberg said the bids without alternates included $976,000 for the general contract, $290,950 for the mechanical contract and $119,280 for the electrical contract. All were rejected in favor of modifying plans and readvertising for bids.

Modifications are expected to take place primarily in the remodeling of the present building. The tunnel from the present building to the new structure across the highway has been eliminated, as has some site work north of the road. It is expected that minor remodeling of several rooms in the present building will be done, as well as renovation of the heating plant, re-roofing of the elementary building and other minor work. None of the building will be removed as originally planned.

Through work with the architect, the board hopes to reduce the total cost of the project sufficiently to provide ample funds for construction, contingencies, fees and equipment without selling the additional $35,000 in bonds which have been authorized by the residents of the district.

At the bid opening Wednesday, there were four bidders on the general contract and five bidders each on the mechanical and electrical contracts.

Educators Discuss Methods and Needs

By Daryl Augustine
Times Reporter

To discuss new methods and needs in today's educational system, 33 area educators gathered at the Thief River Falls area vocational-technical school on Friday. Representatives from 21 northwestern Minnesota schools attended the meeting.

The meeting in Thief River Falls was one of a series being conducted throughout the state by the state department of education. Heading the meetings are Dr. Irvamae Applegate of St. Cloud state college and Donald L. Clauson from the department of education. Dr. Applegate is the dean of the school of education at St. Cloud and is the director of these meetings. Clauson is director of curriculum development with the state department of education.

Purpose of the series of meetings is to "update the approaches of instruction". Dr. Applegate said, "We're obtaining teacher reactions to the kinds of general materials, needs and services that the state department should provide for instruction and curriculum development."

"We are searching out needs common to all teachers," Clauson added, "such as new programming and changing methods of instructing."

Clauson pointed out that education of today is undergoing a great change. "There is a demand for immediate results from today's education," he stated. "Sixty to 70 per cent of today's high school graduates are married within four or five years after graduation, and these people are in need of skills to function for a livelihood."

Dr. Applegate and Clauson both agreed that the goal of our educational system should be to produce people who can perform a quality service in society. In conclusion, they both stated that, "The important thing is that a person has a saleable skill."

Teachers representing the Thief River Falls school system at the meeting were Mrs. Edith Etter, Mark Twain elementary school; Miss Gladys Johnson, English teacher at Franklin junior high school; Frank Hamerlinck, administrative assistant and a member of the original planning committee for this series of meetings in Minnesota; and Supt. Lloyd M. Johnson, who acted as host for the event.

Tunberg Corner Sold; Leased To Coast-to-Coast

Transactions took place late last week which will result in transfer of ownership of the former Tunberg Motors property at Main avenue and Third street in Thief River Falls. A new building will be erected on the property and leased to Coast-to-Coast for a retail hardware store.

Frank Tunberg and Tunberg Motors sold the property to Carl Lee who will erect the building for lease to Coast-to-Coast. Building plans are being prepared by the Coast-to-Coast company and construction will begin as soon as plans are received here.

David H. Olson, owner of the local Coast-to-Coast store, said that company officials were in the city last week to participate in the forming of lease arrangements. Lee indicated that the building will be primarily new construction of concrete block with brick and glass front. It will be 50x140 feet in size—an increase of about 1,500 square feet from the present Coast-to-Coast store. It is expected that the building will be ready for occupancy this fall.

Further details on the building itself will be announced when plans are received here. Tunberg Motors vacated the property some time ago when the firm moved to its new quarters on highway 59 west.

First Wedding Solemnized In Middle River Church

First wedding at St. Joseph's Catholic church at Middle River, since its erection, was solemnized on Saturday, April 12, as Miss Eileen Marie Cwikla and Alton Gene Walseth exchanged marriage vows. Approximately 250 relatives and friends attended the 10 o'clock nuptial mass. Officiating at the double ring ceremony was Rev. Donald Krebs.

The bride is a daughter of Mr. and Mrs. John Cwikla of rural Middle River. Parents of the groom are Mr. and Mrs. Harold Walseth of rural Thief River Falls.

Mrs. Lloyd Fugleberg of Roseau, a cousin of the bride, presided at the organ. She played the traditional processional and also the liturgical hymns sung by the guests. Forming the chancel setting were Easter lilies and ferns. A floral arrangement graced on the organ and white satin ribbons and lilies of the valley marked the pews.

The bride was escorted to the altar and given in marriage by her father. She was attired in a floor-length gown of lace and organza styled with a watteau train attached at the shoulders. The fitted bodice of lace designed with long sleeves and a scalloped neckline, topped a bouffant skirt of organza over net and taffeta. Rows of scalloped lace trimmed the skirt and edged the chapel-length train. A floral headpiece enhanced by seed pearls, held her tiered veil of silk illusion. She carried an arm bouquet of 10 large calla lilies accented with greens and a cream-colored velvet bow and streamers.

Miss Carol Cwikla of Badger, a sister of the bride, was maid of honor. Bridesmatrons were Mrs. Paul O'Gorman of Hopkins, sister of the groom, and Mrs. James Cwikla of Richfield, a sister-in-law of the bride. Serving as flower girl was Brenda Owens of Angus. All wore similar floor-length gowns of mint green voile with a white daisy design. Their headpieces were of self fabric petals attached to nylon tulle veils. Each carried a solitary large calla lily with greens and bows.

Attending the groom as best man was his brother, Roy Walseth of Thief River Falls. Groomsmen were Allan Cwikla of Middle River and Eddie Walseth of Thief River Falls, brothers of the bride and groom, respectively. Carrying the rings on a heart-shaped satin pillow was Blake Owens of Angus, a nephew of the groom. The men of the wedding party wore dark tuxedos with gray vests and striped ties. With the exception of the groom, who wore a white rose, their boutonnieres were green carnations.

Seating the guests were Kenneth Cwikla of Middle River and Robert Burlan of Strathcona, cousins of the bride, together with Bruce Wold of Thief River Falls and Charles Carlson of Warroad, friends of the groom. For their attire, they chose dark trousers and white dinner jackets.

The mother of the bride was attired in a light beige ensemble accented with mint green and beige accessories. The mother of the groom wore a green ensemble complemented by white accessories. Their identical corsages were of white roses and green miniature carnations.

A ham dinner was hosted by the parents of the bride following the ceremony. Set in the green and white decor, the long bridal table was centered by the upper section of the five-tiered wedding cake baked and decorated in green and white by Mrs. Milton Battleson of Thief River Falls, an aunt of the bride. Topping the cake was a Christogram and a miniature bride and groom. On either side were bell-shaped cakes, also trimmed in green and white.

Seated at the bridal table were the members of the wedding party, parents of the couple; the grandparents: Mrs. Nick Zeldlik of Middle River and Mr. and Mrs. A. Skallet of St. Hilaire; the godparents of the bride, Mr. and Mrs. Paul Cwikla of Middle River; and the clergy, Rev. Krebs and Rev. Stearns of Badger.

Aunts of the couple assisted with the reception. Mrs. Stanley Cwikla of Middle River, an aunt of the bride, was reception hostess. Mrs. Milton Battleson of Thief River Falls and Mrs. Thorstein Walseth of St. Hilaire, aunt of the bride and groom, respectively, cut and served the cake while Mrs. Frank Cwikla of Wannaska, aunt of the bride, and Mrs. Alton Skallet of St. Hilaire, an aunt of the groom, poured.

Also assisting at the reception were Mr. and Mrs. Albert Zeldlik of Roseau, who presided at the punch bowl. A friend of the bride, Miss Kathy Knutson of Middle River, registered the guests while classmates of the bride, Misses Marlene Tuura and Kay Henning opened and arranged the gifts. Waitresses in charge of the bridal table were Mrs. Royden Bernstein and Lynette Cwikla, cousins of the bride.

Out-of-town relatives and friends attending the wedding were from Minneapolis, Coon Rapids, Grygla, Gatzke, Roseau, Badger, Wannaska, Malung, Strathcona, Thief River Falls, Hopkins and Angus.

The bride is a graduate of Middle River high school and is presently attending the Thief River Falls area vocational-technical school of practical nursing. The groom is a graduate of Lincoln high school and is employed by the Red Owl agency.

Following a brief wedding trip to the Winnipeg, Man., Canada area, the newly-weds are at home at 919 North Main, Thief River Falls. For her going away attire, the bride wore a navy blue ensemble with white accessories.

KITCHEN KARNIVAL

Features from the Kitchen of

MRS. LYLE PAETZNICK of rural Middle River

With the arrival of spring and such activities as bridal showers, confirmations, graduations, mother and daughter teas, or just a reunion of friends, refreshments are of a special nature. Most hostesses prefer serving something that can be prepared in advance leaving them free to enjoy their guests.

Today's recipe for Strawberry Torte, submitted by Mrs. Lyle Paetznick of rural Middle River, meets both of these qualifications. Served with a swirl of whipped cream and garnished with a whole strawberry, this dessert is festive enough for any special occasion. When prepared far in advance, this dessert may be frozen but should be removed from the freezer an hour before serving. We are grateful to Mrs. Paetznick for sharing her recipe with us.

STRAWBERRY TORTE

½ cup softened butter
1 cup powdered sugar
2 eggs
One-third cup chopped nuts
1 qt. fresh strawberries, chopped and sweetened
1 cup cream, whipped and sweetened

Method: Crush wafers and line 9x13 inch pan with half of the crumbs. Mix butter, egg yolks and sugar and fold in stiffly beaten egg whites. Spread on top of crumbs. Sprinkle nuts over this mixture and top with berries. Cover with whipped cream. Sprinkle remaining crumbs over the cream and chill for at least four hours before serving.

The Paetznicks farm east and north of Middle River. They have three girls; Gula, a senior at Bemidji State college; Kathryn, who is employed in Minneapolis, and Lyla, a fifth grader in the Middle River school.

Mrs. Paetznick stated that her favorite past time was embroidering. She also does a great deal of sewing and from the left over pieces of material, she pieces quilt tops.

The Paetznick family attends services at the First Lutheran church at Middle River.

Cycle Helmet Law Becomes Fully Effective May 1

Minnesota's motorcycle helmet law will become fully effective May 1, Highway Patrol Chief John J. Harbinson pointed out today.

From May 1 on, all motorcyclists and their passengers must, when riding motorcycles, wear helmets that meet the permanent Minnesota standards and have been approved by the highway department," he pointed out. "This law will be strictly enforced."

Up to this time a temporary standard has been in effect which permitted the use of any helmet giving effective protection and designed for use by motorcyclists.

"More than 100 models have qualified for official state approval under the permanent standard," Chief Harbinson said. "Each police department and sheriff's office in the state has been provided with a list of the approved models. In each case the manufacturer has been given a certificate of approval, and has been asked to provide his dealers with copies.

"The owner or buyer who is in doubt should ask to see this certificate, or should consult the list of approved models.

"Some models are in use which meet state standards except for two details: Four square inches of reflective material on each side of the helmet, and a label on the outside rear identifying the make and model. The owner of a helmet otherwise in compliance, but needing an exterior label should consult his dealer or the manufacturer about having one affixed."

Chief Harbinson warned that although the permanent standards were issued a year ago, some dealers are still marketing helmets that are not approved and that do not meet the state's requirements. He urged cyclists to insist on seeing proof of state approval before buying.

Tractor Safety Course to Begin In Marshall Co.

First 10 hours of the tractor care and safety program will be taught in the Marshall county courtroom in the courthouse in Warren the week of May 5, according to Charles O. Peterson, Marshall county agent. These will be two hours each evening beginning at 7:30 p.m. on May 5.

Written test for the course will be taken on Friday evening, May 9, and the practical test on Saturday morning, May 10.

Purpose of this training is to certify that 14 and 15-year-old youths have been exposed to the hazards of certain agricultural occupations in accordance with the child-labor Law as amended in June of 1968. Thirteen year-olds are invited to take this training, but cannot be certified until their 14th birthday and successful passing of the tests.

Schools in the Warren area have been notified of the training sessions and have been asked to contact the children of that age group. Some schools will provide bus transportation into Warren for the training.

The 10 hours of training will qualify 14 and 15 year-olds to work off the home farm, to operate a tractor over 20 horsepower and use the cultivation implements normally used in the area.

Those in this age group working under the supervision of parents or legal guardians need not be certified.

Burglaries Noted At Goodridge, Holt and Trail

Holt, Goodridge and Trail were victims of robberies during the night of April 16, according to Oscar C. Erickson, Marshall county sheriff.

Ivan's Gulf station and Engen's Cafe were the two business places burglarized in Holt. Entrance was made in the station by breaking the glass in a door. The thieves took sales tax change left in an open till and $15 or $10 from the pop machine. They broke through the back door in the cafe and also took sales tax change, amounting to five or six dollars, and cigarettes.

At Goodridge entrance was made into the liquor store and the school, which was entered the same way a few weeks ago. A large sum of money was taken at the liquor store, but the amount has not been disclosed. The victim at Trail, was also the liquor store.

Marshall and Pennington sheriff's departments are conducting investigations.

Peace Corps Volunteers now serve in 20 Latin American nations.

Minnesota Tech Offers Fashion Class Next Fall

Fashion merchandising course will be offered next fall by the business division at the University of Minnesota technical institute at Crookston, according to Homa Tindall, chairman.

The new program, leading to an associate in business degree, will include studies in fashion buying and coordinating, in sales and in styling. Allied courses will include advertising and publicity.

"There is a rapidly increasing demand for trained persons to promote new fashion ideas and products," Tindall said. "Merchandising of wearing apparel through management, store operations and manufacturer's representatives is a wide-open career field."

The Tech program will include a summer internship at the end of the freshman year to give the student experience and practical training.

Invite Artists To Compete in NW Bell Awards

Minnesota artists are being invited again to submit paintings for reproduction in Northwestern Bell Telephone company's 1970 appointment calendar.

This will be the sixth year the calendar has featured scenes of the "Upper Midlands"—Minnesota, Iowa, Nebraska, North Dakota and South Dakota—by artists living in the region.

Last year, 126 Minnesota artists offered 472 paintings for possible use in the calendar. Of these, four were selected for the 1969 edition.

Invitation folders, along with instructions for submitting paintings, have been mailed to both professional and amateur artists in Minnesota who have submitted their work in the past or who have expressed an interest. The folder suggests that a variety of contemporary and historical scenes will be appropriate for the 1970 calendar.

Northwestern Bell will start reviewing paintings submitted late in May.

Support Price For Flax, Oats Set in Marshall

Prices for flaxseed grown in 1969 will be supported in Marshall county at $2.77 per bushel for No. 1 grade (with 9.1 to 9.5 per cent moisture), according to Marcel Dahl, chairman of the county Agricultural Stabilization and Conservation committee.

County and terminal loan rates are based on the 1969 crop national average support price of $2.75 per bushel for No. 1 grade flaxseed announced March 17, 1969. Average support price for the 1968 crop was $2.90 per Bu. Dahl explained that the general method followed in determining individual county and terminal rates is the same as that used in previous years. The terminal rates have all been adjusted downward by 15 cents per bushel.

There has been some variation in changes in rail transportation rates to terminals during the last year which resulted in reductions in some county rates ranging from 11 cents to 17 cents per bushel.

Price support rate for 1969 crop oats in Marshall county will be 55 cents per bushel. This is the same rate that was in effect for the 1968 crop. County support rates are established on the basis of Grade No. 1 oats. Producers do not have to participate in the feed grain program to be eligible for price support on oats.

Price support will be carried out through loans on oats and flaxseed stored on farms or in elevators, and by purchases.

The chairman pointed out that operating procedures for loans on farm stored grains, in use during the past four years, enable farmers to obtain their loans promptly. Producers do not have to pay a delivery charge in connection with 1969-crop loans if they redeem their crops instead of delivering them to the Commodity Credit corporation as payment of the loans.

MEA Committee Here To Study Instruction

education for all children.

"The facts are evident," Klinkerfues declared. "That there are many situations in which our children are not getting the kind of education they should—even in those cases where communities exert great effort.

"But we also know that there have been great strides not only in what our children can be taught—and this constitutes an explosion—but in how they can be taught. Unfortunately, the great potential available through research in this area is not being exploited."

One of the goals of the institute, Klinkerfues explained, is "to bring together all the best that has been accomplished, to venture further into the unknown, to make all this coordinated knowledge available in such manner as to serve the entire teaching profession throughout Minnesota."

Chairman of the 15-member state committee on the improvement of instruction is Walter G. Larson, director of placement at St. Cloud state college and a veteran classroom teacher.

Purposes of the committee, according to President Klinkerfues, include setting up and implementing in-service training programs, establishing guidelines and direction, improving the public image of teachers and the profession, urging organization of a fully-staffed instruction center, creating of better liaison with various segments of the community, particularly business and industry, and "dreaming a lot."

ACP Practices Approved for Marshall County

Two new ACP practices have been approved for Marshall county. One practice is to restore tilth and permeability to soil which has become compacted due to extremely adverse weather conditions during 1968, and the other is an aid to wildlife.

The first would require at least two tillage operations and must be started no later than June 23. A winter cover crop is required which could consist of oats, barley, rye or flax and must be seeded by September 1. Maximum costsharing for this practice would be $3 per acre for the tillage plus $1 an acre for seed and seeding. Dates for signing up for this practice will be May 19 through June 6.

The second practice is to establish food plots for wild life, especially sharptail grouse. This would consist of two-acre plots per ownership tract on each 160 acres of farmland. Food plots should be located where they are needed, particularly in places adjacent to cover and woodland openings. Grazing or harvesting of the residue is not permitted. These food plots would consist of flax, buckwheat or millet and maximum costsharing would be $8.25 an acre. Signup for this practice will be taken through May 29.

ASCS Activities

by Wallace Sparby, Manager

Double postcards are being or have been mailed to all producers who have grain under loan which is eligible for reseal. There is space provided on the card for you to indicate whether you want to repay amount of loan due, reseal your farm stored loan, convert your farm stored loan to a warehouse stored loan and extend, or deliver a quantity for purchase or to liquidate your loan.

If you choose to deliver your grain please enter the name of the preferred warehouse. The card must be signed and dated before returning to the ASCS office. After completing the card you tear the other half of the double card off the mail the card you have completed to the ASCS office.

It is very important that these cards be returned promptly. All loans must be measured for reseal purposes before they are eligible for reseal payment. 1968 crops do not begin their reseal period until June 1st. We do not have the reseal rates available at this time for the 1969-70 reseal period.

The final tally on our feed grain program sign up in Pennington County shows that we have 88 per cent of the feed grain farms signed up. For wheat we have 82 per cent signed up. This we believe is one of the best years as far as participation is concerned in Pennington County.

1040 U.S.I. Taxpayers Ask IRS

These questions most frequently asked by taxpayers on federal income tax matters with authoritative answers are provided by the office of the district director of internal revenue, St. Paul.

Q—How long should I wait before asking the IRS about my delayed refund?

A—In ten weeks from the date they mailed a refund return, most taxpayers have their check or a letter explaining why it is being held up. A taxpayer who has not heard about his refund should wait at least ten weeks, by that time they may find the inquiry is unnecessary.

Q—I've never filed an estimated declaration before and only owed $28 on my 1968 tax. Do I have to file the estimated form you sent me in 1969?

A—If you estimate that your 1969 tax liability will exceed your tax withheld by $40 or more, then you are required to file a declaration of estimated tax.

The purpose of filing a declaration of estimated income tax and making quarterly payments is to provide a means for all taxpayers to pay their tax on a current basis.

Q—I've heard that hospital and medical insurance premiums get special tax treatment. What is it?

A—Half of the premiums you paid for hospital and medical insurance up to a maximum of $150 can be taken as an itemized deduction without regard to the three per cent limitation that applies to medical expenses. All other medical expenses, including the balance of any medical insurance premiums, have to be reduced by three per cent of the taxpayer's total income before they can be deducted. Look on page 7 of the 1040 instructions for further details.

Q—Do you have to be married to file as a head of household?

A—No, you must be unmarried (or legally separated) at the end of your tax year. A single person can qualify as head of household if he or she furnishes over half the cost of maintaining a home as the principal household for a dependent relative or an unmarried child, grandchild, or stepchild, even though the child is not a dependent. However, a dependent parent need not live in the same home.

Q—My 10-year-old son received $45 worth of dividends last year on some stock his grandfather gave him. Should he file a tax return or should we have reported it on our form?

A—This income is your son's and should not be reported on your return. A return should have been filed by your son if his total income for the year was $600 or more. In figuring gross income, the first $100 of dividends is not counted.

Tornado Time

The next several months in Minnesota are tornado time, and it seems that the so-called "tornado belt" is slipping northward each year. Last year a small tornado narrowly missed Thief River Falls, causing some anxious moments for no small number of people. Who knows when or where the next violent storm may strike in this area.

Last year tornadoes killed more people than the combined death toll due to all other weather-caused natural disasters including hurricanes, other storms and flash floods, according to Robert M. Pierpoint, director of the American Red Cross disaster services. Many of them could have been saved if they had followed basic safety steps.

With the exception of caves and below-ground shelters, there is no perfect defense against the wrath of a tornado.

We hope our readers will never need the information, but here are some safety rules to follow:

In open country: move away from the tornado's path at right angles. If escape isn't possible, lie flat in the nearest ditch or ravine.

In a city or town: In office buildings: stand in interior halls on a lower (preferably basement) floor. In factories: plan in advance to shut off electric, fuel and gas lines and locate the section of the plant that affords the greatest protection. At home: find shelter in the basement beneath a heavy table or solid workbench where there are no heavy appliances on the floor directly above. If you have no basement, take cover under heavy furniture near the center of the house. Open some windows on the side of the house opposite the storm approach, but do not stay near these windows. Do not stay in a mobile home; seek out a ravine, ditch or strong building. In school: curtains and blinds should be closed. Seek an interior hallway on a lower floor. Avoid the gym, auditorium or other areas with a wide, free-span roof. In a shopping center: seek emergency shelter areas, if designated, or take cover against interior walls or under sturdy counters. Avoid buildings with free-span roofs. Never remain in a car.

One other caution: a tornado warning means the storm has been sighted. A tornado watch means that a tornado could develop.

Voyageurs Park

Centered in the Twin Cities, the push continues for the establishment of Voyageurs National park in the area of Kabetogama lake and Rainy lake in northern Minnesota. Most recent public promotional thrust from the group hoping to establish the 168,000-acre park is in the form of a reprinted editorial by Erick Kendall, managing editor of the "Midland Cooperator", official publication of Midland Cooperatives, Inc.

Kendall writes, in part: "It's a pity that the Voyageurs park proposal has become controversial in the area where the park would be located, that people connected with that area's major, and almost only present industry have closed their minds, becoming unreceptive to any evidence on the economic benefits of such parks elsewhere.

"The immediate interest in status quo of the forestry industry, and of those interested in building private lakeshore cottages, is understandable though hardly condonable if general area and state economies are considered. The forest products industry has been given ample assurances of both monetary and exchange timber land compensation for the tracts it would lose to the Voyageurs National Park.

"As to the cottage owners and would-be cottage owners, just how many of Minnesota's three million people could enjoy these waters once the lakeshores have been subdivided into small, individually-owned lots? And how many out-of-staters will such a thoroughly settled, possibly polluted lake attract? For answers, go take a look at some other once wildly beautiful and fish-rich northern and central Minnesota bodies of water."

Earlier in his editorial, Kendall comments on the estimated $54 million a year contributed to the Minnesota economy by campers. "But this $54 million annual camper contribution could be but a pittance compared to the potential future gain from tourism if we plan wisely for conservation of our sky blue waters and sylvan dells," Kendall writes. It takes a lot of people to spend a lot of dollars.

Then Kendall concludes his comments with this: "Let's all work in unison with Minnesota's Congressional delegation for the establishment of a Voyageurs National park on the Kabetogama peninsula. By so doing we will be advancing our own long-range economic interests as well as helping to preserve a ruggedly beautiful area of our state in its primitive grandeur—preserve it for our children and the entire nation to admire and enjoy."

Many people would consider the Kabetogama area part of the "wilderness". It has not been heavily developed; it still has many remote areas where a boater or canoeist can find a place of solitude; yet it is accessible through a number of private resorts along the southwest shore. Much of its allure is in the fact that it is not overpopulated.

Would the area change if a national park was established. According to a brochure prepared by the national park service of the U.S. interior department, the question of "How would the park be developed?" is answered as follows:

"Major developments planned for the proposed park include developed area roads, parking areas, trails and walkways, visitor centers, amphi-theaters, administration buildings, campgrounds, picnic areas, marinas, docking facilities, maintenance and storage buildings, employee quarters, utility systems, signs and markers....The development is programmed over a number of years with the major portion coming within the first five years, after acquisition of adequate lands, subject to Congressional appropriations."

We fail to share the enthusiasm of those who expect hordes of money-laden vacationers to swarm to a new national park in Minnesota's north country. But we would be more disappointed if they prove to be right, for the simple presence of people in large numbers would destroy the most valuable asset of the area—its undeveloped remoteness.

As for Kendall's question as to "just how many of Minnesota's three million people could enjoy these waters once the lakeshores have been subdivided into small, individually-owned lots", we would have to reply: "All of them who would want to—just as they can right now."

He asks: "How many out-of-staters will such a thoroughly settled, possibly polluted lake attract?" He answers his own question when suggesting that the public take a look at other northern and central Minnesota lakes. They are jammed with tourists, many from other states, but these are not the same tourists who would be likely attracted to a national park. Rather they are those who enjoy crowds, the roar of a speedboat, availability of a golf course, night life of varying degrees and the clutter and confusion which is characteristic of America today.

Those people, by making a hurried trip on the highway, can obtain what they want where it already exists—the tourist areas with several bodies of water, some trees, a little grass, plenty of gas stations, a couple of bars and nightclubs and an active promotional agency. There is still space for them without invading the more remote areas.

And we kind of like it that way.

Secretaries Week

"Better Secretaries Mean Better Business" is the theme of Secretaries Week being observed this week—the last full week in April. And it is only fitting that the people who do the bidding of others during the working year are afforded a few days to tell the public how important they really are.

Observed since 1952, the week is designed ". ...to bring recognition to secretaries for the vital role they play in business, industry, education, government and the professions."

The National Secretaries association originated the week to inform the public of the secretary's contribution to the educational, professional and civic growth of the community. It also serves to remind secretaries of their responsibilities to their employers and to their profession.

Legislative Letter

from ANDREW SKAAR
STATE REPRESENTATIVE

Groundwork was laid for one of the biggest battles of the 1969 legislative session when Governor LeVander gave his special message on governmental reorganization to the Legislature.

While many accounts in the news media gave the impression that the Governor's main opposition will come from a few powerful legislators, I believe that those accounts are mistaken.

While there will be substantial legislative opposition to some aspects of the Governor's reorganization plan, there will be even more opposition from within the executive branch of government. Ironically, some of the leaders of the opposition may be people who have been appointed to their positions by Governor LeVander.

Why would this be so? The answer is simple enough. In any bureaucratic organization, either governmental or private, there is a tendency for people to build empires. The reorganization plan is threatening many empires in state government. Some of these empires have had 30 years to grow since the last reorganization in 1939.

In summary, governmental reorganization will face major opposition from within the executive and legislative branches of state government as well as from special interests outside government which feel they can deal more effectively with the present bureaucracy.

Some people have asked me why reorganization is necessary. There are two reasons: 1. to make government more efficient. 2. to make government more responsive to people.

The reorganization bill cleared another hurdle in its journey through the legislative process on Friday, April 18, when it was recommended to pass by the full Appropriations Committee.

The efficiency level is extremely low as demonstrated by the fact there are more than 100 executive agencies plus well over 100 commissions and boards which are supposed to report directly to the Governor. What this means is that if the Governor were to spend one working day with each agency or individual who is supposed to report directly to him, he could not even cover all these agencies in one year, much less do any other work during that year. Therefore, the major proposal to get at the efficiency problem at the top level of government is to reorganize state departments so that the Governor has only a small cabinet of approximately 15 people reporting directly to him.

Of course, efficiency at lower levels is important, too, particularly to assure economy of operation, improved service and better accountability of governmental agencies.

As to the responsiveness of government, the most important proposal in the reorganization plan is to make all the department heads appointive by the Governor, serving terms concurrent with him, and giving the Governor authority to remove department heads if he wishes. This means the executive branch of government should be a smoothly functioning team and the Governor can then be fairly appraised on the basis of his team's performance rather than is the case now on the performance of people over whom he has very little control.

CAPITOL COMMENT

BY MARTY McGOWAN

Selection of regents of the University of Minnesota is one of the more unique functions performed in a legislative session. It is unique first of all because it is usually the only time in a session when the senate and house sit together to transact business. The two bodies sit together to hear inaugural messages of governors, or state of the state messages between inaugurals, but in such cases the joint convention is just an audience.

Regent selection is unique for another reason. It is one of only two ways the legislature has to exercise some measure of control over the university. The other way is through legislative appropriation. Both are rather limited means of control since the regents have little actual power and the appropriations are but a fraction of the income the university uses to operate. Tuition and research grants provide the university with most of its operating income.

The board of regents is made up of 12 persons. A few years ago when the state had nine congressional districts there were nine regents chosen from those districts and three chosen at large. Now that the state has only eight congressional districts the division is eight and four. This year through a combination of circumstances six regents will be named.

Emoluments of the office are few. Members receive $25 for each meeting they attend and the best seats in a box at the football stadium. The position is largely one of prestige and recognition for past services.

At the present time all 12 members have Republican affiliation. In recent years former House Speaker A. I. Johnson, of Benson, did not seek reelection to the board for health reasons. Then Gerald Heaney, of Duluth, was squeezed off to make room for Regent Albert Hartl, of Fergus Falls. Then labor leader Robert Hess, of St. Paul, now administrative aide to Congressman Joseph Karth, was shunted aside to make room for former Gov. Elmer L. Andersen. It appears, however, that this year former DFL House Majority and Minority Leader Fred Cina, of Aurora, will gain the eighth district seat on the board being vacated by William Montague, of Duluth.

When the term of a congressional district regent expires, all the state legislators from that district, house and senate, hold a caucus to decide on filling the vacancy. When some state legislative districts overlap the lines of a congressional district, a question arises over where the senator or representative will vote in the regent caucus. The recent practice has been to give such legislators fractional votes in both congressional districts.

After the congressional district caucuses have decided on their candidate, caucuses are held to determine the candidates at large. Then bills are introduced in the house and senate to carry out those wishes. The bills go to the Education committees of the house and senate for screening and approval. Differences between house and senate, if any, are worked out in conference until a slate of candidates is determined to be submitted to the joint convention of the house and senate.

At that joint session most members merely vote for the slate. However, each member can vote for anybody, on the slate or not. There is occasional "bullet" voting for a minority candidate and there is usually a smattering of votes for personal friends and even a ridiculous vote or two. In this process the name of every senator and representative is called individually and he casts his vote by voice.

Legislators tend to look kindly on the candidacies of former legislators for the board of regents. In addition to Mr. Cina, the caucus of the third congressional district has turned down incumbent Otto Silha and recommended former Rep. John Yngve. This kind of politicking plus the unique nature of the selection provides a high point and bit of relief at this point in any legislative session.

Advice for Tornado Emergency Is Given

With the tornado season upon us, the Minnesota Safety council has released the following caution:

No matter where you live in this country, you can't escape the threat of the tornado. This storm has, in the last half-century, dropped its destructive funnel cloud on every state including Hawaii and Alaska. Before this year is over—if it's an average one—we'll see at least 200 tornadoes rip through towns and across the countryside. And about half of them will strike in the season coming up—April, May and June.

Tornadoes usually occur along with thunderstorms, especially those producing hail. The sound of the whirling funnel cloud, if you're near, is deafening like the roar of hundreds of airplane engines. At the storm's center the winds are so strong no one has been able to clock them, but engineers estimate they may run as high as 500 mph.

Here's what to do if you see a funnel cloud or hear tornado warnings, according to the U.S. weather bureau:

Best of all, get to a tornado cellar, cave or underground excavation with an air outlet. Only an underground excavation offers universal protection against tornadoes.

Or seek shelter on the bottom floor of a reinforced concrete or steel framed building. Stay away from windows.

If at home, go to the corner of your basement nearest the approaching tornado which is usually to the southwest. If your house has no basement you can find some protection by taking cover under heavy furniture against inside walls.

In schools, if there is no basement, sit against the inside wall on a lower floor. Avoid rooms with large exposed ceilings such as gymnasiums and auditoriums.

If you're driving in open country, move at right angles to the tornado's path. Since a tornado usually travels from southwest to northeast at a speed of only 25 to 40 mph, you can usually outdistance it easily in a car.

When there is no means of escape, lie flat in the nearest depression such as a ditch or ravine.

When a tornado formation is sighted in the local area, the person sighting the funnel should call the Thief River Falls police department. Information given should be the person's name, area of residence, what is being reported, where it was seen, the direction it was traveling and the estimated speed.

A three to five-minute steady blast of civil defense and fire department sirens means an alert, and residents should turn to their local radio station for information.

Attend Hearings on Municipal Power Bill

To attend hearings on House File 1681 and Senate File 1475 in the Minnesota legislature, Mayor A. E. Jacobson and utilities superintendent Morris Owen Rew to St. Paul Tuesday. Resolutions opposing enactment of the law have been adopted by the Thief River Falls city council, the local Chamber of Commerce board of directors and the city planning commission.

A "press bulletin" from the Minnesota Municipal Utilities association quotes Loren Reid, association president, as follows:

"Every homeowner and renter, every voter in the state is going to pay more for their electricity if House File 1681—Senate File 1475 is passed by the legislature," Loren Reid, President of the Minnesota Municipal Utilities Association announced today.

"It is funny," he said, "that the legislature is not more suspicious when the leaders of a big industry comes to them and says 'please regulate us' and 'do it in the name of the consumer.' It is ridiculous to believe that Northern States Power Company and its supporters are really concerned with protecting the public from themselves."

"The bill pretends to be a regulatory act to protect the consumer, however a private utility officer announced there would be rate increases as soon as they had regulatory permission. An electric cooperative spokesman was quoted at a January meeting as saying (power companies favor formation of a commission) 'because they feel rates will have to be raised in the future and they would like to have a state commission to take care of it for them rather than having to go to each local government to have such rate increases approved.' Obviously, the power companies are still feeling the effects of a critical examination of their rate proposals by the St. Paul City Council."

"Within the last month, the national magazine 'Business Week' revealed that there was a national effort by privately owned electric companies to adopt regulatory laws in all states in preparation of a nationwide plan to raise electric rates. Obviously, Homer and Roy are not going to be able to say, if this bill is passed, that rates are cheaper than ever."

"Senator Lee Metcalf (D) Montana and his committee of Congress have been studying the abuse of consumers by the privately owned power companies and have made a series of suggestions for genuine consumer protection. None of these recommendations are to be found in the proposed regulatory bill sponsored under the leadership of NSP."

"The municipally-owned electric utilities now provide electric power to over a half a million people in Minnesota at rates comparable or below the rates of the private power companies. However, we municipals often provide in addition city lighting, sewage disposal and water supply at no additional cost whereas those areas without a municipal system must pay for these in addition. The proposed law, as we see it impairs our ability to provide these services and could conceivably force up our rates unnecessarily. As public officials in a time when taxes are beginning to reach confiscatory levels on householders, we object to any law which would force unnecessarily high costs or taxes upon our citizens."

"We have offered to work with the legislature or with any group in which consumers are represented to prepare a bill that would, in fact, protect the consumer-voter and taxpayer. We have had a good response from some cooperatively-owned electric utilities, from consumer groups, from labor unions, from nearly all of the municipally-owned electric utilities and from Municipally owned gas utility companies. The bill also covers gas utilities in addition to electric utilities."

Mr. Reid closed his remarks by calling attention to the fact that the municipal systems continue to be the backbone of the state in the event of regional power failures. "With independent systems, we are able to maintain a source of power for critical needs when the large interstate systems such as NSP break down. We respectfully request that the legislature not impair our ability to continue to service our communities and protect the state."

Veterans Among Candidates For LHS Golf Squad

by Bob Wielinski
Times Sports Writer

Some 31 junior and senior high school golfers turned out last week as the Thief River Falls Prowler golf team began workouts at the local golf course. Included were seven lettermen and some promising underclassmen according to head coach Jack Boyer.

The seven lettermen back this year are seniors Dave Kildahl, Bob Womack, Roger Relerson, Scott Adelphson, Tim Carlson and Steve Larson, and junior Cal Wicklander.

Among seven sophomores trying for a place on the squad are Paul Olson and Roger Lee, two of the top contenders for the six man team which the Prowlers will be taking into 11 matches this year along with the district and regional tournament.

Others include Greg Berger, Rory Harder, Mark Charlson and Brian Johnson. Boyer also indicated that freshman Jay Moum could have a good chance of seeing action on the varsity squad this year.

The Prowlers have scheduled 11 meets this year. Three of them are scheduled for the home course, including matches with Crookston and St. James and the annual invitational to be held on May 20. They will take part in six other invitationals this year which will include some of the top teams in both North Dakota and Minnesota, along with the Northwest conference match and the District 31 and Region Eight tournaments.

They will open their schedule on Thursday at the Bagley Invitational which will begin at 10 a.m.

LHS Stops Goodridge, Rain Halts RLF Contest

by Bob Wielinski
Times Sports Writer

Prowler baseball team evened its season record at 1-1 on Wednesday afternoon by defeating the Goodridge Huskies by a 15-1 margin. The Prowlers were to have played Red Lake Falls on Friday afternoon but a sudden spring shower put an end to the contest before it started. The rain-out will be made up at a later date.

In Wednesday's contest the Prowlers were led by the hitting of Gordy Peterson, Don Balmer and Tom Duke who each had two hits and three runs batted in. All three slapped first inning doubles while Duke added a triple his second time at bat in the wild first inning when the Prowlers scored 13 runs.

Coach Ralph Skay also announced on Wednesday that co-captains for the coming season will be the two returning veterans on the squad, Dana Stromberg and Tony Johnson. Both were regulars last year and are two of three seniors listed on the squad this year. Stromberg is the number one pitcher and also plays shortstop and the outfield. Johnson also pitches, plays shortstop and the outfield for the Prowlers.

In Wednesday's game the Prowlers used a big first inning as they bombed four Goodridge pitchers for 15 runs on 10 hits and romped to a 15-1 win over the visiting Huskies.

The Prowlers jumped on starter Roger Blaine and his successor Ray Molsbeorger for 13 runs in the first frame, as the first eight batters of the Prowlers crossed the plate. Blaine lasted two-thirds of an inning while giving up 12 runs and five hits and walking four.

Dennis Johnson led off the big inning for the Prowlers as he reached base on an error by Blaine and stole second. Dana Stromberg drew a walk. Tony Johnson hit into a fielder's choice which found the Huskies' second baseman, Aldon Hyland throwing wild to second trying to force Stromberg. Dennis Johnson came home to score, with Stromberg and Tony Johnson moving to third and second on the play. Gordy Peterson then connected for the first of three consecutive doubles by the Prowlers, driving home Stromberg and Tony Johnson with runs two and three.

Don Balmer, making his first appearance in a Prowler uniform this year, lined a double to right center, driving in Peterson with the fourth Prowler run. Tom Duke followed Balmer with a double up the middle, sending Balmer home for a 5-0 lead. Duke then stole third and rode home on Dan Sullivan's single to center, giving the Prowlers a 6-0 lead with no one out in the inning. The eighth in the inning, Bruce Broughton, drew a walk, putting men on first and second. Steve Daley advanced the runners to second and third on a grounder back to Blaine, who looked at third and saw that Sullivan was already there, then threw Daley out at first for the first out of the inning.

Dennis Johnson, batting for the second time in the inning grounded out pitcher to first as the runners held at second and third. Stromberg loaded the bases by drawing his second walk of the inning. Tony Johnson then lined a hard grounder to third which went through Brian Wiseth's legs with two more runs scoring to make it 8-0 in favor of the Prowlers, with Stromberg and Johnson stopping at third and second. Gordy Peterson loaded the sacks once again for the Prowlers as he drew the third walk of the inning off Blaine. Balmer drove in two more runs in the inning as he singled down the left field line. Tom Duke laced his second hit of the inning up the middle in center for a triple, driving in runs 11 and 12 for the Prowlers. He later scored on a passed ball, but reliever Molsbeorger retired Sullivan for the final out of the inning on a grounder, pitcher to first.

Tony Johnson held the Huskies scoreless for the two innings that he pitched while Tim Duke hurled scoreless ball in the middle three innings for the Prowlers.

The Prowlers added their final run off the Huskies third pitcher of the day, Gary Anderson, in the fourth inning as Tim Duke led off with a single to center, moved to second as catcher Steve Holte threw wild to first on a pick-off attempt, and rode home on an error.

Goodridge scored their lone run of the game in the seventh inning as they collected three hits off the Prowler's third pitcher, Mike Hamerlinck. Holte led off the inning with a double and scored moments later on Anderson's single to right.

The Prowlers are in action this week as they travel to Warren on Tuesday for a 4 p.m. contest, host Alvarado on Thursday at 5 p.m., travel to Bemidji on Friday for a 4:30 p.m. contest and then host Moorhead on Saturday at 5 p.m.

ELECTED AS CO-CAPTAINS of the Thief River Falls Prowler baseball team for this season are two senior lettermen. They are Dana Stromberg (left) and Tony Johnson. Both were regulars last season and are the only two regulars back for coach Ralph Skay's team this year. Stromberg is the Prowlers number one pitcher while Johnson plays shortstop and does some hurling.

Times' Sport Spotlight

by Bob Wielinski

What Does the Future Hold?

What is the future of Thief River Falls athletic programs going to be in high school next year, if there will be no coaches around to coach the students of their respective sports? What do I mean by this statement? Well, let me try to answer that and see if some of you don't agree with me.

As of Friday, when this column is being written, there has been no agreement between the local school board and the district's teachers.

If the board and teachers should agree to contracts for a 12-month, eight-hours-a-day program with no salaries being paid for extra curricular activities, this could mean a reduction of coaching duties after school. It could also mean no coaching at all, because the coaches won't be getting paid extra for this hard work that they put in during the respective seasons. The salary would be included in the salary they would get teaching, but would not be anything extra added to a teacher's contract.

I don't blame the coaches if they decide that they won't coach any more, because they have been underpaid the way it is for the handling of the respective sports in school.

Just take a look at the way the town would feel with a new arena going up; the facilities that will be going to waste in the city because there would be no one using them. If you take another close look—it will be hurting the entire school system along with the reputation of the city—for you think that there are problems with the kids now running around town at night, you are creating just the right excuse to let them run around more than what they are now. For in sports you are in training and most of the athletes are off the streets by 10 p.m. at night. Without the sports they are going to be running around more looking for some sort of trouble to get into.

Isn't it about time that some of the parents and citizens of Thief River Falls start waking up and letting the members of this school board know how they feel and to tell them to get this salary thing settled before they end up without any teachers next year?

Just think what it would be like not to see a Thief River Falls team in a district, regional or even a state tournament next school year should the extra activities program be dropped entirely from the school program because of a little dispute that is erupting into a big issue.

When I was in school, which wasn't too far back into history, the teachers were doing their jobs very well. Sure, there may be some who aren't but there are others who are doing a real fine job.

Look at the current coaching staff at Lincoln: Jim Sims, Whitey Olson, George Schlieff, Ralph Skay, Wilt Bradach, Ed Krystosek and Jack Bayer. How many hours do these men put in, along with their assistants Lee Swanson, John Schmits, John Kapari, Gene Jergens, Lambert Brunkhorst and Quentin Jones, working with these boys, not to mention all the other teachers who are involved with the extra activities that the school has to offer?

Believe me, it comes to quite a few. These people aren't just wasting their time; they are doing something which they believe will help these students become better prepared for the future in this troubled world.

Isn't it about time the people of Thief River Falls wake up before it's too late?

These people went to colleges to help the young people. Some of them are going back during the summer just to learn the new methods which will be used in teaching in the future. Nine months out of a year is long enough for teachers and students to be in school. They need vacations just like the rest of us.

Adjustment Panel Hearing Moved To LHS Auditorium

Place of the formal hearing Thursday evening by the Thief River Falls adjustment panel has been changed from the Lincoln high school cafeteria to the school auditorium. Announcement of the change for the 8 p.m. meeting was made by C. L. Charlson, school board appointee to the adjustment panel, who requested the formal fact-finding hearing at an earlier meeting.

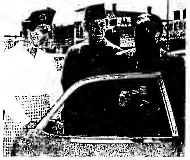
Serving with Charlson on the panel are Joe Forberg, local faculty member appointed by the Thief River Falls faculty's negotiating council, and Kenneth S. Nelson, Warren realtor and insurance agent appointed by Hon. Warren A. Saetre, judge of the district court.

The three-member panel has failed to reach agreement in previous meetings, and the formal hearing has been called to give the teachers and board of education an opportunity to present testimony directly to the panel. The hearing is open to the public, and the main reason for change in meeting place is to accommodate the people expected to attend.

Following conclusion of the formal hearing, the adjustment panel will have 15 days to make its findings. Copies of the findings must be submitted to the parties concerned and to the state commissioner of education. Panel members may file joint findings or, if still in disagreement, may file separate findings. Whether agreement is reached or not, findings of the panel are not legally binding on either the teachers or board of education.

Minnesota statutes covering this portion of the mandatory negotiations between school boards and teachers state the following:

The panel shall meet within eight days after the appointment of a third member. The parties shall attempt to provide agreement of matters relating to conditions of professional service through informal conferences. If agreement can be found through conferences between the parties with the aid and assistance of the adjustment panel prior to April 1 of each school year, it shall be so adjusted and the school board shall implement the agreement in the form of a resolution. If the results of the conference are not satisfactory to all parties concerned, the panel, upon request of either party, shall afford the parties a full hearing, after which the panel shall make their findings, a copy of which shall be sent within 15 days to each of the parties involved and to the commissioner of education.



LOYALTY DAY will be observed by members of the Veterans of Foreign Wars auxiliary in Thief River Falls on Thursday when members will distribute American flag decals for placement on automobiles. They note that the stickers should not be placed where they might obscure the vision of the driver, and suggest a rear side window or a corner of the rear window. Robert Carlson, president of the city council, is shown above affixing one of the stickers to his car under the watchful eyes of Mrs. Les DeBrlyn and Mrs. Dale Runum (left), respective president and Americanism chairman of the local VFW auxiliary.

Arctic Announces Purchase of Two Mfg. Buildings

Arctic Enterprises, Inc., Thief River Falls, has purchased plants at Karlstad and Clearbrook. It was announced recently by Lowell T. Swenson, president. The purchase prices were not disclosed.

Swenson said the 55,000-square foot Karlstad plant would manufacture other leisure time products. The first item to go into production will be an "Aqua Camper," a pop-up tent assembly that fits on the tops of station wagons.

The original work force at Karlstad will be limited, Swenson said, but it is expected to expand rapidly.

The Clearbrook plant, a 15,000-square foot facility, will be used to manufacture snowmobile shipping crates.

The Karlstad and Clearbrook plants, both former potato warehouses, are within 40 miles of here. The plants are presently being remodeled and production is expected to be underway before the end of May.

Arctic Enterprises, Inc., has an additional plant at Rainy River, Ontario, and a wholly-owned subsidiary, Allan Engineering company, a Minneapolis tool and die and stamping manufacturer.

Allen Taylor To Head Local FFA

Thief River Falls chapter of Future Farmers of America elected officers at its regular monthly meeting Monday at 8 p.m. in the agriculture room at Lincoln senior high school.

Announcement was made that the chapter has three members who will be serving the Region I organization as officers in the coming year. They are Allen Taylor, Region I secretary; Mitch Kezar, Region I reporter; and Barry Hogan, Region I sentinel.

Elected as 1969-1970 president of the chapter was Allen Taylor. Taylor has competed in many FFA activities, including public speaking, extemporaneous speaking and radio speaking contests and has been active in 4-H work.

Elected as vice-president was Don Johnson. Don is on the general livestock team and was last year's treasurer.

Barry Hogan was elected to the office of secretary. He has been in numerous FFA contests, some of which include meats judging, crops judging, wildlife and public speaking.

Larry Langevin was elected reporter, and Bob Wold was named treasurer. Both boys are active members and participate on chapter teams. Elected as chapter sentinel was Vern Anseby, who is a general livestock judge for the chapter.

Speaker for the evening was Robert Farmes, area game manager for this area, who spoke on wildlife habitat on farms and what FFA members could do to provide cover and nesting grounds for game animals and birds.

Committee reports were given on both regional and chapter banquets, fairgrounds cleanup and FFA ducks. The chapter will also organize a softball team this summer. Harlan Mickelson, recreation chairman, announced the chapter will play any other FFA chapter, and he said he would arrange a game for any other group which will dare to come against the team.

The chapter will send 19 members to the state convention next week, May 4-7. Members will compete at the state in judging teams, and also receive awards and recognition from the state association, according to Mitch Kezar, reporter.

The Northland student senate sponsors the annual event. Mary Ellen Oistad, Karlstad, and Van Swanson, Viking, are soloists for the musical part of the program. Robert Sollom, Northland freshman, will be master of ceremonies for the banquet.

Council Opens Bids On Two Bond Sales

Sale of bonds for construction of the new arena and for the 1969 improvement project, and decision to call for bids on the new arena, highlighted the special meeting of the Thief River Falls city council Tuesday. Bids on the new arena will be opened June 3 at 3 p.m. in the city council chambers.

The council had asked bids on sale of $495,000 in bonds to finance the 1969 street improvement program and water and sewer extensions. Low and successful bidder was First National bank of St. Paul at 4.883333 per cent net interest. The bonds were discounted to $490,792. Other bidders were Allison-Williams company of Minneapolis and Juran and Moody, Inc., also from St. Paul.

Arena bonds in the amount of $484,000 were sold to Allison-Williams company of Minneapolis at a bid of 5.6304. Second low bidder was First National bank of St. Paul at 5.63802, followed by Juran and Moody of St. Paul at 5.6435. Arena bonds were discounted to $478,061.

The improvement program bonds were temporary improvement bonds which will be repaid in three years through special assessment and general funding. They command a lower interest rate than the general obligation bonds for the arena which are financed over a 20-year period.

City voters authorized arena bonds of $475,000 in February of 1968. The bond sale of $484,000 is to cover $9,000 in accrued interest which will be due and payable before repayment funds can be levied and collected.

The council approved final plans and specifications before ordering the call for bids on the new arena. Previous arena bids had been rejected after consideration and the architect instructed to prepare the new plans with modifications.

In other action at the special meeting, the council held the second reading of its ordinance on sub-divisions within two miles of the corporate limits of the city. Official 1968 audit for the city was also presented to the council by the Holcomb and Knudson accounting firm.

FINISHING TOUCHES COMPLETED. Mary Glouque, an art student at Northland state junior college, looks over the painting that will be placed on display at the college's art show and sale at the Union state bank May 1-7. Works at the show will vary from realism in painting and drawing to abstract expressions in sculpture.

Sandbox Project Of Jaycees Aids Christmas Fund

To raise funds in support of Operation Christmas, the Thief River Falls Jaycees are again sponsoring the sandbox-filling project again this year. Boxes will be filled on May 12, 13 and 14 with orders being taken now.

Wayne Thompson, project chairman, said that orders can be placed by calling Northern state bank (681-4020) or 681-3163 after banking hours. Jerry Wendorff, 1968 project chairman, is assisting Thompson this year.

Persons having an existing sandbox will be charged 50 cents per wheelbarrow of sand dumped in the box. Those without a sandbox may purchase a tractor tire and sand to fill it for a total of three dollars.

Last year's project adequately supported the Operation Christmas program which is a shopping tour for underprivileged youngsters in the community. Prior to last year's sandbox-filling campaign, the Operation Christmas fund was provided by door-to-door solicitation.

Northland Art Students Show At Union Bank

Students of Northland state junior college art department will exhibit paintings, sculpture and graphics at the second annual studio art show from May 1-7 at the Union state bank in Thief River Falls.

The attitude of the art show will vary from realistic representation in painting and drawing to abstract expressions in sculpture.

The mediums are mixed depending upon the mood of the work such as a use of soft pastel chalks to produce a warmth in portraiture as opposed to a strong accumulation of paint on canvas exploding into texture.

The public is invited to the opening on May 1, from 6:30 to 9:30 p.m. at the Union state bank. All works presented will be for sale.

Newfolden Board Plans Changes In Remodeling

Alternatives are being studied by the Newfolden board of education following rejection of construction and remodeling bids last week, according to Gene Kjeltberg, superintendent. New bids will be opened at 4 p.m. on Wednesday, May 14.

The plan being studied would involve leaving most of the existing building intact, except to remove the part now used for industrial arts and the part now used for developmental reading and administrative offices, Kjeltberg said.

It would call for re-roofing part of the existing building, remodeling part of the heating system in the existing building, and remodeling the lower rooms in the present building to provide spaces for kindergarten, special education and elementary library. The tunnel under the highway to the new site and most of the outside work on the site would be deleted.

Size of the new structure would not be changed but several cost-saving alternates in the building are being studied, the superintendent noted. These include type of floors, paint, fixtures, windows and other items. If enough money is saved, more work may be done later to enlarge the lunch room and kitchen facilities and to make other minor changes in the present building to make the lower part of it more useable.

On April 23 the board rejected bids of $1,386,330 as being too high to allow enough money for equipment, fees and contingencies.

Pfc. Mark Longtin Family Receives Vietnam Medals

Army PFC Mark W. Langlin of Red Lake Falls has been posthumously awarded the silver star medal, bronze star medal, purple heart and good conduct medal. The awards were presented to his parents, Mr. and Mrs. Louis E. Langtin, on April 23 during a brief ceremony in their home. Major Phil K. Bomersheim of the department of military science at the University of North Dakota made the presentation.

PFC Longtin received the silver star for gallantry in action in Vietnam against a hostile force on Sept. 20, 1968. The citation for the silver star reads as follows:

"Private First Class Longtin distinguished himself by heroic actions on 20 September 1968, while serving with Company D, 2nd Battalion, 14th Infantry in the Republic of Vietnam. While on a reconnaissance in force mission, Company D came under an intense hostile attack. With complete disregard for his own personal safety, Private Langtin exposed himself to a devastating hail of enemy fire as he assaulted the hostile position.

"Private Longtin succeeded in destroying the enemy bunker before he was mortally wounded. His valorous actions contributed immeasurably to the success of the mission and the defeat of the enemy force. Private Longtin's personal bravery, aggressiveness and devotion to duty are in keeping with the highest traditions of the military service and reflect great credit upon himself, his unit, the 25th Infantry division and the United States Army."

Additionally, PFC Longtin was awarded the bronze star medal for meritorious service in connection with military operations against hostile forces during the period July 4, 1968, to Sept. 20, 1968. He also received the purple heart for wounds received in combat.

Prior to death, Longtin had been awarded the National Defense service medal, Vietnam service medal, Vietnam campaign ribbon, combat infantryman badge, expert badge with rifle bar and the marksman badge with automatic rifle bar.

Darrell Ruud Is Found Innocent In Federal Court

A Red Lake Falls youth was found innocent in federal court in Fargo on Monday of refusing to submit to induction into the armed forces.

The verdict for Dorrell Ruud, 23, was handed down by U.S. District Judge Ronald N. Davies. Judge Davies said Ruud's draft board in Marshall county "had no basis in fact" for denying Ruud conscientious objector status and classifying him 1-A.

Judge Davies noted that on Jan. 22, 1968, the chief of the conscientious objector section of the Justice department, T. Oscar Smith, wrote a letter to the state of Minnesota board of appeals. Smith recommended Ruud be classified as a conscientious objector (1-0).

On April 9, 1968, the board of appeals voted 4-0 to classify Ruud 1-A. Ruud, who has sought conscientious objector status since 1963, was charged with failing to submit to induction on June 25, 1968.

No witnesses were called in Ruud's defense. Instead, his case was based on Ruud's draft file which was introduced into evidence by an assistant U.S. attorney. The file contained the justice department letter to the Minnesota board of appeals.

Answer Questions on Federal Income Tax

These questions most frequently asked by taxpayers on federal income tax matters with authoritative answers are provided by the office of the district director of Internal revenue, St. Paul.

Q—If I file my return now, how long will it take for me to get my refund?

A—The normal processing cycle for refunds mailed now is 5-6 weeks if the return is accurate and complete. Send your return to your regional service center.

If there is a delay beyond the usual 5-6 weeks period due to the large volume of returns being received or missing or inaccurate information, you should hear from IRS about your refund within 10 weeks from the time you filed. Taxpayers should wait at least 10 weeks from the time they filed before writing about their refund.

To avoid delays, be sure your Social Security number is entered accurately, all W-2 forms are attached, and the return is signed. Both husband and wife should sign if it is a joint return. Where the wife has income, her Social Security number and W-2 forms must be included.

Q—Where can I get a copy of the new 1040 ES tax form?

A—The new estimated tax form packages will be mailed to taxpayers February 1. If you filed an estimated tax declaration last year or owed more than $40 when you filed your 1967 return, you will receive a 1040 ES from, Declaration of Estimated Income Tax for Individuals, in the mail.

The new forms are preaddressed to assure proper identification of estimated tax credits. Be sure to use your preaddressed form when you file. Others filing for the first time should get a Form 1040 ES from our office.

Q—I'm all set to file my return but my W-2 hasn't come yet. What should I do?

A—Wait until your W-2 arrives. The law requires employers to issue tax withholding statements to employees by January 31 so you should receive the statement shortly.

If you don't get your W-2 statement by January 31 ask your employer about it.

Q—I can reduce my taxes if I itemize my deductions and my wife takes the standard deduction. Can we do this?

A—No. Married couples filing separate returns must handle their deductions the same way. If one itemizes deductions, the other must also itemize.

Married couples filing separately must also take the same type of standard deduction. If one takes the 10 per cent standard deduction, both must take it.

Q—I'm paying back a loan I took out for my son's college education. Can I deduct these payments on my 1968 return?

A—No, only that part of your repayments representing interest on the loan will be deductible when you itemize.

To brighten basement stairs, carpet them with deck canvas, an extra-tough cotton fabric available at awning shops or marine supply houses. It comes in 31 to 33-inch widths. Glue canvas down with fabric cement. To give the natural-colored fabric a bright look as well as more durability, paint each step a different eye-catching color.

QUESTIONS Answered for VETERANS

Q—I have just been discharged from military service after two years active duty and want to enter college. How do I get permission from VA to enter as a GI student?

A—Write, call or visit your nearest Veterans Administration office and request an application form. Complete this form and return it to the VA which will then provide you with a Certificate of Eligibility that will permit you to enter school under the GI Bill, provided the school and courses are approved for this program.

Q—Recently I applied for an increase in my service-connected disability rating from the Veterans Administration. When I was discharged from service two years ago and originally rated service-disabled by VA I did not apply for the National Service Life Insurance available to veterans with service-connected disabilities. Will an increased rating entitle me to apply for this NSLI coverage?

Q—I have just been discharged from military service after two years active duty and want to enter college. How do I get permission from VA to enter as a GI student?

Langen Proposals Are Included in U.S. House Bill

Basic provisions of the clean lakes bill introduced in 1967 by Congressman Odin Langen were included in the water quality improvement act passed Wednesday by the House of Representatives.

"The comprehensive planning programs in this bill will go a long way toward halting the steady erosion of our lakes and restoring them to their natural beauty for the enjoyment of future generations," Langen said in a statement submitted to the House during debate on the bill.

Langen explained that the clean lakes section of the act authorizes the secretary of Interior to enter into contracts and grants with various individuals, agencies and organizations for research and development on the problems of lake eutrophication and other lake pollution problems.

"The secretary would also be authorized to develop field laboratories, research facilities and demonstration projects," Langen said. "We desperately need new and improved methods for the prevention, removal and control of natural or manmade pollution in our lakes. This bill will provide the means of accomplishing these methods, and it is hoped that the Senate will approve today's House action."

Congressman Langen told his colleagues that many lakes in his native Minnesota have been affected by pollution. "These lakes are in areas where you might least suspect such deterioration," he said, "which indicates how long this problem has been allowed to grow without proper solution. It is now such a widespread problem across the nation that federal assistance and coordination is needed."

The Library Corner

by Flora Allison

The week of April 20, is, of course, library week, and in observance of this event we extend a special invitation to all of you to pay a visit to your library, and most especially all who have never come inside. We can't imagine any taxpayer in Pennington and Red Lake counties not ever having been to see where at least part of his tax dollars go.

We're sure you'll be impressed, for the variety of books is enormous for a county this size, and the reference section is quite complete, also within the limits of the size of the area served and the budget available. Do make it a point during the special week for getting acquainted with library service, to come in and look around. If you haven't a card and live in either of these two counties, by all means register at the desk and get what YOU pay for, whether you use it or not.

New books we hope you'll read include one by a famous personality in the medical world, Dr. Janet Travell, once the White House physician, and perhaps most famous for having attended the John Kennedys. Now she emerges as already a literary light, having written an illuminating autobiography: "Office Hours: Day and Night." Here she displays a literary excellence that came as a surprise to me, anyway, and I dare say to at least a few others.

She writes freely and candidly about the career which has brought her into intimate contact with a great cross-section of personalities in the contemporary world of the American scene. Quoting from Alan Seeger's "I Have a Rendezvous With Death," she sees in it a parallel with his destiny and that of JFK, for whom she had a kind of hero-worship so evident when she speaks of him and his family.

Often he voiced the belief that death would come to him with suddenness and violence, and she quotes him as quoting Lincoln, who years before had said, "I see a storm coming and I know that His hand is in it. If He has a place and a part for me, I believe that I am truly ready."

In thoroughly readable style, she goes on to tell her own life story, personal as well as professional, sprinkling it with original poetry. Since I love poetry, I read every line of that, but it can be by-passed if you wish to do so, and will not interfere with context. There are vivid accounts of her flights in Air Force One, the US official plane, of banquets with de Gaulle, Kruschchev, and other dignitaries, and of her handling of the president's health by using preventive measures, believing as she did that "a President does not have time to be ill."

Technicians and engineers in industry will find in a new book just acquired, an organized and thorough treatment of the operating and design fundamentals of measurement and automatic control systems used in the process fields. If this means anything to you (they've lost me here!) be sure to get "Process Instruments and Control Handbook", edited by Douglas Considine.

"An Autobiographical Novel" by Kenneth Rexroth is really learning how "the other half lives", under the discerning eye of a news analyst who could punch out a by-line almost on demand. Rexroth absorbed the feel for life that makes him a man of letters and a projector of images that are so sharp and precise that no reader can fail to create mental images that are mirror-sharp and faithful in their reflection. No stratum of human society is left untouched, and Rexroth knows them all. The dust cover gave only a small hint of the contents of this compelling and slightly offbeat book. It's a book of surprises for the average reader, I'll wager, one which I found well worth my time in reading.

If you're a teenage girl, I feel sure you'll identify with "A Time for Tenderness" by Covanna. It gets at the problems that confront a young girl who feels an increasing inability to communicate with her mother, or sort out her own feelings about her mother's obvious prejudices toward anyone with a darker skin or culture different from their own.

There's also the excitement of Rio at carnival time, and of Peggy's (the heroine's) first brush with love. He's the son of Brazilian aristocrats and this automatically puts him out of her orbit. She contrasts his world with the deplorable conditions in the area in which she works in a clinic, and finds it hard to reconcile the two states of condition. Eventually she grows up, past pain and disappointment, to a new awareness, a richer life, a new world without her love, but able to compensate and to feel that in time she can lose her heart again, to someone with whom a congenial existence would be more likely.

Fellas will dig, "The Day it Rained Forever," by Robert C. Lee, but there's nothing to stop girls from taking it out too, it's intriguing stuff for either sex. From its opener with the forest fire threat in Spring Valley, due to a prolonged drouth, and then the torrential rains that almost devastate the valley, it's full of surprises, not the least is the suspicion that an eccentric old professor who lives there has dropped hints about having created a rain machine.

Some of the boys in the basketball club decide to see if they can discover the rain machine with an intent to destroy it before the rains destroy the valley. When a mud slide threatens to wipe them out as they visit the professor's shacky house, it's a heart-in-the-throat tale of adventure by the bucketful.

For little people, there are some darling little books we want to mention. "A Book About God," by Florence Finch is a reverent and simple book with great beauty in the thought and pictures. A small child finds God in the sky, in the air, in the hills and mountains, in all growing things. This is destined to become a favorite. Look for it in the religion section, the 200's.

"The Poodle Who Barked at the Wind" is by Charlotte Zolotow and, although it isn't new, it tells a nice little tale that is good for a dozen laughs, and pictures a mischievous little poodle at the heart and center of a family circle. It will warm kids' hearts.

"A Small Lot," by Eros Keith, is about an empty lot in a big city, where the kids who felt so hemmed in by the tall buildings could let their imaginations run wild and make out of this precious bit of space whatever they wanted to dream it was.

THE GOLIARDS folk-singing duo from Minneapolis, who recently appeared with the Association, will perform at the Thief River Falls city auditorium tomorrow at 8 p.m. The concert is being sponsored by the Northland state junior college student senate.

16 Teams Enter Prowler-Jaycee Invitational

by Bob Wielinski

"It should be a real tough meet." That is what Thief River Falls Prowlers head track coach Jim Sims had to say about the upcoming first annual Prowler-Jaycee Invitational track meet scheduled for Thief River Falls on Saturday. The Prowlers and Jaycees are hoping for a fine turn-out of fans to see this meet which will include 16 teams. They also hope that the weather is cooperative for the meet scheduled to begin at 10 a.m.

Sims indicated on Tuesday that Crookston would have to be one of the top choices to win the meet with their fine runners in Wayne Wagner and Craig Peterson, along with the strong relay teams. Of course, Bemidji and the Prowlers will also be two of the top favorites.

In addition to these three teams which are entered in the meet, other teams indicating that they will be here on Saturday include East Grand Forks, Middle River, Oslo, Red Lake Falls, Bagley, Greenbush, Roseau, Stephen, Ada, Warroad, Warren, Newfolden and Fosston. All 16 teams have some real fine track men and should make this meet just about a preview of the Region Eight meet which will be held later in May.

Crookston Strong

Wagner, Peterson and Alan Duckworth are the strong men for Crookston. Wagner runs both the hurdles events in real good times. He placed in the Sioux indoor and outdoor meets at the University of North Dakota on the two previous weekends. Peterson gives the Pirates strength in the dashes as he is running the 100 and 220 yard dashes in 10 and 23 seconds. Duckworth is the leading pole vaulter and is expected to take this event as he has gone over at 11'9" this year already. Besides these three, their relay teams are real strong, according to Sims, and should give anyone in the meet a good race.

Bemidji, another co-favorite, will be led by Mike Bratlien in the high hurdles with his best time being 18.4 seconds. Wayne Olson leads the Lumberjacks in the dashes as he has been clocked in the 100-yard dash at 10.3 seconds. Bob Aalberts is one of the top runners in the 440 with his best time this year being 53.8 seconds. Tony Burke, 6-5 strong man of the Lumberjacks teams this year, will be entered in the shot put and discus throw. The Bemidji squad also has a fine 880 relay team which has run the event this year in 1:35.

Prowler Hopes

Thief River Falls, expected to be strong this year in the dashes, distances and relay teams along with the high jump, have found some of the track men leaving the squad. The latest was high jumper, hurdler and weight man Sheldon Joppru, who decided to give up the sport.

The Prowlers will be led by the running of dashmen Rich Habedank and Rex Rugland, along with distance men Bill Norman, John Harris and Neil Randorf. Habedank and Rugland placed in the 100 and 220 yard dashes at the Sioux Outdoor meet with Habedank taking fourth in the 100 and 220 while Rugland finished fifth in the 220. Norman, a speedster, anchors the 880 yard relay teams.

One of the top trackmen from the other schools that will be entered in the meet on Saturday is Rick Merkens, Ada, in the high hurdles. His best time so far this year has been 21 seconds. Mark Ness, another speedster, will be running in the dashes and be entered in the long jump while Steve Ruebke has ran the 440 dash in 55.2 seconds for one of the top times in the area. Oslo will bring in all-around athlete Dennis Wisk who will be entered in the discus and shot put.

WORKING HARD so they can capture the first annual Prowler-Jaycee Invitational track title on Saturday are members of the Thief River Falls Prowler track squad. Two of the three are working on the 100-yard dash, while a third member of the squad is going over the low hurdles. The meet will have 16 teams entered, including Ada, Fosston, East Grand Forks, Crookston, Bemidji and others making up the field for the event on Saturday.

Bagley, with one of the best pole vaulters in the area, according to information sheets sent in to meet manager Sims, has Tim Johnson who has cleared the bar at 12 feet this season. Kim Everhart, a sophomore, will be entered in the high jump and some running events. He is an all-around star for the Flyers. Red Lake Falls will be led by Mike Toulouse in the high and low hurdles. Although no times were given on him, he is expected to be in the finals along with other favorites.

Boucha Leads Warroad

Roseau will be led by Scott Habstritt in the high jump. He finished fifth in the Sioux Outdoor meet last Saturday, while half-miler Dean Skolen has a good time at 2:14. Also hailing from District 32 will be a fine Warroad team which will be led by Henry Boucha, who like in hockey, is also a star performer in track and baseball for the Warriors. He is expected to be entered in the 100 yard dash along with some other running events. The best time in the half mile is owned by Krahn of the Warriors who has been clocked in 2:05 this year.

Stephen will bring in track star Phil Anderson who placed in three events in the Prowlers snow-ball meet last year. He has been clocked at 10.3 in the 100 and 23 flat in the 220 yard dash. Warren is led by the running of Joel Engen who will be one of the top finishers in the 100 and 220 yard dash as he is real fast. East Grand Forks will be led by Don Jamieson, a small boy at 5-6, but a real runner in the mile and two mile runs.

After High Water, What?

How will high water effect early season fishing in Minnesota? This question is being asked every day. We called Bill Jay at the Fish Hatchery at Lake Sallie near Detroit Lakes. Bill told us that the walleyes were spawning in normal fashion and that the northerns had finished spawning. He was of the opinion that fishing would be near normal when the season opens. This, of course, depends on local weather conditions at the time.

Walleye and northern pike season opens May 17th on inland waters. The same for the Muskie. The bass season opens on May 31st. However, in the Ely area, the bass season opens the same day as walleye and pike. On May 3rd, fishing season on all species on the Iowa-Minnesota boundary, the Minnesota-Wisconsin Boundary. . and the Minnesota-North and South Dakota Boundaries.

Mid-American Canoe Race

Two hundred and twenty-four entries have been registered for the NINTH running of the annual Mid-American Canoe Race scheduled for Sunday, May 4th to be held on the Fox River 40 miles west of Chicago. The race is sponsored by the FOX VALLEY PARK DISTRICT, AURORA, ILLINOIS. Nine midwestern states have entered competitors. These states are MINNESOTA, Illinois, Wisconsin, Nebraska, Ohio, Indiana, Michigan, Iowa and Missouri.

Auto Racing

DONNYBROOK INTERNATIONAL SPEEDWAY at Brainerd has announced final dates for a road and drag racing schedule that will extend from Memorial Day thru September 21st this year, and will pay out over 100,000 dollars in prize money. The season opens on Memorial Day weekend with the Skogmo Memorial, honoring the late Don Skogmo killed in an Area racing mishap. The event will feature all classes of cars. Over 250 drivers are expected to compete.

Liars Contest

If you haven't entered the Minnesota Outdoors—Thief River Falls Times Liars contest, why not send in your story this week? Send it to the Times or to Minnesota Outdoors, 1041 Rossman Avenue, Detroit Lakes, Minnesota 56501. The winner will receive a selection of fishing lures.

Wildlife Museum

A couple of years ago we saw a cool black squirrel cross the highway in front of our car. We told several people about it, and they didn't believe us. Last Fall when we were in Bagley, we visited the Bagley Wildlife museum and there in one of the cases was a mounted coal black squirrel.

So if you don't believe that there is such a thing as a coal black squirrel, we suggest that you visit this fine museum in Bagley. Here you will find over 600 specimens—most of them arranged in natural habitat settings. There are 20 large display windows with both water and land backgrounds. Henry Haug (Hank to you) is an expert taxidermist who has spent 40 years assembling this excellent collection.

There are 40 fish on display including everything from sunfish to muskies and paddle fish. The animals run from mice to moose. The birds include the humming bird and the pelican. Really, this is tremendous and is worth going out of your way to visit this wildlife museum. . .one of the finest in this part of the nation.

Cohos Clipped Before Release In French River

Fisheries workers at the conservation department's Spire Valley rearing station in Cass county are busy these days clipping fins from coho salmon to be stocked next month in Lake Superior.

Some 100,000 cohos are scheduled for introduction into the lake about the middle of May via the French river. One fin is being clipped from each of 25,000 of these for identification and research purposes.

The fish are taken from the spring fed pools and placed in smaller tanks where a tranquilizer is added. Within two or three minutes the salmon are relaxed and can be easily handled. The tranquilizer reduces the shock to the fish and minimizes mortality during the operation.

After being clipped the fish are put back into the rearing pools where they quickly regain their normal activity.

Fin clipping is done to determine results of stocking. It is carried on by states and provinces bordering the Great Lakes and is coordinated by offices of the Great Lakes Fishery commission.

Form 1040x Used To Correct Tax Returns to IRS

Persons who discover that they must amend or correct their federal income tax returns are urged by the IRS to use a new Form 1040X to make speedier corrections of a return submitted with an error.

Use of the 1040X allows taxpayers to correct only the item which was in error. A complete copy of the original return is not required. Care should be exercised, however, according to George Lethert, IRS district director, that all entries at the top of the form—name, address, social security number, marital status and other information—appear the same as on the original return.

Use of this special form permits the revenue service to make corrections of returns without delay. This is particularly important, Lethert said, when the original return reported a tax liability, and the Form 1040X becomes a refund return.

Forms 1040X can be obtained from any Internal revenue service office.

Retirement Not Requirement for Medicare Aids

A person nearing age 65 need not retire to qualify for benefits under Medicare.

Everyone approaching 65, whether he is working or not, should apply in one of the three months before the month in which he is 65, Clifford Kittelson, district manager for social security advised today.

Applying before the month of one's birthday is necessary to assure coverage under the medical insurance part of Medicare starting with the first of the month in which one is 65. The individual who delays until the month of his birthday has no protection until the first of the next month.

Later sign-ups result in additional delays in protection. The sign-up period ends three months after the month in which a person is 65.

There is a special enrollment each January, February and March for late-comers. Anyone who delays more than three years after his first enrollment period ends will not be able to get coverage under any circumstance.

"Our advice to everyone, regardless of his work situation," Kittelson emphasized, "is to visit his social security office in one of the three months before the month in which he is 65."

Safety Check is Good Idea for Spring Cleaning

Spring cleaning is as good a time as any to give homes a complete safety-check. During the winter months, a considerable amount of rubbish may have accumulated.

While weeding out the clutter from useful articles, it's a good idea to check appliances. Are any cords frayed, plugs cracked or sockets loose? If so, it's time for replacement.

Check the appliances for operating efficiency. If you get a shock, or the appliance is faulty, regard these as urgent warnings.

About 70 per cent of the 2.9 million building fires during the last three years were residential fires. About one fire in every six starts from power-consuming appliances, faulty wiring or other electrical malfunctions. Rubbish, while not a source of ignition, is an excellent fuel for blazes which can wipe out an entire dwelling.

Mondale Asks $25 Million in Credit Advance

Senator Walter F. Mondale has introduced a Senate joint resolution to authorize USDA's Commodity Credit corporation to advance $25 million in emergency credit to flood-stricken farmers in the Midwest. The loan funds would be repaid to CCC.

In Senate remarks Mondale said that a Friday tour of flood-stricken Minnesota makes it "clear that loan funds will be needed if farm operators are to stay in business. Many of them have exhausted their resources digging out of the heavy winter snow, buying emergency feed and paying other abnormal wintertime expenses. The additional costs of removing debris, plowing under silt, leveling fields and repairing damage make it impossible to continue unless emergency loan funds are made available quickly."

Although USDA recently released $41 million in loan funds, Sen. Mondale said that these funds, plus collections from Farmers Home administration's revolving loan account, are already committed by the USDA agency.

Region Workshop Slated May 9 at Bemidji State

Minnesota Lt. Gov. James B Goetz will be the featured speaker at a special community and regional development workshop Friday, May 9, at Bemidji state college.

Goetz will speak to about 150 rural and community leaders from northwestern Minnesota on the topic of "The Challenge of Change."

The workshop participants, who will attend by invitation only, will spend the day in intensive study and exchange of ideas on community and regional resource development, according to Terry Courneya, Pennington county agent. They will be encouraged to return to their home communities and stimulate further local discussion about subjects discussed at the Bemidji meeting.

The workshop begins at 8:30 a.m. with registration and coffee, followed by a welcome address by Robert Decker, president of Bemidji state college. Presiding over the morning session will be R. C. Nelson, president of Northwestern state bank in Hallock.

Goetz will speak at 9:30 a.m., following Decker's welcoming remarks. At 10 a.m. David M. Nelson, research associate at the University of Minnesota, will speak on "The Apparent Future of Northwest Minnesota."

He will be followed at 10:45 a.m. by John S. Hoyt Jr., associate professor and extension economist at the university. Hoyt will discuss "The Rationale of Regionalism". Final speaker on the morning program will be Gene Ramsey, university professor of sociology, who will talk on the topic of "Effecting Change—The Power Structure."

After a noon luncheon, the participants will break up into discussion groups to deal with the subject of "Regionalism." Presiding at the afternoon session will be Marvin R. Campbell, president of First national bank in Crookston. The discussion groups will discuss community development and regionalism, and plans and programs for follow-up meetings within the region.

After a short coffee break, the groups will report on their discussions and the panel of morning speakers will react to their comments and suggestions. LaVern A. Freeh, head of special programs for the university's agricultural extension service, will summarize the day's activities. The group will adjourn at 4:15 p.m.

The conference is being sponsored by the University of Minnesota through its agricultural extension service and Bemidji state college. Cooperating are the university's technical institute at Crookston, junior colleges and area vocational schools in the region, and Agricultural and Industrial development, Inc., which is made up of Ottertail, Minnkota and Northern States power companies.

RLF Branch of Regional Library Has Open House

Sunday afternoon the Red Lake Falls branch of the Northwest Regional library was formally opened. It has been in operation since February 17, but formal opening of the library was postponed until the weather was more favorable.

Gene Betto of Thief River Falls acted as master of ceremonies for the brief program. Speakers were Eric Hammershoy, president of the library board; Vaughn Thorfinson, mayor of Red Lake Falls; Sidney Kirk, member of the county board of commissioners for Red Lake county; Merle Lindberg, chairman of the county board of commissioners of Pennington county; and Miss Dorothy Last, director of the Northwest Regional library.

About 35 people were present to become acquainted with the facilities of the new library. Refreshments were served by Mrs. Vincent Hunt. Mrs. Martin DeHann, librarian of the Red Lake Falls library, poured.

Rick Stenseths View Eisenhower Body at Rotunda

PFC and Mrs. Rick Stenseth, both former local residents, were among those who viewed the body of former President Dwight D. Eisenhower lying in state at the nation's capitol rotunda recently.

PFC Stenseth is the son of Mrs. Helen Stenseth and a 1967 graduate of Lincoln high school, while his wife, the former Debbie Klockman, is the daughter of Mr. and Mrs. Ralph Klockman and a 1968 LHS graduate.

An employee of the commerce department's bureau of personnel investigators, Mrs. Stenseth was also a member of a group of department personnel welcoming the king of Jordan recently. Her husband is a military policeman at Walter Reed army hospital in Washington, D.C.

MR School Sets Festival Friday

Middle River community school will present its spring festival on Friday at 8 p.m. in the Middle River school gymnasium. In the Monday edition of the Times the date was incorrectly listed as Thursday.

Everyone is invited to attend. Lunch will be served following the program by the Middle River Girl's Athletic association.

Liquid Chlorine Bleach Purifies Drinking Water

Liquid chlorine bleach can be used to purify flood contaminated water, according to civil defense authorities who recommend the following quantities to purify suspicious water:

Add 16 drops liquid chlorine bleach to one gallon.

Add 4 drops liquid chlorine bleach to one quart.

Mix well and let stand at least five minutes before drinking.

Do not use the water unless you can detect a residual chlorine taste or smell. A slight taste of chlorine is desirable, for that proves the water has been treated and is safe for use.

In using household bleach for water purification, make sure the label states the bleach contains sodium hypochlorite, a chlorine compound as its only active ingredient.

Once purified, water can be stored safely for weeks or months in tightly capped empty plastic bleach bottles.

Flood waters generally leave behind considerable mold, mildew and germ contamination. To effectively remove mold and mildew and destroy harmful germs, use a scrub-down of household surfaces with three-fourths cup of liquid chlorine bleach per gallon of hot sudsy water.

Prowlers Post Second Win; Stop Warren

by Bob Wielinski
Times Sports Writer

Thief River Falls Prowlers ran their winning string to two Tuesday afternoon as they stopped the Warren Ponies by a 5-2 score on the Ponies home diamond.

Three Prowler pitchers limited the Ponies to five hits, while two Warren pitchers gave up 9 hits to the Prowlers bats.

Dan Sullivan started on the mound for the Prowlers, going the first two frames and giving up no runs on no hits while Dana Stromberg pitched the next three innings and received credit for the win. Tim Duke finished the final two innings for the Prowlers. Larry Graham started on the hill for the Ponies and gave up all five runs on eight hits with Jerry Evin hurling the final inning of the contest.

The two teams were held scoreless for the first three frames, with the Ponies breaking the ice and taking a lead in the bottom of the fourth inning. Graham singled, moved to second on an error by the Prowlers' Tom Duke then rode home on Gary Hildenbrand's single, giving the Ponies a 1-0 lead.

The Prowlers took the lead in the top of the fifth as Dana Stromberg gained first on an error by the first baseman, moved to second as the pitcher threw wild on a pick off play and scored on a wild pitch. Tim Duke flied to the shortstop for the first out, but a walk to Tony Johnson and a single by Gordon Peterson gave the Prowlers men on first and third. Don Balmer struck out for the second out of the frame, but Tom Duke lashed a single to left field, driving in Johnson and Peterson with the second and third runs of the frame, giving the Prowlers a 3-1 lead.

They added their final two runs of the game in the sixth inning as Steve Daley led off with a single and rode home on Stromberg's double, who in turn came home on Tony Johnson's single, giving the Prowlers a 5-1 lead.

The Ponies came back with a run of their own in the sixth inning as Dick Knutson drew a walk, moved to second on a fielder's choice and came home on Hildenbrand's double to center field, cutting the Prowlers' lead to 5-2. Prowler pitcher Tim Duke ran into trouble in the final inning as he loaded the bases by way of walks, but force-outs at the plate and at third ended the inning without the Ponies scoring.

Next action for the Prowlers will be Thursday afternoon as they host the Alvarado club at 5 p.m. and then open their Northwest conference schedule on Friday as the travel to Bemidji for a 4:30 p.m. contest. On Saturday the Prowlers will be back in action at the fairgrounds as they play host to the strong Moorhead Spuds team. This game is scheduled for 5 p.m. The Spuds are the number one baseball team in the state while Bemidji is ranked number nine.

LHS Tennis Squad Extends Win String to Four

Prowler tennis team ran its current winning string to four straight on Monday and Tuesday by stopping East Grand Forks and Detroit Lakes. On Tuesday they shutout the Little Green Wave by a 9-0 score, and then traveled to Detroit Lakes on Tuesday and toppled the Lakers by a 6-3 score.

In Monday's contest, Steve Edlund remained undefeated as the number one singles man as he shutout Jay Forney, East Grand Forks, by 6-0 and 6-0 set scores. Edlund has yet to lose a match this season.

The number two man, Stuart Waltonen of the Prowlers, won over Bill Gary of East Side with set scores of 6-1 and 6-4. The third singles man, Mark Thyren, stopped Tom Lang by set scores of 6-4 and 6-1. Thyren gained the match by stopping Tom Nepper in playoffs during the week as he became the number three singles man for two matches.

In the doubles on Monday, Kip Poppenhagen and Dan Jorgenson upped their undefeated mark to 3-0 as they stopped Steve Gravseth and Clive Weltzel by scores of 6-0 and 6-1.

Tuesday afternoon the Prowlers traveled to Detroit Lakes to meet the Detroit Lakes tennis team and came home with their fourth straight win as they stopped the Lakers by a 6-3 score. In this contest all three singles matches were won by the Prowlers, while the doubles team was defeated for the first time this year.

Edlund continued his winning ways as he stopped Kiven LaSalle in the number one singles match by scores of 6-0 and 6-0. Waltonen scored wins over Jim Obang by 6-0 and 6-0 scores, while Thyren took the third man singles match by stopping Todd Hamre by 6-0 and 6-2 scores.

The doubles team of Poppenhagen and Jorgenson was defeated by the Lakers team of Paul Benshoef and Doug Fern by set scores of 3-6 and 4-6.

The Prowlers are back in action on Friday afternoon as they play host to the Bemidji Lumberjacks. On Monday they host a strong Grand Forks Central team. On Tuesday the Northwest conference meet is scheduled for the Thief River Falls courts. These matches will begin at 10 a.m. Members of the Northwest conference are Crookston, East Grand Forks, Bemidji and the Prowlers. Bemidji is the defending champion.

WEST OF THE BRIDGE, on the north bank of the Tamarac river, lies the Waskish hatchery of the Minnesota conservation department. One of seven such operations in the state, it includes facilities to capture walleyes, strip them of eggs and sperm, contain the eggs through the incubation period, hatch and collect the fry for transportation and release in Minnesota waters or trade with other states.

Waskish Hatchery Helps State Grow Walleyes for Sportsmen

by Mervin Lundin
Times Editor

While sport and commercial fishermen concern themselves with the best possible ways to take the greatest number of fish, conservationists are struggling to increase the odds of maintaining or increasing the supply. One of these efforts has its beginning on the Tamarac river at Waskish on Upper Red lake—one of the favorite haunts of fishermen from this area.

The Waskish hatchery has been in operation for a number of years to catch walleyes making their spawning run up the Tamarac river, and to extract eggs and sperm for producing walleye fry. The present hatchery building, with its complex system of water supply and fry transfer, was built in 1940.

In 1968 the hatchery at Waskish took 157,000,000 walleye eggs during the spring run—part of the 600,000,000 quota which is filled jointly by seven hatcheries in the state. The Waskish take is about the same every year with some fluctuation due to the season. Generally, however, the main run seems to start about April 23 [illegible] according to John Koller, manager of the hatchery.

Koller, who had headed the Waskish operation for three years, has been with the fisheries section of the Minnesota conservation department for 12 years. He took time from his busy schedule Saturday to explain the operation and to comment on its purpose—to provide better fishing for Minnesotans and their out-of-state guests.

100 Million Fry

Last year the hatchery had a 65 per cent hatch on the 157 million eggs taken—many times greater than the percentage in natural spawning. Of the approximately 100 million fry hatched, 30 million were returned to Red lake. The remainder were placed in rearing ponds, transferred directly to Minnesota lakes for re-stocking, or shipped to other states in exchange for eggs of other fish species.

If sufficient rearing ponds were available, most fry would likely be kept in such ponds until they reached sufficient size to have the greatest chance of survival. In such ponds they have no predation problem from larger fish and other species, but these ponds are limited. Predation is also no problem in the freeze-out lakes where some of the fry are released. In these lakes, which freeze to a sufficient depth to kill all fish in some years, fry are relatively safe. Fry raised in rearing ponds will be released by fall.

Grow by Spurts

Koller said that walleyes from the eggs being taken this week will reach five inches in length by September. Their size will remain almost unchanged over the winter but growth will accelerate again in the spring and summer of the following year. Growth is related to water temperature and food supply, but regulated primarily by water temperature. Northerns will grow to a foot in length the first year, he added. The six to nine-inch "hammer handles" that voraciously attack a lure in middle to late summer are from the same year's hatch.

What is the life expectancy of walleye fry? It would make life insurance salesmen shudder. Only one and one-half to three per cent grow to catchable size. The other 97 to 98½ per cent fall victim to other hungry fish, pollution or other causes of death.

The Operation

In anticipation of the walleye spawning run each year, hatchery personnel build docks and string a lead for a pound net across the Tamarac river near the mouth on Upper Red lake. Spawning walleyes follow the lead through a "throat" and into the trap area of the net, which is lifted each morning, and walleyes sorted according to sex. Walleyes are held in net enclosures in the river until stripped of eggs or sperm, after which they are returned to the river to complete their run.

Females which release eggs when slight pressure is applied by hand are termed "ripe". They are placed in tubs, and a selected number of males—at least two for each female—are placed in other tubs. Females not ripe are returned to the holding area. Those not ripe in three days are released.

When all the fish have been sorted, the fish are stripped into a pan containing a small amount of water. While two men strip the fish of eggs and sperm, a third keeps the pan in constant motion to assure a mixture. Eggs have a small hole when laid for the sperm to enter for fertilization. Since the eggs swell in water, however, the hole soon closes and no further fertilization is possible. At Waskish, male walleyes outnumber females on an average of 32 to one. Some daily counts have been as high as 125 to one.

With the stripping completed, the eggs are covered with a mixture of water and clay to absorb the adhesive on the eggs and keep them separated. This is necessary under hatchery conditions where eggs are concentrated in a small area. In natural spawning, the eggs are released a few at a time and so do not stick together in a mass. The clay is then washed off and the eggs are put into tubs to harden for several hours.

After the eggs have hardened, they are transferred into glass hatchery jars—about 386,000 eggs into three quarts of water in each jar. A section of hose which [illegible] inserted and connected to a faucet when the jar is set in place in the hatchery. Water pressure is adjusted at the faucet to keep the eggs moving as the water circulates from the bottom of the jar. Excess water spills over the lip of the jar into metal tanks. Unfertilized eggs turn white, rise to the top and are siphoned off to be discarded.

Transfer System

The metal tanks become part of the fry transfer system. When eggs hatch in 23 to 30 days—depending on water temperature—the fry swim to the top of the jar and are carried over the lip into the tanks. They then enter a three-inch pipe transfer system where the water flow eventually brings them to a large fry tank. From here they are dipped out, measured by density for count, and prepared for transfer to release points.

Each black speck—which is a potential pair of fillets—has an egg sac which serves as a food supply for several days. As time passes, the fry begin to eat plankton—microscopic water organisms—and then live food. They are on their way to becoming someone's sport and table fare.

Waskish hatchery also ships green (recently stripped) eggs and eyed (nearly mature) eggs to other points. These are placed on trays made of fine mesh stretched on a square frame. Two quarts of green eggs or one and one-half quarts of eyed eggs are put on each tray. The case of trays is packed with ice to keep the eggs cool and moist, and they can be in transit for several days without damage.

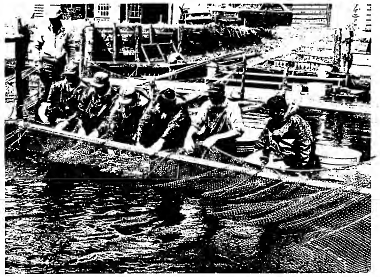
Minnesota exchanges some walleye eggs with other states for other species, including eggs of trout and grayling. Some of the eggs are also shipped to other hatcheries, since they can be transported greater distances with more safety than recently-hatched fry.

During the spring run, the Waskish hatchery employs eight people from that area and five fisheries section employees in addition to the manager.

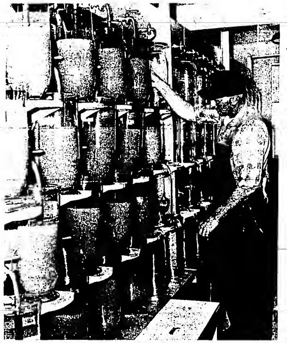
Koller could mention no definite cause for the generally small size of the "Waskish walleye". Relation of walleye population to available food, intensive commercial fishing on Lower Red lake, winter water temperature, length of growing season—all have been mentioned as possibilities. Fish hatched at Waskish and released in other lakes have reached the eight to 10-pound class, indicating that the "Waskish walleye" is no special miniature strain of the species.

But while they may not be large, the Waskish walleyes are plentiful and delicious—and provide sport for thousands of anglers on Upper Red lake. Through the hatchery [illegible] ram, they also give sport to thousands of other fishermen in Minnesota and other states.

The public is invited to visit the hatchery and watch the operation which should continue through this week. Morning is the best time to see the most action.



SORTING WALLEYES caught in the pound net over night are members of the crew at the Waskish hatchery. John Koller, second from right, is manager of the hatchery and supervises the operation. Female walleyes are checked several times a day to see if they are "ripe"—ready to produce eggs easily when pressure is applied. Those that are ready are placed in tubs and taken from the tubs as the stripping operation progresses. They are then released in the river to continue their spawning run. Many of the females retain eggs which will be released naturally further upstream.



WALLEYE EGGS, approximately 386,000 to each three quart unit, are just beginning their incubation period at the Waskish hatchery. Water directly from the Tamarac river is used in the hatchery, and date of hatch will vary from 23 to 30 days, depending upon water temperature. John Koller, manager of the hatchery, is pictured as he adjusts the water flow in a container just added to the battery of jars.

TRANSFER OF EGGS from tub to jar is done carefully with a common dipper. Eggs are not placed in jars immediately after stripping but left in the tubs to harden. In less than a month these eggs will be walleye fry, ready for transfer to Minnesota lakes or managed rearing ponds.

No Grazing On Diverted Farm Program Acres

Farmers were reminded today that the "no-grazing" period for land diverted from production under the 1969 feed grain and wheat programs started April 1. It will continue for the following five months until September 1.

Pennington producers signed up to participate in the 1969 feed grain and wheat programs number about 800.

Winton Knutson, chairman of the Pennington County Agricultural Stabilization and Conservation committee, explained that producers who are diverting land under the program(s) have agreed not to graze the land being diverted during a specific five-month period of the growing season and not to harvest a crop from the land at any time during the year.

Farmers who are taking part in the conservation reserve and cropland adjustment programs have agreed not to graze or harvest crops from land diverted under these programs during the life of the agreements. These provisions are important to producers because any violation of them may result in reduction or total loss of payments otherwise earned under the programs.

STRIPPING EGGS from a female walleye is John Koller, manager of the Waskish hatchery on Upper Red lake. Koller and another employee of the hatchery strip male and female walleyes into a pan which is continuously shaken by a third employee. Each unfertilized egg has a tiny hole through which the sperm must enter. The egg swells in water and the hole closes, so constant mixing is done to ensure the greatest possible amount of fertilization.

Antelope Invades SW Minnesota; Killed in Fence

An antelope with a South Dakota game and fish department tag in its ear apparently fell afoul of a barbed wire fence on the Rock county, Minnesota, farm this winter, resulting in the animal's death.

The conservation department reported today that a farmer near Jasper had called the local sheriff late in January to advise him that he had a strange looking animal on his farm which he had been feeding for a month along with his livestock.

He said he had returned from town that day and found the animal lying near his driveway in a distressed condition.

The sheriff notified conservation officer R. B. Remmey who attempted to drive out to the farm but found the road had drifted shut.

Remmey called the farmer who sold the animal had just died. Remmey asked the farmer to place the animal in a shed until the road was plowed and he could reach the farm to examine it.

The road was blocked for a week, but when he finally made it to the farm Remmey found a female antelope with a tag in its ear reading "Game and Fish Department, Rapid City, So. Dakota" and a number.

Examination revealed the antelope had severe lacerations on its legs and badly chipped hoofs. Remmey concluded the animal had become tangled in a barbed wire fence, fallen on its left side and died from infection of the wounds.

During the past two years, antelope sightings have become much more frequent in western Minnesota, the department said.

South Dakota game officials said the tag shows the animal was released four years earlier about 15 miles southwest of the Minnesota farm where it met its end.

The short distance the antelope traveled during the four years could be accounted for by the well known reluctance of this species to leap fences.

Building Permits Total $104,000 During March

Thief River Falls building permits issued during March 1969 for new buildings and repairs and alterations, were valued at $104,000 according to the Federal Reserve bank of Minneapolis. This was an increase from $85,000 for permits issued during March of 1968. Cumulative valuation for the year was $104,000 as compared with $145,000 in 1968.

For Minnesota the March valuation increased from $58,761,000 in 1968 to $65,210,000 in 1969. The cumulative total for the first three months of 1969 was $167,171,000 compared with $127,502,000 recorded during 1968.

"The more a man looks at a thing, the less he can see it, and the more a man learns a thing the less he knows it."
—G. K. Chesterton

You All Come

Although its primary purpose is not to provide a public forum, the formal fact-finding hearing of the Thief River Falls adjustment panel on Thursday evening provides a golden opportunity for Mr. and Mrs. Average Citizen. By attending the hearing, they can hear presentation of both sides of the faculty salary question in Thief River Falls....direct from the people who are concerned with it—the faculty salary committee and the board of education.

Testimony presented should be of interest to every resident of the district—but we wonder how many will take the time or trouble to attend. Most likely very few will be in attendance unless they are affected directly by the outcome and hoped-for eventual settlement of the situation.

The decision to attend or not is up to the individual. The hearing will be held at 8 p.m. in the Lincoln senior high school auditorium and the public may listen but may not participate in the presentation. Ample notice has been given. It will be interesting to see how concerned the public is with its local school system.

It's Clean-up Time

A few years ago Thief River Falls conducted a "Clean-up, Paint-up, Fix-up" campaign during a week in the spring. It was instigated by the Chamber of Commerce and to a certain extent was commercial, but it did serve to alert the public to the importance of having a community of clean homes, stores, yards and private and public property.

There is no such campaign this year, but it probably would have been a good idea. Sometimes a community gets so wrapped up in what it is doing that it fails to look around at the impression it makes. In a number of cases here, that look around would disclose some pretty messy scenery.

With all good intentions, the city council has adopted ordinances and resolutions requiring residents to clean up their private property. In effect, these ordinances and regulations tell the property owner that he must cut weeds and otherwise keep his property presentable or the city will hire the work done and add the cost to his taxes. It sounds like tough policy, but we don't recall hearing of the city doing it—at least on a general basis.

And one can't blame the private property owners for not taking the regulations too seriously, for it is too easy for them to see public property in a continual state of clutter and disarray. One would surmise that the rule-making body for the city would see that its own house was in order before house-cleaning for the neighbors. An example means a lot.

Cleanliness is contagious, and efforts for clean-up of property usually spread through a neighborhood. Goodridge Lions conducted a campaign to eliminate an auto graveyard. Residents of Riverside avenue have joined in a project to plant flowering crabapple trees. Jaycees cleaned up vacant lots for playgrounds. Each of these efforts sparked other clean-up and beautification plans or action.

A good example can start a community clean-up campaign.

Annual Affair?

The following editorial comment appeared in the Murray County Herald at Slayton:

Much as the people on both sides involved may not like it, it now appears that salary negotiation problems between teachers and school districts will become an annual affair. We cannot find fault with either side in this unpleasant matter. Teachers cannot be blamed for attempting to better their lot in life, and conscientious school board members surely cannot be faulted for attempting to run the affairs of their district as economically as possible.

Meeting at the St. Paul Hotel, Minnesota Federation of Teachers members voted Saturday to establish a $250,000 strike fund. They pledged support to any local that wishes to go on strike. They also intend to publish lists of school districts that have not reached contractual agreement and are urging teachers not to sign at any of these schools.

Although the Minnesota Education Association, another teachers organization, is much larger than the MFT it has shown a tendency to follow the lead of the more militant union in recent years. We do not feel we are taking a great risk in predicting that the MEA will also develop a strike fund in the near future if it has not already done so.

The result will be an all-out battle over contract terms every spring—with another side effect that many may not have considered. It will become increasingly difficult to convince responsible people to run for boards of education, practicularly in the rural areas where they realize little or no financial compensation and are finding their official tasks more distasteful and demanding all the time—particularly in the spring. Most of them serve through a sense of civic responsibility, and this most certainly has its limits.

Cradle of Crime

Auto theft has often been referred to as "the cradle of crime—in reference to the fact that a large and very disproportionate number of youthful offenders incur their first serious felony charges through the theft of an automobile. Crime statistics consistently show that about two-thirds of all persons arrested are under 18 years of age and about 85 per cent are under 21 years.

Automobile theft as a criminal activity has had unprecedented growth. It is a crime most frequently committed and a crime which has the peculiar characteristics of being highly interrelated to almost all other types of criminal activity, according to C. C. Benson, manager of the Southwestern division of the National Automobile Theft bureau.

Theft of autos knows no geographical nor jurisdictional boundaries. It occurs in the most rural areas and, in a much higher ratio to both the number of vehicles and people, in the metropolitan centers. It is committed by both the "underprivileged" and the "overprivileged", against both the poor and the wealthy. Cars of all ages and all values are stolen.

The direct and indirect effects of automobile theft create a heavy burden on police services and a mammoth wasteful crime cost figure in our economy, Benson says. This crime all to frequently serves as a stepping stone for the youthful delinquent to a life of criminal activities.

Car owners may keep in mind that the young, often unlicensed, inexperienced automobile thief in a high powered vehicle with which he is not familiar is a great menace to all traffic on the streets. Surveys show that 18 per cent of stolen cars are involved in accidents (almost one out of five) and that a stolen vehicle is 200 times more likely to be in an accident than the normal vehicle.

Not all cars are stolen by youngsters; not all persons stealing cars are doing it for the first time. But all auto owners and drivers could help deter youngsters from the temptation to make that first theft. Take your keys out of the ignition and, preferably, lock your car. There is no need to help rock the cradle of crime.

Ever Try Trap?

Thief River Falls community has a high population of hunters during the seasons each fall, and many of the scatter-gunners could get a lot more enjoyment out of their guns by summer use. The local trap club, which is by no means an exclusive organization, provides that opportunity for summer shooting spot.

Annual dues for the club are only $3 and a free social and dinner each spring is worth more than that amount. All it takes to become a member is to show up at the clubhouse on Monday nights (after May 5) or Wednesday nights and pay the $3 annual dues. Anyone who enjoys shotgun shooting is welcome.

A number of potential shooters have said they would like to try the sport, but don't want to "look bad" by shooting with the "experts". This "expert" idea is mistaken, but the first-time shooter would like to feel he has company in the new endeavor.

On May 12 he will have his chance. The trap club invites first-time shooters to take part in a novice night. While normal trap rounds consist of shooting at 25 clay targets—five from each of five different posts—rounds of 10 targets will be offered on May 12. Cost will be one dollar including shells or 30 cents if the shooter has his own shells.

If you are a person who enjoys hunting, you will likely enjoy the challenge of trap shooting. Mark May 12 on your calendar.

Editor Thief River Falls Times
Dear Sir,

In your editorial in the April 23rd issue you have left the impression that political parties are a detriment to our system of government.

I would like to express my thoughts in this matter. You say that the major political parties have made a mess of our federal government. I would like to point out that there are existing today a good number of Democratic governments in this world of ours. None of which I would be willing to choose over our present one. In spite of our many faults, we still enjoy the greatest benefits from this system.

The weakness is not in the system. The weakness is in the people who fail to participate in that system. Regardless of which political persuasion you may have, you must surely agree that democracy starts in the home precinct. And this in my humble opinion is where most citizens fail in their obligation.

Yes, I believe that along with the privilege of citizenship goes the obligation to contribute something to the well being of this great nation, and that means participating in your local precincts and thus to the county and state platforms.

In this manner we the people would be telling the candidates what the people want rather than having the candidates tell the people what is good for them. You are opposed to party designation because as you say Representatives can be more effective without party designation. Effective for whom?

Let me say that as one who has been privileged to appear before many legislative committees over a period of a good many years. I have observed these so called Independent Legislatures, and it has always amazed me that these so called Independents should concern themselves so vitally in certain special interest legislative proposals when their particular district is not involved. These Independent representatives have made no commitment to any state-wide platform which may be of concern to the people in this state of the whole. This should give us a clue as to who is really fooling the bill for their election.

The facts of life are that the vast majority of those elected to the legislature during the last few years have expressed support for party designation, but have continuously evaded the actual implementation by claim lack of proper adoption on the part of the committees. I personally am convinced after many years of observation that we will never succeed in having good representation in our Legislature in this state until we do adopt party designation, which will bring about responsible action on the part of those elected officials.

Respectfully Submitted

"Dear George:
This will be our second week at the Joppru Livestock Market. This is the season of the year when it gets pretty hard to figure the market. Farmers are busier than normal this year as the result of the late spring. We've seen the time that they get real hard to talk to under these conditions.
We'll be at the Joppru market every Tuesday morning between 8:00 A.M. and Noon to buy pigs at private treaty. We'll have a steady price again this coming week. This means that a top quality 40-pound pig will bring $16.50 with the extra pounds above 40 at 15 cents and the extra pounds above 60 at 10 cents. Pigs must be castrated and healed and of good quality.

Train More Aides in Home Health Program

Dean Martin as Matt Helm is hot on the trail of trouble in this scene from "The Wrecking Crew," new Irving Allen production for Columbia Pictures release in Technicolor. The "trouble" here is lovely Nancy Kwan, who wields a wicked dagger in the comedy-adventure also starring Elke Sommer, Sharon Tate, Nigel Green and Tina Louise. The new Matt Helm adventure was Dean hunting hi-jecked gold in Denmark. Phil Karlson directed the film which starts tonight at the Falls Theatre.

The Inter-County Community council's home health program is now in full operation. Indications are that the demand for services will soon exceed visits and services that can be provided by the limited number of home health aides originally employed, according to Roy Jorgenson, ICC director.

In order to be prepared for the expected workload increase, 12 additional home health aides are presently being trained. Following their training they will be available to provide supplementary aide-services to Pennington, Red Lake and Clearwater counties.

According to the registered nurse serving each county, the program is beginning to be recognized for the services it can provide. Most administrative and operational problems reportedly have been solved, except for spring breakup, which the nurses say makes some home visits extremely difficult.

Mrs. Bonita Syverson, RN for Pennington, reports that 23 home patients were served during March. This constituted 51 nurse visits and 80 by the home health aides.

During the same period, Mrs. Lavone Mogen, RN serving Red Lake county, reports 16 patients served, 46 nurse visits and 30 by home aides.

In Clearwater, Mrs. Virginia Hokkanen, RN, reports 16 patients, 46 nurse visits and 30 by home aides. Aide contacts are continuing visits that provide needed services over a period of time.

William Brummer, home health program coordinator, states that he is well pleased with the way the program is progressing. He visualizes a continuing growth in demand for services.

Inter-County's chairman, Oris Moen, said, "We are especially pleased with the excellent coordination we are receiving from the Minnesota department of public health, and from area doctors who serve the program as a referral source for patients needing home care.

"We have evidently excellent personnel. Families and individuals who have been served by the program have nothing but praise for the nurses and home health aides. Anticipating an increasing work load, we are now training additional aides and it appears that we have again selected area people who aren't afraid of work, and who are dedicated to the kind of service we intend to provide." Moen added.

"One of the main goals of the home health program is to develop a local service that is eligible for medicare and Medicaid assistance, so that the area's residents will be insured of adequate home health service without cost to the county," Brummer added "The additional aides we are training are an insurance that the required services will be available."

Area people presently being trained to serve as supplementary home health aides to Inter-County's program are, from Pennington county: Mrs. Ann Yonke, Mrs. Selma Johnson, Mrs. Vivian Hiebert, Mrs Helen Puppe, Mrs. Alice Skreland and Mrs Theodora Anderson; Red Lake county: Mrs. Kathleen Keele, Mrs. Joanne Toffte, Mrs. Liana Eskeli, Mrs. Ethel Westerlund and Mrs. Ragna Gunderson; and Clearwater county: Mrs. Vera Sorenson, Mrs Adeline Sorenson, Mrs. Sandra Mootz and Mrs. Irene Thompson.

Mrs. Joanne Thibert, RN from Red Lake Falls, is the trainer. Training will last until the end of April; after that time the supplementary aides will be available for call.

Public Can See Hatchery Work At Waskish Now

Walleyes in upper Red lake began their spawning run up the Tamarac river last week and the run is expected to hit its peak this week, according to John Koller, manager of the Waskish hatchery on the Tamarac river.

The Times will carry a story and photos on the hatchery operation in the Wednesday issue. Persons who would like to visit the operation in person are welcome. It is expected that the stripping operation may continue through next weekend, but the end of the run or reaching of quota is uncertain.

Koller suggests that those who want to see the process from start to finish be there in the morning. The crew begins sorting the previous night's catch at about 8 a.m.

Treated Lake Proves Ideal To Raise Bluegills

Reproductive potential of certain fish species under ideal conditions is remarkable, as evidenced by a report from the Minnesota conservation department.

In 1964 the department's fisheries section applied chemicals to 100 acre Brooks lake located near Cokato. The lake was over-populated with bull heads; game fish had been virtually eliminated.

After the effect of the chemical had disappeared and the bullheads had been eradicated, the lake was stocked with walleye fry and 351 adult bluegills in 1966.

During the winter of 1967-68, no fewer than 20,000 bluegills were removed from the lake. This past fall 85,000 bluegills weighing 12,120 pounds were taken out.

In other words, the reproduction from the 351 bluegills had allowed the removal of 300 offspring for each parent fish stocked in 1966. And there is strong indications of many bluegills remaining in Brooks lake

Not only was the reproduction remarkable, but the bluegills of the firsthatch in 1966 grew to a length of 5.5 inches in 18 months. Based on their average weight, they were growing about four times faster than the average Minnesota bluegill.

Because of the improved conditions in the lake resulting from the treatment, fisheries specialists feel there is little chance of the 21 foot deep lake freezing out.

They also expect the remaining bluegills in the lake to grow to a large size for fishermen.

Here are some cleaning tips for stylish leather-like cottons. Leathery vinyl with a cotton backing should be cleaned with a sudsy sponge. Cotton leather that has a silicone finish comes in washable versions and can be dry-cleaned as well.

Marshall 4-H Share the Fun Festival Slated

Marshall county 4-H share-the-fun festival will be Monday evening at the Warren high school and Middle River high school.

Ticket sales will start at 7 p.m. and programs will commence at 7:30 p.m. The public is invited to attend.

The following clubs will appear at the two locations:

Warren: Argyle Hustlers, Happy Corner, McCrea, Comstock, Florian Friskies, Tamarac Tacklers, Boxville, Vega, Riverside, Plainview and Warren Willing Workers

Middle River: Cedar, Holt, East Valley, East Augsburg, Grygla Go Getters, Gatzke Busy Beavers, Sunnyside and New Maine.

Veterans wanting jobs or job training get priority consideration if they contact their local state employment office.

Water Testing Available for Marshall County

Recent rainfall and fast melting snow this spring have stimulated increased interest in well water testing, according to Charles D. Peterson, Marshall county agricultural agent. Pollution from ground water seepage and improper well construction or location can affect both human and livestock health.

"Spring analyses of well water should point out any deficiencies that may exist, with proper recommendations for correction of existing problems," Peterson said.

Minnesota Valley Testing laboratories, Inc., New Ulm, is offering residents of Marshall county any combination of bacterial and chemical tests under a special discounted fee schedule.

Sterile bottles with instruction sheets will be available at four locations in the county: SCS office, Grygla; First National bank, Middle River; Farmers State bank, Stephen; and the extension office, Warren. Well owners can pick up the sterile bottles, take their own samples and bring them back to the above mentioned locations.

A representative from Minnesota Valley will stop and pick up the samples each week for a three-week period. A written report and recommendation will be mailed to the well owners. The first pick up will be Monday, April 28.

Sampling of well water for bacterial examination must be accomplished with care. The time between the collection of the sample and analysis should not exceed 24 hours. Therefore, residents desiring a bacteria test should take the sample and bring it to the collection point the morning of the scheduled pick-up, Peterson advised.

Bacterial examination plus nitrates should be run where any human or animal health problems may occur. Sulfates should be included on any analysis where a history of diarrhea or scouring is noted.

Fee schedule for two main analysis is: Bacteria and nitrates, $5 per sample; and bacteria, nitrates and sulfates, $7.50 per sample.

The Model

"Now I'm big—with a hat like Mommy's!" Amy was really full of herself when we went shopping yesterday.

I was amused, too, as I watched her imitate her mother on the way to church the next day. She really had that walk down to a "T."

I'm glad her mother is her model. She couldn't have a better one. Mary's love of God is reflected in everything she does. Her happiness in serving God and His church is contagious. I should know!

When we were married, I was a sometime churchgoer. Now, I teach Sunday School, sing in the choir and am chairman of the building committee. I find it deeply satisfying to know that my church needs me.

Every church needs the dedicated effort of its members. Experience the joy of serving God.
